FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This Annual Report contains forward-looking statements. These statements appear in a number of different places in this Annual Report. A forward looking statement is usually identified by the use in this Annual Report of certain terminology such as estimates, projects, expects, intends, believes, plans, anticipates, or their negatives or other comparable words. Also look for discussions of strategy that involve risks and uncertainties. Forward-looking statements include statements regarding the outlook for the Company's future operations, forecasts of future costs and expenditures, evaluation of market conditions, the outcome of legal proceedings (if any), the adequacy of reserves, or other business plans. You are cautioned that such forward-looking statements are not guarantees and involve risks, assumptions and uncertainties. The Company's actual results may differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements due to risks facing the Company or due to actual facts differing from the assumptions underlying those forward-looking statements.

Some of these risks and assumptions, in addition to those identified under Item 3, Key Information Risk Factors, include:

- general economic and business conditions, including changes in interest rates;
- prices and other economic conditions;
- natural phenomena;
- actions by government authorities, including changes in government regulation;
- the Company's relationship with CSAHC (formerly the SA Group);
- uncertainties associated with legal proceedings;
- technological development;
- future decisions by management in response to changing conditions;
- the Company's ability to execute prospective business plans; and
- misjudgments in the course of preparing forward-looking statements.

The Company advises you that these cautionary remarks expressly qualify in their entirety all forward-looking statements attributable to the Company, the Group, and persons acting on their behalf.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE

In this Annual Report, unless the context indicates otherwise, the Company means China Southern Airlines Company Limited, a joint stock company incorporated in China on March 25, 1995, the Group means the Company and its consolidated subsidiaries, and CSAHC means China Southern Air Holding Company, the Company's parent company which holds a 65.2% controlling interest in the Company (Southern Airlines (Group) changed its official name to China Southern Air Holding Company on October 11, 2002.).

References to China or the PRC are to the People's Republic of China, excluding Hong Kong, Macau and Taiwan. References to Renminbi or RMB are to the currency of China, references to U.S. dollars, $ or US$ are to the currency of the United States of America (the U.S. or United States), and reference to HK$ is to the currency of Hong Kong. Reference to the Chinese Government is to the national government of China. References to Hong Kong or Hong Kong SAR are to the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China. References to Macau or Macau SAR are to the Macau Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China.

The Company presents its financial statements in Renminbi. The consolidated financial statements of the Company as of December 31, 2001 and 2002, and the consolidated financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2000, 2001 and 2002, together with the notes thereto (collectively, the Financial Statements), have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) promulgated by the International Accounting Standards Board. IFRS includes International Accounting Standards (IAS) and related interpretations. IFRS differs in certain material respects from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (U.S. GAAP). See Note 31 to the Financial Statements for a description of the material differences between IFRS and U.S. GAAP as of December 31 of 2001 and 2002 and for each of the years in the three-year period ended December 31, 2002 as they relate to the Company.

Edgar Filing: CHINA SOUTHERN AIRLINES CO LTD - Form 20-F

Solely for the convenience of the readers, this Annual Report contains translations of certain Renminbi amounts into U.S. dollars at the rate of US$1.00 = RMB8.2773, which is the average of the buying and selling rates as quoted by the People's Bank of China at the close of business on December 31, 2002. No representation is made that the Renminbi amounts or U.S. dollar amounts included in this Annual Report could have been or could be converted into U.S. dollars or Renminbi, as the case may be, at any particular rate or at all. Any discrepancies in the tables included herein between the amounts listed and the totals are due to rounding.

Selected Operating Data

The following selected operating data of the Group for the five years ended December 31, 2002 have been derived from financial statements prepared in accordance with IFRS and other data provided by the Group and have not been audited. In accordance with Order No. 88 of the General Administration of Civil Aviation of China (also known as the Civil Aviation Administration of China) (the CAAC), titled Measures for the Administration of China's Civil Aviation Statistics, new statistical standards have been implemented with effect from January 1, 2001. The Group has not adjusted the operating data for the corresponding period in 1998 and 1999 according to the new standards. The main differences between the two sets of standards are set forth below:

1. The standard passenger weight has been changed from 75 kg per person to 90 kg per person (luggage weight included). Luggage weight will not be separately calculated;
2. Number of scheduled flights has been changed to number of takeoffs;
3. Any passenger carried on flights which fly international routes will be counted as one domestic passenger and one international passenger; however, any passenger carried on an irregular flight will only be counted once; any cargo carried on flights which fly international routes will be counted as one domestic and one international cargo; however, cargo carried on an irregular flight will only be counted once.

Apart from the data set out in the table below, the operating data and the profit analysis and comparison for the years 2001 and 2002 below is calculated and disclosed in accordance with the new statistical standards. See Glossary of Airline Industry Terms at the front of this Annual Report for definitions of certain terms used herein.

Risk Factors

Risks relating to the Company

Government ownership and control of the Company

All Chinese airlines are wholly- or majority-owned either by the Chinese Government or by provincial or municipal governments in China. CSAHC, an entity wholly-owned by the Chinese Government, holds and exercises the rights of ownership of all of the Domestic Shares or 65.2% of the equity of the Company. The interests of the Chinese Government in the Company and in other Chinese airlines may conflict with the interests of the holders of the ADSs and the H Shares. The public policy considerations of the Chinese Government in regulating the Chinese commercial aviation industry may also conflict with its indirect ownership interest in the Company.

High operating leverage and foreign exchange exposure

The airline industry is generally characterized by a high degree of operating leverage. In addition, due to high fixed costs, including payments made in connection with the Company's aircraft leases, the expenses relating to the operation of any flight do not vary proportionately with the number of passengers carried, while revenues generated from a flight are directly related to the number of passengers carried and the fare structure of such flight. Accordingly, a decrease in revenues could result in a proportionately higher decrease in net income. Moreover, because the Company has substantial obligations denominated in foreign currencies, its results of operations are significantly affected by fluctuations in foreign exchange rates, particularly for the US dollar and the Japanese Yen. The Company recognized a net exchange gain of RMB297 million for 2001 and incurred a net exchange loss of RMB175 million for 2002, as a result of yen fluctuations. A majority of these exchange gain/loss were unrealized in nature.

Potential conflicts of interest

CSAHC will continue to be the controlling shareholder of the Company and CSAHC and certain of its affiliated companies will continue to provide certain important services to the Company, including the import and export of aircraft spare parts and other flight equipment, housing services and pension and financial services. In addition, Mr. Yan Zhi Qing, the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Company (Board of Directors), also serves as the President of CSAHC. The interests of CSAHC may conflict with those of the Company. In addition, any disruption of the provision of services by the affiliated companies or a default by CSAHC of its obligations owed to the Company could affect the Company's operations and financial condition. In particular, as part of its cash management system, the Company periodically places significant amount of demand deposits to Southern Airlines Group Finance Company Limited (SA Finance), a PRC authorized financial institution controlled by CSAHC and an affiliated company of the Group. As a result, the Company's deposits with SA Finance are subject to the risks associated with the business of SA Finance over which the Company does not exercise control. As of December 31, 2001 and 2002, the Group had short-term deposits of RMB1,341 million and RMB901 million, respectively, with SA Finance.

Certain transactions between the Company and CSAHC or its affiliates (as defined in the Rules Governing the Listing of Securities on the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited (the Hong Kong Listing Rules)) will constitute connected transactions of the Company under the Hong Kong Listing Rules and, unless exemptions are applicable or waivers are granted, will be subject to disclosure requirements and/or independent shareholders' approval in a general meeting.

Management reporting practices

The Company's management and other employees have experience operating the Company's businesses since such businesses were conducted by CSAHC. However, by comparison to other long-established international airlines, the Company has fewer and less sophisticated financial, management and other reporting and planning practices.

Risks relating to certain real property

Although systems for registration and transfer of land use rights and related real property interests in China have been implemented, such systems do not yet comprehensively account for all land and related property interests. The land in Guangzhou on which the Company's headquarters buildings and related aircraft maintenance and other facilities are located and the buildings that the Company uses at its route base in Wuhan, Haikou and Zhengzhou are leased by the Company from CSAHC. However, CSAHC lacks adequate documentation evidencing CSAHC's rights to such land and buildings, and, as a consequence, the lease agreements between CSAHC and the Company for such land have not been registered with the relevant authorities. As a result, such lease agreements may not be enforceable. There are certain other parcels of land and buildings owned or used by the Company and the subsidiaries that lack adequate documentation. Lack of adequate documentation for land use rights and ownership of buildings subjects the Company to challenges and claims by third parties with respect to the Company's use of such land and buildings, and impairs the ability of the Company to dispose of or mortgage such land use rights and buildings.

The Company has been occupying all of the land and buildings described above without challenge. CSAHC has received written assurance from the CAAC to the effect that CSAHC is entitled to continued use and occupancy of the land in Guangzhou and certain related buildings and facilities. However, such assurance does not constitute formal evidence of CSAHC's right to occupy such lands, buildings and facilities, or the right to transfer, mortgage or lease such real property interests. The Company cannot predict the magnitude of the adverse effect on its operations if its use of any one or more of these parcels of land or buildings were successfully challenged. CSAHC has agreed to indemnify the Company and Guangzhou Aircraft Maintenance Engineering Company Limited (GAMECO), the Company's affiliated company, against any loss or damage caused by any challenge of, or interference with, the use by the Company and GAMECO of any of their respective land and buildings.

