Hutchison Network Services

For immediate release

17 December 2002

Disposal of 186k fibre optic network

National Grid Transco plc ("NGT") and Hutchison Network Services UK Limited ("HNS"), a subsidiary of Hutchison Whampoa Limited, today announce that HNS is to acquire the majority of the assets of the 186k fibre optic network business previously owned by the former Lattice Group. NGT will receive a nominal sum for the assets and pay a cash amount to be released from certain contractual obligations.

NGT announced in its interim results on November 26 that it had fully written down the former Lattice alternative telecoms network assets, including 186k. The transactions are in line with NGT's policy of withdrawing from investments in the altnet sector and will be completed by the end of this month within the provisions already announced.
