ARCADIS TAKES PART IN SALE CARBON CREDITS

Arnhem, The Netherlands, April 6, 2006 ARCADIS (NASDAQ: ARCAF, Euronext: ARCAD) today announced that Biogás, a partnership of the Brazilian ARCADIS Logos with the Dutch Van der Wiel and the Brazilian Heleno Fonseca Construtechnica, has signed a contract for the sale of carbon credits. Under the contract 1 million tons of carbon credits will be delivered to the German bank KfW in twelve months, starting June 2006, once the final verification report is issued. The carbon credits have been produced and validated according to the Kyoto Treaty. ARCADIS' ultimate share is 16%.

KfW acquired the carbon credits for buyers within the European Union's Emission Trading Scheme (EU ETS), which was established to allow trading of CO2 emission reduction certificates (CER).

In 2003, Biogás developed the largest landfill gas energy plant in the world, producing 170 million kWh per year of electrical power from methane extracted from São Paulo's Bandeirantes landfill. The methane gas from the landfill is hazardous to the environment and affects global warming. Methane gas is considerably more harmful to greenhouse problems than CO2. Also, by using the methane gas instead of fossil fuel for generating energy, additional emission of CO2 is being avoided.

This contract is a good example of the way ARCADIS takes a leading role in developing projects that contribute to improving our environment. We are taking pride in being involved in the reduction of global warming effects. I expect that more contracts will follow in the field of certified emission reductions, says Harrie Noy, CEO of ARCADIS.