Risks associated with Hong Kong regional routes

The Company's Hong Kong regional routes benefit from traffic originating in Taiwan. The Company's Hong Kong regional routes may be materially adversely affected if direct flights between Taiwan and Mainland China were permitted in the future. In such event, Xiamen Airlines Company Limited (Xiamen Airlines), the Company's subsidiary, may apply for route rights for direct flights between Taiwan and mainland China, due partly to the proximity to Taiwan of Fujian province, where Xiamen Airlines are based. However, there can be no assurance that sufficient routes and flights between destinations in Taiwan and mainland China could be obtained by Xiamen Airlines, if at all, or as to the yields on these routes and flights.

Risks Relating to the Chinese Commercial Aviation Industry

Impact of the Recent Outbreak of Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome (SARS)

The outbreak of SARS in the PRC, Hong Kong, Singapore and Taiwan has brought about uncertainty to the global economy. In particular, the outbreak of SARS in the PRC affected the domestic demand and has an overdue impact on the overall economy of the PRC.

Based on the currently available information and certain historical figures of the Group,

- (i) the average revenue passenger kilometers (RPK) of the Group in May 2003 decreased by 73.48% compared to April 2003, or by 83.50% compared to the same period last year; and
- (ii) the total number of passengers of the Group in May 2003 decreased by 82.60% compared to the same period last year.

In response to the adverse change in operational environment of the Group brought about by the outbreak of SARS, the Group has implemented various continuing measures to adjust its operational capacity accordingly, which include negotiating with aircraft manufacturers to explore the possibility of postponing the delivery date of new aircraft and requesting its staff to take leave at a reduced salary on rotation. In addition, the Group has continued its efforts in fully implementing the precautionary measures in accordance with the general guidelines issued by the Hygiene Department of the Chinese Government, in order to tackle the potential spread of SARS on its airlines and at all contact points with its passenger.

Government regulation

The Company's ability to implement its business strategy will continue to be affected by regulations and policies issued or implemented by the CAAC, which encompass substantially all aspects of the Chinese commercial aviation industry, including the approval of domestic, Hong Kong regional and international route allocation, air fares, aircraft acquisition, jet fuel prices and standards for aircraft maintenance, airport operations and air traffic control. Such regulations and policies limit the flexibility of the Company to respond to market conditions, competition or changes in the Company's cost structure. The implementation of specific CAAC policies could from time to time adversely affect the Company's operations. The CAAC has confirmed in writing that the Company will be treated equally with other Chinese airlines with respect to certain matters regulated by the CAAC. Nevertheless, there can be no assurance that the CAAC will, in all circumstances, apply its regulations and policies in a manner that results in equal treatment of all airlines that are similarly situated.

Jet fuel supply and costs

The availability and cost of jet fuel have a significant impact on the Group's results of operations. The Group's jet fuel costs for 2002 accounted for 22.0% of its operating expenses. All of the domestic jet fuel requirements of Chinese airlines (other than at the Shenzhen, Zhuhai and Sanya airports) must be purchased from the exclusive providers, China Aviation Oil Supplies Company (the CAOSC) and Bluesky Oil Supplies Company, companies controlled and supervised by the CAAC. Chinese airlines may also purchase their jet fuel requirements at the Shenzhen, Zhuhai and Sanya airports from joint ventures in which the CAOSC is a partner. Jet fuel obtained from the CAOSC's regional branches is purchased at uniform prices throughout China that are determined and adjusted by the CAOSC from time to time with the approval of the CAAC and the pricing department of the State Planning Commission based on market conditions and other factors. As a result, the costs of transportation and storage of jet fuel in all regions of China are spread among all domestic airlines. Prior to 1994, domestic jet fuel prices were generally below international jet fuel prices. Since then, however, domestic jet fuel price from CAOSC has always been higher than international jet fuel prices, often creating tension in fuel supply. In addition, jet fuel shortages have occurred in China and, on limited occasions before 1993, required the Company to delay or cancel flights. Although such shortages have not materially affected the Company's results of operations since 1993, there can be no assurance that such shortage will not occur in the future. If such shortage occurs in the future and the Company is forced to delay or cancel flights due to fuel shortage, its operational reputation among passengers and results of operations may suffer.

Infrastructure limitations

The rapid increase in air traffic volume in China in recent years has put pressure on many components of the Chinese commercial aviation industry, including China's air traffic control system, the availability of qualified flight personnel and airport facilities. Airlines, such as the Company, which have route networks that emphasize short- to medium-haul routes are generally more affected by insufficient aviation infrastructure in terms of on-time performance and high operating costs due to fuel inefficiencies resulting from the relatively short segments flown, as well as the relatively high proportion of time on the ground during turnaround. All of these factors may adversely affect the perception of the service provided by an airline and, consequently, the airline's operating results. In recent years, the CAAC has placed increasing emphasis on the safety of Chinese airline operations and has implemented measures aimed at improving the safety record of the industry. The ability of the Company to increase utilization rates and to provide safe and efficient air transportation in the future will depend in part on factors such as the improvement of national air traffic control and navigation systems and ground control operations at Chinese airports, which factors are beyond the control of the Company.

Competition

The CAAC's extensive regulation of the Chinese commercial aviation industry has had the effect of managing competition among Chinese airlines. Nevertheless, competition has become increasingly intense in recent years due to a number of factors, including relaxation of certain regulations by the CAAC, and an increase in the capacity, routes and flights of Chinese airlines. Competition in the Chinese commercial aviation industry has led to widespread price-cutting practices that do not in all respects comply with applicable regulations. The CAAC has just begun to monitor these activities and has imposed fines on several airlines, including the Company and other major airlines. However, until the interpretation of these CAAC regulations has been finalized and strictly enforced, discounted tickets from competitors will continue to have an adverse effect on the Company's sales.

The Company faces varying degrees of competition on its Hong Kong regional routes from certain Chinese airlines and Dragon Air and on its international routes, primarily from non-Chinese airlines, most of which have significantly longer operating histories, substantially greater financial and technological resources and greater name recognition than the Company. In addition, the public's perception of the safety and service records of Chinese airlines could adversely affect the Company's ability to compete against its Hong Kong regional and international competitors. Many of the Company's international competitors have larger sales networks and participate in reservation systems that are more comprehensive and convenient than those of the Company, or engage in promotional activities, such as International Alliance programs, that may enhance their ability to attract international passengers.

Limitation on foreign ownership

Table of Contents

Chinese Government policies limit foreign ownership in Chinese airlines. Under these policies, the percentage ownership of the Company's total outstanding ordinary shares held by investors in Hong Kong and any country outside China (Foreign Investors) may not in the aggregate exceed 49%. Currently, 34.8% of the total outstanding ordinary shares of the Company is held by Foreign Investors. As a result of this limitation on foreign ownership, the Company will have no meaningful access to the international equity capital markets unless the restriction on foreign ownership of A Share is lifted. Currently A Shares are domestic shares listed or to be listed on a Chinese stock exchange.

Consolidation and Restructuring

In the second half of 2000, the CAAC announced a restructuring plan with respect to the PRC aviation industry. Pursuant to such restructuring plan, domestic airlines are directed to consolidate, on a voluntary basis, into three major airline groups in China: CSAHC, China National Aviation Holding Company (formerly, the Air China Group) and China Eastern Air Holding Group (formerly, the Eastern Air Group). After CSAHC informed the Company that CSAHC will participate in such restructuring plan, the Company announced that it will also participate in such consolidation and restructuring pursuant to the CAAC directives. The possible mergers of domestic airlines and other restructuring and consolidation activities pursuant to the CAAC restructuring plan may involve uncertainties and risks over a long period of time, including the following:

- failure to achieve the anticipated synergies, cost savings or revenue enhancing opportunities resulting from the restructuring activities;
- diversion of management's attention from existing business concerns and other business opportunities of the Group;
- difficulty in integrating the assets and business of other airlines, including its employees, corporate culture, managerial systems and processes, business information systems and services;
- difficulty in exercising control and supervision over various new operations within the Group;
- failure to retain key personnel; and
- increase in financial pressure due to assumption of recorded/unrecorded liabilities of the acquired businesses.

The inability to manage additional businesses or integrate successfully the acquired businesses without substantial expense, delay or other operational or financial problems, or the occurrence of one or more of the events enumerated above, could materially adversely affect the Group's financial condition and results of operations.

Risks relating to the PRC

Foreign exchange risks

Renminbi is not a freely convertible currency, and the Company's ability to obtain or retain foreign currencies is subject to regulation in China. Limitations on the availability of foreign exchange could have a material adverse effect on the Company's operations and financial condition, particularly in light of the Company's substantial foreign currency obligations.

