performance nonvolatile memory and logic integrated circuits, announced financial results for the first quarter ending March 31, 2001.

"We are extremely pleased that our core business was able to grow substantially year to year and in sequential quarters. Simtek took an aggressive posture last year to establish our market position with strategic customers by giving them our best support, while not taking an unfair pricing advantage when materials were in short supply," stated Douglas Mitchell, Simtek's president and CEO. "This approach allowed Simtek to establish strong relationships in applications that continue to grow rapidly in the marketplace. Simtek maintains previously forecasted growth exceeding 60% and expects significant increases in earnings going forward. Now, as materials are becoming readily available and our volumes continue to increase, we'll be able to improve our cost basis throughout this year. We're also looking to hire additional engineering staff to accelerate our product development. With all that's been accomplished in the past twelve months we really look forward to what we can do over the next couple of years."

The company posted total revenues of $4,331,721, including $3,975,104 from Simtek operations and $356,617 from Q-DOT operations. In March of 2001 Simtek completed the acquisition of Q-DOT Group, Inc. using the "pooling of interest" form of accounting. Summary financial statements will now report the results of the combined company for current and historical records.

Pro Forma revenues from Simtek operations in 1Q01 of $3,975,104, were 58% higher than $2,513,393 posted in the first quarter of 2000 and 36% higher than $2,929,978 posted in the fourth quarter of 2000. Pro Forma revenues from Q-DOT operations in 1Q01 of $356,617 were down from $923,632 for the same period in 2000 and approximately flat from $387,268 in the fourth quarter of 2000.

Unusual expenses were incurred in the first quarter of 2001, consisting of $258,000 for amortized costs related to investor relations services performed by two investment bank firms and $263,000 of legal, auditing and labor costs associated with the acquisition of Q-DOT. The amortization of investor relations services will continue through September 2001.