The value of Renminbi is subject to changes in Chinese Government policies and depends to a large extent on China's domestic and international economic and political developments, as well as supply and demand in the local market. Since 1994, the official exchange rates for the conversion of Renminbi to US dollars have been stable. There can be no assurance, however, that such rates will not be volatile or that there will be no further devaluation of the Renminbi against the foreign currencies in which the Company's obligations are denominated, principally the US dollar and the Japanese Yen. Based on the Company's foreign currency denominated obligations as of December 31, 2002, a 1% change in the exchange rate between the Renminbi and the US dollar, or between the Renminbi and Japanese Yen, would have resulted in an unrealized gain or loss of RMB119 million (US$14 million). As the Company is not able to hedge effectively against the devaluation of the Renminbi other than by retaining its foreign exchange-denominated earnings and receipts to the extent permitted by applicable law, any future devaluation in the Renminbi could adversely affect the Company's results of operations and financial condition. The Company's results of operations and financial condition may also be affected by changes in the value of currencies other than the Renminbi in which the Company's earnings and obligations are denominated.

Developing legal system

Table of Contents

The Chinese legal system is based on written statutes and is a system, unlike common law systems, in which decided legal cases have little precedential value. In 1979, China began to promulgate a more comprehensive system of laws. On December 29, 1993, the Chinese National People's Congress promulgated the Company Law, which became effective on July 1, 1994. In August 1994, pursuant to the Company Law, the PRC State Council issued the PRC Special Regulations on Overseas Offering and Listing of Shares by Companies Limited by Shares to regulate joint stock companies that offer and list their shares overseas. These laws, regulations and legal requirements are relatively recent, and, like other laws, regulations and legal requirements applicable in China (including with respect to the commercial aviation industry), their interpretation and enforcement involve significant uncertainties.

Taxation of holders of H Shares or ADS by China

Chinese tax law generally provides for the imposition of a withholding tax on dividends paid by a Chinese company to a non-Chinese shareholder at a rate of 20%. In a notice issued by the State Taxation Bureau of the PRC and a letter issued by the State Taxation Bureau, however, the Chinese tax authorities confirmed that the imposition of this withholding tax on dividends paid by joint stock companies, such as the Company, had been suspended. Accordingly, any future dividends to be paid by the Company to holders of H Shares or ADS who are foreign individuals not resident in China or which are foreign enterprises with no permanent establishment in China will not be subject to a Chinese withholding tax. In the event that the suspension of the withholding tax is lifted, such payments will be subject to withholding tax at the 20% rate unless the holder is entitled to a tax waiver or a lower tax rate under an applicable double-taxation treaty. See Item 10 Additional Information Taxation .

ITEM 4. INFORMATION ON THE COMPANY.

History and Development of the Company

The Company is a joint stock company incorporated in China on March 25, 1995, and is 65.2% owned by CSAHC. The registered address of the Company is Baiyun International Airport, Guangzhou 510405, People's Republic of China (telephone no: (86)20-8612-4738, website: www.cs-air.com).

In the second half of 2000, the CAAC announced a restructuring policy with respect to the PRC aviation industry. Domestic airlines are directed, on a voluntary basis to consolidate into three major airline groups: CSAHC, China National Aviation Holding Company and China Eastern Air Holding Group . In line with such policy, CSAHC has acquired Zhongyuan Airlines, a regional airline based in Henan Province, the PRC in 2001.

In April 2001, SA Group informed the Company that SA Group would participate in the restructuring of the PRC aviation industry under PRC government directives. Although such directives are general guidelines relating to consolidation and restructuring of PRC aviation industry, it is highly unlikely that Chinese airlines will not follow all or most of such proposals. SA Group informed the Company that SA Group would conduct negotiations with China Northern Airlines and Xinjiang Airlines with respect to possible cooperation involving consolidation and restructuring with those airlines.

On October 11, 2002, SA Group, China Northern Airlines and Xinjiang Airlines restructured and consolidated into a new airline group named as China Southern Air Group after a long period of preparation. On the same date, SA Group changed its official name to China Southern Air Holding Company (CSAHC).

The Group had RMB1,381 million, RMB1,492 million and RMB6,351 million in capital expenditures in 2000, 2001 and 2002 respectively. Of such capital expenditures in 2002, RMB3,832 million were financed by bank borrowings while the remaining RMB2,519 million were financed by internal resources. The capital expenditures were primarily incurred on the additional investments in aircraft and flight equipment under the Group's fleet expansion plans and Guangzhou new airport, and, to a small extent, additional investments in pilot training facilities and other facilities and building for operations.

Shareholders resolutions of the Company were passed at the second Extraordinary General Meeting of the Company in the year 2002 held on March 26, 2002 approving the issue of domestic ordinary share(s) of the Company of RMB 1.00 each. The number of A Shares proposed to be issued is not more than 1,000,000,000 A Shares. Other details of the A Shares Issue were previously published by way of announcement dated March 26, 2002. The proposed A Share Issue is subject to approval by the China Securities Regulatory Commission and Shanghai Stock Exchange of the listing and trading in the A Shares on the Shanghai Stock Exchange.

Edgar Filing: CHINA SOUTHERN AIRLINES CO LTD - Form 20-F

The Company has on June 18, 2002 entered into an Interest Transfer and Capital Injection Agreement with China State Post Bureau, Shanghai Municipal Post Office, Post Office of the Inner Mongolian Autonomous Region and China Philately Corporation, pursuant to which the Company has injected RMB150 million (equivalent to approximately US$18.12 million) in cash to acquire 49% interest in China Postal Airlines, Ltd. The China State Post Bureau holds the remaining 51%.

In addition, during the year, the Group acquired 39% interest in Sichuan Airlines Corporation Limited to further expand its market shares in South-western China. The Group also jointly established Zhuhai Xiang Yi Aviation Technology Company Limited, the first sino-foreign joint venture company engaging in aviation training services in the PRC, with CAE.

Business Overview

General

The Group provides commercial airline services throughout China, Hong Kong and Macau regions, Southeast Asia and other parts of the world. The Group is one of the three largest Chinese airlines and, as of year end 2002, ranked first in terms of passengers carried, number of scheduled flights per week, number of hours flown and size of route network and aircraft fleet. During the three years ended December 31, 2002, the Group's RPKs increased at a compound annual rate of 15.6%, from 21,653 million in 2000 to 28,940 million in 2002, while its capacity, measured in terms of ASKs, increased at a compound annual rate of 11.1%, from 35,831 million in 2000 to 44,245 million in 2002. In 2002, the Group carried 21.49 million passengers and had passenger revenue of RMB15,696 million (US$1,896 million). Net income for 2002 was RMB576 million (US$70 million).

The Group conducts a portion of its airline operations through Xiamen Airlines, Southern Airlines (Group) Shantou Airlines Company Limited (Shantou Airlines), Guangxi Airlines Company Limited (Guangxi Airlines), Zhuhai Airlines Company Limited (Zhuhai Airlines) and Guizhou Airlines Company Limited (Guizhou Airlines) (collectively, the Airline Subsidiaries). In 2002, the Airline Subsidiaries carried 7.41 million passengers and had operating revenue of RMB4,829 million (US$583 million) and accounted for 34.5% and 26.8% of the Group's passengers carried and operating revenue, respectively.

The Group also provides air cargo and mail services. The Group's airline operations are fully integrated with its airline-related businesses, including aircraft maintenance and air catering operations. The cargo and mail revenue of the Group increased by 27.0% to RMB1,786 million (US$216 million) in 2002 as compared with 2001.

The Group operates the most extensive route network among Chinese airlines with a total of 349 routes as of December 31, 2002, including 286 domestic routes, 20 Hong Kong regional routes (which include Hong Kong routes and Macau routes), and 43 international routes. In 2002, the Group operated an average of 4,282 landing and take-offs per week serving 88 destinations, including 64 cities in China, including Beijing, Shanghai, Tianjin, Guangzhou, Shenzhen, Wuhan, Changsha, Zhengzhou, Xiamen, Xian and Chengdu. Most of the cities served by the Group are located in commercial centers or rapidly developing economic regions in China.

The Group's corporate headquarters and principal base of operations are located in Guangzhou, which is the capital of Guangdong Province and the largest city in southern China. Located in the rapidly developing Pearl River Delta region, Guangzhou is also the transportation hub of southern China and one of China's major gateway cities. Guangzhou's significance has increased as the transportation infrastructure of Guangdong Province has developed through the construction and development of expressways, an extensive rail network and the port cities of Yantian, Shekou, Chiwan, Mawan, Huangpu and Zhuhai.

In addition to its main route base in Guangzhou, the Group also maintains ten regional route bases in Zhengzhou, Wuhan, Changsha, Shenzhen, Zhuhai, Xiamen, Haikou, Guilin, Shantou and Guiyang. All of these regional route bases are located in provincial capitals or major commercial centers in China.

The Group's operations primarily focus on the domestic market. In addition, the Group also operates Hong Kong regional and international flights. As of year end of 2002, the Group had 20 Hong Kong regional routes and 43 international routes. The Group's Hong Kong regional operations include flights between destinations in China and Hong Kong and Macau. The Group's international operations include scheduled services to Osaka, Amsterdam, Sharjah, Los Angeles, Fukuoka, Seoul, Sydney and ten Southeast Asian destinations. The Group operates the most extensive Southeast Asian route network among Chinese airlines.

As of year end 2002, the Group operated a fleet of 122 aircraft, consisting primarily of Boeing 737-200, 737-300, 737-500, 737-700, 737-800, 747-200, 747-400, 757-200 and 777-200 aircraft and Airbus 320-200 aircraft. A significant portion of these aircraft are held under capital and operating leases. The average age of the Group's aircraft was 7.76 years at year end 2002.

Restructuring and Initial Public Offering

As part of China's economic reforms in the 1980's, the PRC State Council directed the CAAC to separate its governmental, administrative and regulatory role from the commercial airline operations that were being conducted by the CAAC and its regional administrators. As a result, CSAHC was established on January 26, 1991 for the purpose of assuming the airline and airline-related commercial operations of the Guangzhou Civil Aviation Administration, one of the six regional bureaus of the CAAC. CSAHC was one of the 55 large-scale enterprises designated by the Chinese Government to play a leading role in their respective industries.

CSAHC was restructured in 1994 and 1995 in anticipation of the initial public offering of the Company. The restructuring was effected through the establishment of the Company and the execution of the Demerger Agreement, dated as of March 25, 1995, as amended (the "Demerger Agreement"), between CSAHC and the Company. Upon the restructuring, the Company assumed substantially all of the airline and airline-related businesses, assets and liabilities of CSAHC, and CSAHC retained its non-airline and non-airline-related businesses, assets and liabilities, and the non-business assets and liabilities. Upon this separation, all interests, rights, duties and obligations of CSAHC, whenever created or accrued, were divided between the Company and CSAHC based on the businesses, assets and liabilities assumed by each of them under the Demerger Agreement. Under the Demerger Agreement, CSAHC agreed not to conduct or participate or hold any interest in, either directly or indirectly, any business, activity or entity in or outside China that competes or is likely to compete with the commercial interests of the Group, although CSAHC may continue to hold and control the affiliates of CSAHC existing on the date of the Demerger Agreement and may continue to operate the businesses of such affiliates.

In July 1997, the Company completed a private placement of 32,200,000 H Shares to certain limited partnership investment funds affiliated with Goldman Sachs & Co. and an initial public offering of 1,141,978,000 H Shares, par value RMB 1.00 per share, and listing of the H Shares on the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited (the "Hong Kong Stock Exchange") and American Depositary Shares ("ADSs", each ADS representing 50 H Shares) on the New York Stock Exchange. Prior to the private placement and the initial public offering, all of the issued and outstanding shares of capital stock of the Company, consisting of 2,200,000,000 Domestic Shares, par value RMB 1.00 per share, were owned by CSAHC, which owns and exercises, on behalf of the Chinese Government and under the supervision of the CAAC, the rights of ownership of the Domestic Shares held by CSAHC. After giving effect to the private placement and the initial public offering, CSAHC continues to own the 2,200,000,000 Domestic Shares, representing approximately 65.2% of the total share capital of the Company, and will be entitled to elect all the directors of the Company and to control the management and policies of the Group. The remaining 34.8% of the share capital of the Company is owned by holders of H Shares. Domestic Shares and H Shares are both ordinary shares of the Company.

The Company has applied to the relevant PRC authorities for the issue of not more than 1,000,000,000 A Shares and the listing of such A Shares on the Shanghai Stock Exchange (the "A Shares Issue Plan"). The A Shares Issue Plan was approved by the Independent shareholders at the Extraordinary General Meetings held on March 26, 2002 and May 21, 2002, and the Board was authorised to plan for and on behalf of the Company deal with all relevant matters relating to the A Shares Issue.

Route Network

Overview

The Group operates the most extensive route network among Chinese airlines. As of year end 2002, the Group operated 349 routes consisting of 286 domestic routes, 20 Hong Kong regional routes and 43 international routes. At such date, the Group's route network served 64 destinations within China and 24 destinations outside of China.

The Group continually evaluates its network of domestic, Hong Kong regional and international routes in light of its operating profitability and efficiency. The Group seeks to coordinate flight schedules with the Airline Subsidiaries on shared routes to maximize load factors and utilization rates. The acquisition of domestic, Hong Kong regional and international routes is subject to approval of the CAAC, and the acquisition of Hong Kong regional and international routes is also subject to the existence and the terms of agreements between the Chinese Government and the government of the Hong Kong SAR, the government of Macau Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China (Macau SAR) and the government of the proposed foreign destination.

In April 1997, the Company and Delta Airlines, one of the largest U.S. airlines, entered into an agreement for the provision of code sharing in respect of the Group's Guangzhou-Los Angeles route (the Code Sharing Agreement). The Code Sharing Agreement was approved by the CAAC and became effective in March 1999. Under the Code Sharing Agreement, Delta Airlines is permitted to sell tickets for the Los Angeles-Guangzhou route to passengers from various sales outlets in the United States using its DL code. Passengers use Delta Airlines within the United States for travel to Los Angeles, and the Group for travel from Los Angeles to Guangzhou. Similarly, the Group is permitted to sell tickets for travel between Guangzhou and 13 destinations in the United States using its CZ code. Under this arrangement, passengers use the Group for the Guangzhou-Los Angeles segment of the route and Delta Airlines between Los Angeles and one of the specified U.S. destinations. The Code Sharing Agreement increases the number of sales outlets within the United States for the Group's Los Angeles-Guangzhou route and allows the Group to provide coordinated reservation, confirmation and baggage check-in services from Guangzhou to destinations in the United States.

The Group has also entered into code-sharing agreements with several airlines such as Asiana Airlines, Japan Air System, Vietnam Airlines, Royal Dutch Airlines and Garuda Indonesian. Such operating measures expand the Group's route network.

Route Bases

The Group's main route base is in Guangzhou. The Group maintains ten regional route bases in Zhengzhou, Wuhan, Changsha, Shenzhen, Zhuhai, Xiamen, Haikou, Guilin, Shantou and Guiyang. All of these regional route bases are located in provincial capitals or major commercial centers in China. The Group's network of route bases provides the Group with routes covering all of China, except for Inner Mongolia, Tibet and Ningxia.

The Group believes that its extensive network of route bases enables it to coordinate flights and deploy its aircraft more effectively and to provide more convenient connecting flight schedules and access service and maintenance facilities for its aircraft. The Group believes that the number and location of these route bases may enhance the Group's ability to obtain the CAAC's approval of requests by the Group to open new routes and provide additional flights between these bases and other destinations in China. Under current regulations of the CAAC, airlines are generally expected to operate mainly from their route bases.

The Chinese Government has approved a new Guangzhou airport project, which commenced construction in 2000, with completion targeted for late 2003. Upon completion, the new airport will replace the Baiyun International Airport as the main hub of the Group's route network. With the approval of the Chinese Government, the Group began construction of its facilities at the new Guangzhou airport in 2000. The Group's total investment will be RMB3,540 million, of which RMB2,620 million will be financed by bank loans. Several major banks in the PRC have committed to finance the project. The balance of RMB920 million will be financed by internal resources. As of December 31, 2002, the Group invested a total of RMB432.6 million for this new airport project. The Group believes that the completion of the new airport will substantially enhance the Group's operations in the Southern China region.

Domestic Routes

The Group's domestic route network serves substantially all provinces and autonomous regions in China, including Guangdong, Fujian, Hubei, Hunan, Hainan, Guangxi, Jiangsu, Zhejiang, Henan and Anhui, and serves all four centrally-administered municipalities in China, namely, Beijing, Shanghai, Tianjin, and Chongqing. In 2002, the Group's most profitable domestic routes were the routes between Guangzhou and Beijing, Guangzhou and Shanghai, Shenzhen and Shanghai, Shenzhen and Beijing, Beijing and Guangzhou, Shanghai and Guangzhou, Beijing and Shenzhen, Shanghai and Shenzhen, Guangzhou and Hangzhou; and between Guangzhou, Dalian and Harbin.

Table of Contents*Hong Kong Regional Routes*

The Group offers scheduled service between Hong Kong and Guangzhou, Kunming, Xiamen, Shantou and Beijing. The Group's Hong Kong regional routes also include routes between Hong Kong or Macau and other destinations in China, including Guilin, Zhengzhou, Changsha, Haikou, Luoyang, Sanya, Zhang Jia Jie and Guiyang, which the Group operates on a charter flight basis, as explained below. The Group believes that the routes on which it operates these charter flights are among its highest yielding routes, primarily because the Group faces limited competition on such routes and is consequently less subject to downward pricing pressures. In 2002, the most profitable Hong Kong regional routes were those between Guangzhou and Hong Kong, Hong Kong and Wuhan, Hong Kong and Guangzhou, Wuhan and Hong Kong, Hong Kong and Beijing, Hong Kong and Xiamen, Kunming and Hong Kong, Hong Kong and Kunming, Xiamen and Hong Kong; and between Beijing and Hong Kong.

The Group's charter flights are essentially regularly scheduled flights, but in theory permission to operate these charter flights is subject to monthly review by the CAAC and the Civil Aviation Department of the Hong Kong SAR. The CAAC has informally indicated that it primarily considers market demand and airline capability in granting permission for such flights. The Group has been able to maintain all of its Hong Kong regional routes on which it operates on a charter flight basis and believes that demand on such routes will continue. In 2002, the Group operated a total of more than 13,500 flights on its Hong Kong regional routes, accounting for approximately 31.2% of all passengers carried by Chinese airlines on routes between Hong Kong or Macau and destinations in China.

International Routes

The Group is the principal Chinese airline connecting the rapidly developing Pearl River Delta region of China to Southeast Asia, with 26 routes serving ten Southeast Asian destinations, including Singapore and major cities in Indonesia, Thailand, Malaysia, Philippines, Vietnam and Laos. In 2002, the Group's most profitable Southeast Asian routes were those between Manila, Xiamen and Beijing, Beijing, Xiamen and Manila, Singapore and Guangzhou; and between Guangzhou and Singapore. The Group believes that, among Chinese airlines, it is well-positioned to benefit from the business opportunities arising out of increased air traffic and the growing economic relationships between China and Southeast Asian countries.

In addition to the 26 routes serving ten Southeast Asian destinations, the Group also operates seventeen other international routes providing scheduled service to Amsterdam, Sharjah, Osaka, Tokyo, Fukuoka, Seoul, Los Angeles, Sydney and Melbourne. In April 2002, an international route between Guangzhou and Tokyo was launched.

Aircraft Fleet

The Group's fleet plan in recent years has emphasized expansion and modernization through the acquisition of new aircraft and the retirement of less efficient older aircraft. As of year end 2002, the Group operated a fleet of 122 aircraft with an average age of 7.76 years. All aircraft of the Group are Boeing and Airbus aircraft. The Group has the largest fleet among Chinese airline companies. Most of the aircraft operated by the Group are leased pursuant to various types of leasing arrangements.

The following table sets forth certain information regarding the Group's fleet of 122 aircraft as of December 31, 2002.

Model	Number of Aircraft	Average Age (years)	Average Passenger Capacity
Boeing 777-200	4	6.53	380
Boeing 777-21B1GW	5	5.28	292
Boeing 757-200	26	10.48	200

Table of Contents

During 2002, the Group continued to expand and modernize its aircraft fleet. In 2002, the Group's major aircraft transactions included:

- (i) the cash purchase of one Boeing 757-200 aircraft and two Boeing 737-800 aircraft;
 - (ii) the acquisitions of two Boeing 747-400 freighters and three Boeing 737-800 aircraft financed by long term bank loans;
 - (iii) the acquisitions of five Boeing 737-300 aircraft from Zhongyuan Airlines, a subsidiary of CSAHC;
 - (iv) the addition of one Boeing 737-700 aircraft under operating lease;
 - (v) the extension of the operating leases of three Boeing 777-200 under operating leases for another five years; and
 - (vi) the sale and operating leaseback of four Boeing 757-200 aircraft.
- Very Substantial Acquisition

On October 3, 2001 the Company entered into an agreement with the Boeing Company for acquiring twenty Boeing 737-800 aircraft and two Boeing 747-400 freighters during the period between 2002 and 2005 (the Transactions). The aggregate consideration in the Transactions exceeds 100% of the net tangible assets of the Company as published in its annual report dated December 31, 2000 and constitutes very substantial transactions under the Hong Kong Listing Rules. The PRC government and CSAHC, the 65.2% controlling shareholder of the Company, have approved the Transactions. CSAHC does not have any interest in the Transactions other than as a shareholder of the Company.

The twenty Boeing 737-800 aircraft acquired pursuant to the Transactions will replace twenty existing Boeing 737 series aircraft that the Company currently operates under operating leases. The Board considered that the Transactions are in the best interest of the Company and its shareholders as a whole.

Waiver from the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited

A. In March 2002, the Hong Kong Stock Exchange granted a waiver to allow the Company to use a new size test based on ATKs to replace the normal net asset test and consideration test under Chapter 14 of the Listing Rules in respect of acquisition and disposal of aircraft.

The Hong Kong Stock Exchange has granted the waiver on and subject to the following conditions:

- 1. Instead of the normal tests under Chapter 14 of the Listing Rules, the tests may be calculated by reference to the ATKs for aircraft being acquired or disposed of as compared to the Company's aggregate fleet ATKs.
- 2. The proposed method of calculation for the four tests will replace the net asset test and the consideration test only, while the other two tests, namely, net profit and equity capital issued tests will continue to apply as set out in Chapter 14 of the Listing Rules.
- 3. The calculation of ATKs will be as follows: i) fleet ATKs will be the aggregate actual ATKs for all aircraft in the Company's fleet for the last financial year as disclosed in the Company's annual report, ii) ATKs for aircraft being disposed of will be based on actual ATKs of the aircraft for the previous two financial years; and iii) ATKs for aircraft being acquired will be based on the historical operating data for the same type of aircraft. Where the aircraft to be acquired is a new type, the ATKs will be estimated based on other aircraft of similar size operated by the Company or the average for the Chinese civil aviation industry.
- 4. The Company's ATKs figure will be disclosed in the Company's annual report and be reviewed by auditors who will confirm on an annual basis that the Company's ATKs are calculated correctly and consistently.
- 5. For the purposes of making the test as stated in paragraph 1 above, all acquisitions and disposals for the last 12 months will be aggregated, unless the acquisition or disposal has previously been reported as a notifiable transaction under these rules.
- 6. The thresholds for classifying a transaction as a discloseable, major or very substantial acquisition will be 30%, 50% and 100% (assuming that there are no circumstances which would make it a connected transaction or a share transaction).

Table of Contents

7. Where the transaction is a discloseable transaction, disclosure will take the form of a press announcement complying with rule 14.14 of the Listing Rules and details of the transaction will be set out in the Company's next annual report and accounts. Where the transaction is a major transaction or a very substantial acquisition, the provisions of Chapter 14 of the Listing Rules will apply.
8. An option to acquire aircraft will not be treated as acquisition while the exercise of such an option will be treated as the acquisition of an aircraft.
9. The waiver will only apply to acquisition/disposal of aircraft, and acquisition or disposal of other types of assets by the Company will be subject to provisions under Chapter 14 of the Listing Rules.
10. The Company will disclose in its annual reports and interim reports the following information:
 - (i) regarding future deliveries of aircraft, details of aircraft on order including the number and type; and the years in which such aircraft are scheduled to be delivered;
 - (ii) the number and type of aircraft which are subject to options exercisable during a period of not less than 12 months from the end of the financial year or period to which the annual report relates; and
 - (iii) details of the waiver granted pursuant to the application.
11. The Company remains a subsidiary of CSAHC. Should there be any change in control of the Company, the Hong Kong Stock Exchange will need to reconsider whether the waiver continues to be appropriate.

B. In November 2002, the Hong Kong Stock Exchange granted a waiver in relation to the in-flight meals and ticket sales arrangements between the Group and CSAHC after approval of the consolidation and restructuring proposal of the PRC aviation industry by the State Council of the PRC (the Ongoing Connected Transactions for In-Flight meals and Ticket Sales).

The Hong Kong Stock Exchange has granted the waiver on and subject to the following conditions:

1. the Ongoing Connected Transactions for In-flight Meals and Ticket Sales shall be:
 - (a) entered into in the ordinary and usual course of business of the Group;
 - (b) conducted either on normal commercial terms or on terms no less favourable than terms available to (or from, as appropriate) independent third parties; and
 - (c) on terms that are fair and reasonable so far as the shareholders of the Company and in the interest of the Company as a whole are concerned;
2. the aggregate annual amount payable by the Group to CSAHC, and the aggregate annual amount payable by CSAHC to the Group, under the Ongoing Connected Transactions for In-Flight Meals and Ticket Sales for each financial year will not exceed the higher of HK$10 million and 3% of the consolidated net tangible assets of the company as disclosed in its latest published audited accounts (the Relevant Cap Amount);
3. the details of the Ongoing Connected Transactions for In-Flight Meals and Ticket Sales will be disclosed in the company s annual report as set out in Rule 14.25(1)(A) to (D) of the Listing Rules for the relevant financial year of the Company;
4. the independent non-executive directors will review annually and confirm in the Company s annual report of the relevant financial year that the Ongoing Connected Transactions for In-Flight Meals and Ticket Sales have been conducted in the manner as stated in paragraph 1 above and comply with the Relevant Cap Amount as stated in paragraph 2 above;
5. the auditors of the Company shall review annually the transactions and provide a letter to the Board of Directors stating that:
 - (a) the Ongoing Connected Transactions for In-Flight Meals and Ticket Sales have received approval of the Board of Directors of the Company;
 - (b) the Ongoing Connected Transactions for In-Flight Meals and Ticket Sales have been entered into in accordance with the terms of the agreements relating to the transactions;
 - (c) the aggregate annual amount payable by the Group to CSAHC, and the aggregate annual amount payable by CSAHC to the Group, under the Ongoing Connected Transactions for In-Flight Meals and Ticket Sales for each financial year shall not exceed the Relevant Cap Amount set out in paragraph 2 above; and
 - (d) the Ongoing Connected Transactions for In-Flight Meals and Ticket Sales are in accordance with the pricing policy of the Group.

Where, for whatever reasons, the auditors decline to accept the engagement or are unable to provide the auditors letter, the Directors shall contact the Hong Kong Stock Exchange immediately.

6. CSAHC shall provide to the Hong Kong Exchange an undertaking that, for so long as the Company s shares are listed on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange, it will provide the Company s auditors with full access to its relevant records for the purpose of the auditors review of the Ongoing Connected Transactions for In-Flight Meals and Ticket Sales.

Aircraft Financing Arrangements

Overview

A significant portion of the Group s aircraft is operated under long-term capital or operating leases or long-term mortgage loans with remaining terms to maturity ranging from one to nine years. As of December 31, 2002, 36 of the Group s 122 Boeing and Airbus aircraft were operated under capital leases, 49 were operated under operating leases, 17 were financed by long-term mortgage loans, while the remaining were acquired either with cash proceeds or acquired by exercising the purchase options upon expiry of the respective capital leases. The Group's planned acquisitions of aircraft in the foreseeable future will generally be made pursuant to operating or capital leases. The Group's determination as to its acquisition strategy depends on the Group's evaluation at the time of its capacity requirements, anticipated deliveries of aircraft, the Group's capital structure and cash flow, prevailing interest rates and other general market conditions.

The following table sets forth, as of December 31, 2002, the number of Boeing and Airbus aircraft operated by the Group pursuant to capital and operating leases and the remaining terms, expressed in years, of such leases.

Model	Capital Lease	Operating Lease	Average Remaining Lease Term
Boeing 777-200 and 777-21B	6	3	7.69
Boeing 757-200	3	11	5.17
Boeing 737-500		18	2.80
Boeing 737-300	9	12	2.16
Airbus 320-200	18	2	6.44
Boeing 737-700		1	6.67

Capital Leases

As of December 31, 2002, the Group's aggregate future minimum lease payments (including future finance charges) required under its capital leases were RMB 9,745 million (US$1,177 million). As of year end 2002, a majority of the Group's capital leases had original terms ranging from ten to 15 years from the date of delivery of the relevant aircraft, and the remaining terms of these leases ranged from one to eight years. The Group's capital leases typically cover a substantial portion of the relevant aircraft's useful life and transfer the benefits and risks of ownership to the Group. Under its capital leases, the Group generally has an option to purchase the aircraft at or near the end of the lease term. As is customary in the case of capital leases, the Group's obligations are secured by the related aircraft, as well as other collateral.

Operating Leases

As of December 31, 2002, the Group's aggregate future minimum lease payments required under its operating leases were RMB8,537 million (US$1,031 million). As of year end 2002, the Group's operating leases had original terms generally ranging from within one year to ten years from the date of delivery of the relevant aircraft, and the remaining terms of these leases generally ranged from one to eight years. Pursuant to the terms of the operating leases, the Group is obligated to make rental payments based on the lease term, with no termination payment obligations or purchase option, and the lessor bears the economic benefits and risks of ownership. Under its operating leases, the Group has no option to purchase the aircraft and is required to return the aircraft in the agreed condition at the end of the lease term. Although title to the aircraft remains with the lessor, the Group is responsible during the lease term for the maintenance, servicing, insurance, repair and overhaul of the aircraft.

Aircraft Flight Equipment

The jet engines used in the Group's aircraft fleet are manufactured by General Electric Corporation, Rolls-Royce plc, United Technologies International, Inc., CFM International, Inc. and International Aviation Engines Corporation. As of year end 2002, the Group had 34 spare jet engines for its fleet. The Group determines its requirements for jet engines based on all relevant considerations, including manufacturers' recommendations, the performance history of the jet engines and the planned utilization of its aircraft.

Rotables and certain of the expendables for the Group's aircraft are generally purchased by Southern Airlines (Group) Import & Export Trading Corporation (SAIETC), a subsidiary of CSAHC acting as agent for the Group, in consideration of an agency fee. The Group arranges the ordering of aircraft, jet engines and other flight equipment for the Airline Subsidiaries and keeps an inventory of rotables and expendables for the Airline Subsidiaries.

Aircraft Maintenance

A major part of the maintenance for the Group's fleet other than overhauls of jet engines is performed by GAMECO, a joint venture established by the Company, Lockheed Martin (Lockheed) and Hutchison Whampoa (Hutchison) consistent with the Group's strategy to achieve fully integrated airline operations and to assure continued access to a stable source of high quality maintenance services. The remaining part of the maintenance for the Group's fleet other than overhauls of jet engines is performed by service providers in China and overseas. GAMECO performs all types of maintenance services, ranging from maintenance inspections performed on aircraft before, after and between flights (line maintenance services) to major overhaul performed at specified intervals. GAMECO was the first of three aircraft maintenance facilities in China having been certified as a repair station by both the CAAC and the FAA. In March 1998, GAMECO received an approval certificate from the United Kingdom Civil Aviation Authority for the repair and maintenance of aircraft and aircraft engines.

The Group believes that GAMECO performs major maintenance checks on the Group's aircraft within time periods generally consistent with those of large international airline maintenance centers. GAMECO's repair and maintenance capabilities include overhaul of more than 90% of the Group's aircraft. Although rotables for the Group's aircraft are generally imported through SAIETC, a portion of expendables and other maintenance materials are directly imported by GAMECO. GAMECO also provides line maintenance services to 18 other Chinese airlines and nine international airlines. GAMECO provides heavy maintenance services to fourteen other Chinese airlines and two international airline.

Under the Aircraft Maintenance and Engineering Agreement entered into between GAMECO and the Company (the Aircraft Maintenance Agreement), GAMECO charges the Group for expendables on a cost plus basis, and for labor based on a formula that takes into account projected flight hours, costs and other relevant factors. Fees under the Aircraft Maintenance Agreement are payable 50% in Renminbi and 50% in U.S. dollars. Each year, the Company and GAMECO determine the components of the pricing formula. For the year ended December 31, 2002, GAMECO's revenue totaled RMB592 million, approximately 95% of which was derived from services provided to the Group.

Overhauls of jet engines are performed by overseas qualified service providers in Germany, Malaysia, Canada and England.

Safety

The Group endeavors to maintain strict compliance with all laws and regulations applicable to flight safety. In addition, the Group has adopted measures to eliminate or minimize factors that may impair flight safety, including specialized training programs and safety manuals. The Air Safety Management Department of the Company implements safety-related training programs on an ongoing basis in all of the Group's operations to raise the safety awareness of all employees. As a result, overall flight safety has gradually improved. There was no serious incidents involving casualty or flight damage throughout the three years ended December 31, 2002. And for minor incidents which include various events and conditions prescribed by the CAAC which do not involve serious personal injury or material damage to flight equipment, the Group has kept the number consistently below the standard prescribed by the CAAC. For example, the Company's flight incident ratio was 0.15, 0.19 and 0.42 in 2000, 2001 and 2002 respectively. In comparison, CAAC's published maximum acceptable flight incident ratio was 1.6 in 2000, 2001 and 1.3 in 2002. This ratio is defined as the occurrence of one incident for every 10,000 hours of flight time.

Jet Fuel

Jet fuel costs typically represent a major component of an airline's operating expenses. The Group's jet fuel costs for 2002 accounted for 22.0% of the Group's operating expenses. Like all Chinese airlines, the Group is generally required by the Chinese Government to purchase its jet fuel requirements from regional branches of CAOSC and Bluesky Oil Supplies Company, except at the Shenzhen, Zhuhai and Sanya airports which are supplied by Sino-foreign joint ventures in which CAOSC is a joint venture partner. CAOSC is a State-owned organization controlled and supervised by the CAAC that controls the importation and distribution of jet fuel throughout China.

Jet fuel obtained from CAOSC's regional branches is purchased at uniform prices throughout China that are determined and adjusted by CAOSC from time to time with the approval of the CAAC and the pricing department of the State Development and Planning Commission (SDPC) based on market conditions and other factors. As a result, the costs of transportation and storage of jet fuel in all regions of China are spread among all domestic airlines. Jet fuel costs in China are influenced by costs at State-owned oil refineries and limitations in the transportation infrastructure, as well as by insufficient storage facilities for jet fuel in certain regions of China.

Prior to 1994, domestic jet fuel prices were generally below international jet fuel prices. The Chinese Government had gradually increased domestic jet fuel prices in order to reflect more accurately the costs of supplying jet fuel in China. As a result, domestic jet fuel prices have become higher than those in the international market since the beginning of 1994. With the WTO entry, the jet fuel price in China will probably be trimmed by the market force to be in line with the international market.

CAOSC's maximum fuel price in 2002 was RMB3,460 per ton. The average price paid by the Group in 2002 was RMB2,715 per ton, which represents a 12.8% decrease from that of 2001.

To address the problem of high jet fuel prices since 2000, CAAC has announced a policy permitting airlines to impose a fuel surcharge on passengers carried by their domestic and Hong Kong regional flights for the purpose of offsetting the effect of rising jet fuel prices. Such surcharges have been imposed by the Group since November 1, 2000 at the prescribed rates set by the CAAC.

In addition to purchases of jet fuel from CAOSC, the Group is also permitted by the Chinese Government to purchase a portion of its jet fuel requirements for its international flights from foreign fuel suppliers located outside China at prevailing international market prices. Jet fuel purchased from such sources outside China accounted for approximately 14.5% of the Group's total jet fuel consumption in 2002.

Flight Operations

Flight operations for the Group's flights originating in Guangzhou are managed by the Company's flight operations and marketing divisions, which are responsible for formulating flight plans and schedules consistent with route and flight approvals received from the CAAC. The Company's flight operations center in Guangzhou is responsible for the on-site administration of flights, including the dispatch and coordination of flights, deployment of aircraft, ground services and crew staffing. In addition, each of the Airline Subsidiaries maintains flight operations centers at all servicing airports for on-site administration of their flights. The Company's general dispatch offices are responsible for monitoring conditions on the Group's route network, administering the Group's flight plans, collecting and monitoring navigation data and analyzing and monitoring airport conditions.

To enhance its management of flight operations, the Group's computerized flight operations control system (SOC) began operation in May 1999. The system utilizes advanced computer and telecommunications technology to manage the Group's flights on a centralized, real-time basis. The Group believes that the system will assist it to (i) compile flight schedules more efficiently; (ii) increase the utilization of aircraft; (iii) allow real-time tracking of all of the Group's flights; and (iv) improve coordination of the Group's aircraft maintenance and ground servicing functions.

Training of Pilots and Flight Attendants

The Group believes that its pilot training program which was established in cooperation with the CAAC affiliated Beijing Aeronautics and Aviation University (the BAAU) has significantly improved the quality of the training received by the Group's pilots and has helped maintain the quality of the Group's staff of pilots at a level consistent with the expansion of operations called for by the Group's business strategy.

In the Group's pilot training program, trainees have two years of theoretical training at the BAAU. After successful completion of academic and physical examinations, students receive flight training for a period of approximate 20 months at China Southern West Australian Flying College Pty Ltd. (the Australian Pilot College), a company that is 65% owned by the Company and 35% owned by CSAHC. Each student at the Australian Pilot College is required to fly at least 230 hours before being awarded a flight certificate. Graduates of the BAAU and the Australian Pilot College are hired by the Group as trainee pilots after passing a CAAC-administered examination to obtain a pilot license. The total training period for the Group's trainee pilots is approximately five years. About 110 trainee pilots graduated from the Australian Pilot College each year.

As part of the pilot training program, the Group also operates a flight simulator training center in Zhuhai, Guangdong Province (the Zhuhai Training Center), which is equipped with simulators for all models of aircraft currently operated by the Group. Trainee pilots receive their initial training in the operation of a specific aircraft at the Zhuhai Training Center, which also provides training to pilots from other Chinese airlines.

The Group's pilots are required to be licensed by the CAAC, which requires an annual recertification examination. The Group's pilots attend courses in simulator training twice annually and in simulator emergency procedures annually at the Zhuhai Training Center. The Group also conducts regular advanced training courses for captains and captain candidates. Pilots advance in rank based on number of hours flown, types of aircraft flown and their performance history.

The Group conducts theoretical and practical training programs for its flight attendants at its Flight Attendants Training Center in Guangzhou (the Guangzhou Training Center). The Guangzhou Training Center is equipped with computerized training equipment, as well as simulator cabins for all models of aircraft currently operated by the Group. At the Guangzhou Training Center, flight attendants of the Group receive comprehensive training in areas such as in-flight service, emergency evacuation and water rescue.

Ground Services

The Group makes arrangements with airport authorities, other airlines or ground services companies for substantially all ground facilities, including jet-ways, waiting areas, ticket counters and support services buildings, at each airport that it serves. The Group pays landing, parking and other fees to such airports, including Baiyun International Airport in Guangzhou. At domestic airports, such fees are generally determined by the CAAC.

At Baiyun International Airport in Guangzhou, the Group operates its own passenger check-in, cargo, mail and baggage handling, aircraft maintenance and cleaning services. The Group also provides such services to other airlines that operate in Baiyun International Airport.

Ground services at the airports in Shenzhen, Changsha, Wuhan, Zhengzhou and Haikou are primarily operated directly by the Group. Ground services at other airports in China are provided to the Group by local airport authorities or local airlines pursuant to various service agreements. Ground services and other services at airports outside China are provided to the Group by foreign services providers pursuant to various service agreements with such parties. All such agreements of the Group are short-term and otherwise on terms that are customary in the industry.

Air Catering

The Company owns a 51% equity interest in Guangzhou Nanland Air Catering Company Limited (Nanland). Nanland provides in-flight meals, snacks, drinks and related services for all of the Group's flights originating in Guangzhou and substantially all other flights departing from Baiyun International Airport. The Group contracts with various air catering suppliers with respect to in-flight catering services for flights originating from other airports, generally on an annual basis and otherwise on terms that are customary in the industry.

Pursuant to an agreement dated March 24, 2001, Nanland has been providing and will provide in-flight meals to the Xinjiang Airlines, a subsidiary of CSAHC from time to time for a period of one year. The agreement will then be automatically extended annually.

For the year ended December 31, 2002, the amount paid by Xinjiang Airlines to Nanland for the provision of in-flight meals was approximately RMB2.9 million.

Pursuant to an agreement dated September 20, 1999, Xinjiang Airlines has been providing and will provide in-flight meals to the Company for a period of one year. The agreement will then be automatically extended annually. The amount paid by the Group to Xinjiang Airlines for the provision of in-flight meals for the year ended December 31, 2002 was approximately RMB1.1 million.

Cargo and Mail

The Group operates cargo and mail services primarily as part of its passenger transportation services. The Group's cargo business expanded in recent years as a result of increased demand for cargo and mail services between Guangzhou and other destinations in China and Southeast Asia served by the Group. The Group plans to continue to expand its cargo and mail operations as a source of incremental revenue and as a means to improve overall load factors. In April 2000, the Company opened a new international cargo route between Shenzhen and Chicago, the U.S. for international cargo service. To further cope with the increased aviation logistics resulting from the growth of international trade as a result of the PRC's entry into World Trade Organisation, the Group took delivery of two Boeing 747-400 freighters in the second half of 2002. The Group conducts its cargo business primarily through its cargo division in Shenzhen. In October 2002, the Group commenced cargo and mail services between Shenzhen, Pudong, and Leige for twice per week with one Boeing 747-400 freighter wet-leased from Atlas. Starting from April 10, 2003, the Group operates its own Boeing 747-400 freighter for the route between Shenzhen, Pudong and Leige twice a week, and three times a week for the route between Pudong and Leige.

Sales, Reservations and Marketing

Passenger Ticket Sales and Reservations

The Group's ticket sales and reservations are conducted by or through independent sales agents and the Group's own network of exclusive sales offices as well as the CAAC's and CSAHC's sales offices. The Group has sales offices in Guangzhou and its other route bases. In addition, the Group maintains regional sales offices in other cities in China, including Beijing and Shanghai. The Group maintains international sales offices in Bangkok, Manila, Hanoi, Ho Chi Minh City, Singapore, Kuala Lumpur, Penang, Jakarta and Phnom Penh in Southeast Asia, as well as in Osaka, Fukuoka, Tokyo, Seoul, Amsterdam, Los Angeles, Sydney, Melbourne and Sharjah.

In Hong Kong, ticket sales and reservations services are provided to the Group by China National Aviation Corporation (a CAAC affiliate) and Nanlung Travel Agency Limited (a subsidiary of CSAHC) for a commission of 12% of the ticket price. The Group also has agency agreements with airlines in the Asia-Pacific region, Europe, the United States and Africa for the processing of ticket sales and reservations on a reciprocal basis. In 2002, approximately 30% of all ticket sales for the Group's scheduled flights were made by the Group's, CAAC's and CSAHC's network of sales offices. The Group also sells tickets and accepts reservations through an extensive network of non-exclusive independent sales agents, substantially all of whom operate in cities throughout China, with the remainder operating principally in Hong Kong and other Southeast Asian destinations served by the Group. Under the agency agreements with these sales agents, the Group pays commissions based on the value of tickets sold. The Group pays independent sales agents in China a commission of 3% of the ticket price, and pays independent sales agents outside China a commission ranging from 5% to 9% of the ticket price. Sales agents are typically permitted to withhold their commission from the proceeds of ticket sales that are remitted to the Group. In 2002, independent sales agents accounted for approximately 70% of the Group's ticket sales for its scheduled flights.

Substantially all of the Group's sales offices and agents in China are linked electronically to the CAAC's computerized ticketing and reservations system, which is in turn linked to all domestic airlines for flights throughout China. The Group has also entered into membership agreements with several international reservation systems, including ABACUS in Southeast Asia, SABRE and GALILEO in the United States, AMADEUS in Europe and INFINI in Japan. These systems facilitate reservations and sales of tickets for the Group's international flights.

Cargo

The Group's cargo and mail services are promoted through its own cargo divisions, Baiyun Xinhua and independent cargo agents both within and outside China that track available space among all airlines. In particular, the Group employs a number of cargo agents in the Pearl River delta region. The Group generally pays such agents a commission of 4% and 5% of the relevant cargo freight rate for domestic and international services, respectively.

Promotional and Marketing Activities

The Group engages in regular promotional and marketing activities in an effort to increase its market share. The Group's promotional and marketing activities for domestic routes emphasize safety, passenger comfort and the frequency of the Group's flights. The Group's promotional and marketing activities for international and Hong Kong regional passengers emphasize the Group's quality of service, extensive route network in China and greater frequency of flights relative to other Chinese airlines. In addition, the Group also promotes and markets its Hong Kong regional and international routes on the basis of price.

The Group has been seeking to increase its name recognition by offering new services to passengers. For example, the Group was the first Chinese airline to provide off-airport check-in services. The Group also offers transfer and baggage thru-handling services to passengers connecting to other airlines, including passengers connecting in Hong Kong for flights to Taiwan.

To enhance relationships with its passengers, the Group has launched two frequent flyer programs, namely the China Southern Airlines Sky Pearl Club, and the Egret Mileage Plus. By the end of 2002, the Group had approximately 2,370,000 members under these programs.

Regulation

The Chinese commercial aviation industry is subject to a high degree of regulation and oversight by the CAAC. Regulations and policies issued or implemented by the CAAC encompass substantially all aspects of airline operations, including the approval of domestic, Hong Kong regional and international route allocation, published airfares, aircraft acquisition, jet fuel prices and standards for aircraft maintenance, airport operations and air traffic control. The Civil Aviation Law, which became effective in March, 1996, provides a framework for regulation of many of these aspects of commercial aviation activities. Although China's airlines operate under the supervision and regulation of the CAAC, they are accorded an increasingly significant degree of operational autonomy, including with respect to the application for domestic, Hong Kong regional and international routes, the allocation of aircraft among routes, the purchase of flight equipment, the pricing of Hong Kong regional and international air fares within a certain range, the training and supervision of personnel and their day-to-day operations.

As an airline providing services on international routes, the Group is also subject to a variety of bilateral civil air transport agreements that provide for the exchange of air traffic rights between China and various other countries. In addition, China is a contracting state, as well as a permanent member, of the International Civil Aviation Organization (the ICAO), an agency of the United Nations established in 1947 to assist in the planning and development of international air transport, and is a party to many other international aviation conventions. The ICAO establishes technical standards for the international aviation industry. The Group believes that it, in all material respects, complies with all such technical standards.

Route Rights

Domestic Routes. The right of any Chinese airline to carry passengers or cargo on any domestic route must be obtained from the CAAC. Non-Chinese airlines are not permitted to provide domestic air service between destinations in China. The CAAC's policy is to assign a domestic route to the Chinese airline that is best suited to serve the route based, in part, on the location of the airline's main or regional base at the point of origin. Under current regulations, airlines are generally expected to operate mainly from their route bases, and flights within a particular region are expected to be served by airlines based in that region. The Group believes that these regulatory parameters benefit airlines, such as the Group, that have a large number of regional route bases. The CAAC also considers other factors that may make a particular airline suitable to operate a domestic route, including the applicant's general operating authority, compliance with pricing regulations and regulations applicable to safety and service quality, market demand, the ability of the applicant in terms of its existing route, and airport facilities and related support services.

The CAAC considers market conditions for a domestic route in determining whether the route should be allocated to one or more airlines. The CAAC requires the passenger load factor on a particular route to reach 75% before additional flights may be added on that route. Airlines serving the route are given priority for such additional flights, and only if such airlines cannot operate more flights will the CAAC permit another airline to commence service.

Hong Kong Regional Routes. Hong Kong regional routes and landing rights are derived from agreements between the Chinese Government and the government of the Hong Kong SAR, and between the Chinese Government and the Portuguese government before December 20, 1999 and the government of Macau SAR on and after December 20, 1999. Such rights are allocated by the CAAC among the seven Chinese airlines permitted to fly to Hong Kong or Macau.

The Group understands that the criteria for determining whether a Hong Kong regional route will be allocated to a particular airline, include market demand, the ability of the airline to service the route and the appropriateness of the airline's aircraft for such route. A number of Hong Kong regional routes are operated by Chinese airlines on a charter flight basis. Permission to operate these flights is in theory subject to monthly review by the CAAC and the Hong Kong Civil Aviation Department. The CAAC has informally indicated that it primarily considers market demand and airline capability in granting permission for such flights.

International Routes. International route rights, as well as the corresponding landing rights, are derived from air services agreements negotiated between the Chinese Government, through the CAAC, and the government of the relevant foreign country. Each government grants to the other the right to designate one or more domestic airlines to operate scheduled service between certain destinations within each of such countries. Upon entering into an air services agreement, the CAAC determines the airline to be awarded such routes based on various criteria, including the availability of appropriate aircraft, flight and management personnel, safety record, the overall size of the airline, financial condition and sufficiency of assets to bear civil liabilities in international air services. These route rights may be terminated by the CAAC under special circumstances.

The criteria for determining whether an international route will be allocated to a second airline generally include (i) the terms of the relevant bilateral civil aviation agreement; (ii) consistency with overall national plans and the national interest and the enhancement of reasonable competition; and (iii) whether the international airports to be used are sufficient for the aircraft flown and employ security measures consistent with international standards.

In addition, if the relevant bilateral civil aviation agreement permits more than one Chinese airline to operate a particular international route, the CAAC will only permit a second airline to operate on such route if the number of passengers carried annually exceeds 100,000 and if there is a minimum average load factor of 68% for routes with at least five weekly flights by Chinese airlines, or 80% for routes with four or fewer weekly flights by Chinese airlines.

Air Fare Pricing Policy

Published air fares of Chinese airlines for domestic routes are established by the CAAC and the pricing department of the SDPC. The CAAC determines and adjusts from time to time the published fare for each domestic route based on several factors, including average airline operating costs, market conditions, national transportation requirements and the ability of consumers to pay increased fares.

In November 1997, the CAAC announced that Chinese airlines would be permitted to offer discounts within specified ranges to their customers. In response to this policy, the Group instituted a multiple class airfare pricing policy under which discounted rates were offered on certain air routes and flights within the parameters of the CAAC's policy.

This air fare policy resulted in severe price competition among Chinese airlines. The CAAC believed that this development was not conducive to the healthy development of Chinese airlines, and therefore in late May 1998 required that Chinese airlines may not offer a discount rate which is more than 20% below the published fare.

In February 1999, the CAAC adopted a new air fare policy prohibiting discounting of domestic airfares except for special group of passengers such as teachers, students, touring group and disabled soldiers, etc. The new policy was intended to encourage Chinese airlines to compete on the basis of overall service instead of fares. The Group believes that the stabilization in ticket price to a certain extent contributed to the increase of the Group's revenue and improved its results of operations in 2001.

Published air fares of Chinese airlines for the Hong Kong regional routes are determined by the CAAC and the relevant civil aviation authorities in Hong Kong or Macau, subject to consultation between the relevant Chinese airlines and Hong Kong or Macau airlines. Airlines may offer discounts on flights on their Hong Kong regional routes.

Published air fares of Chinese airlines for international routes are determined through consultation between the relevant Chinese airlines and foreign airlines in accordance with the civil aviation agreements between the Chinese Government and the relevant foreign government, taking into account the international air fare standards established through the International Air Transportation Association. All air fares for international routes must be approved by the CAAC. Discounting of published international air fares is permitted.

Acquisition of Aircraft and Flight Equipment

The CAAC requires all Chinese airlines to acquire their aircraft through China Aviation Supplies Import and Export Corporation (CASC), an entity controlled by the CAAC. If a Chinese airline plans to acquire an aircraft, the airline must first seek approval from the CAAC and SDPC. The airline must, as a condition of approval, provide specific acquisition plans, which are subject to modification by the CAAC and SDPC. If the CAAC and SDPC approve an aircraft acquisition, the airline negotiates the terms of the acquisition with the manufacturer together with CASC because CASC possesses the license required to import or export aircraft, and CASC receives a commission in respect thereof. Most Chinese airlines are also required to acquire their aircraft engines, spare parts and other flight equipment through CASC. The Company and a few other Chinese airlines are permitted to import jet engines and other flight equipment for their own use without the participation of CASC. In the case of the Company, SAIETC acts as its importer agent and is paid an agency fee for its services.

Jet Fuel Supply and Pricing

CAOSC and Bluesky Oil Supplies Company, companies controlled and supervised by the CAAC, are the only jet fuel supply companies in China, with the exception of the joint venture jet fuel supply companies that supply the Shenzhen, Zhuhai and Sanya airports, in each of which CAOSC is a partner. Airlines are generally not permitted to buy jet fuel from other suppliers in their domestic operations, since the direct import of jet fuel for domestic purposes is prohibited. As a result, all Chinese airlines purchase their domestic jet fuel supply requirements (other than in respect of their Shenzhen, Zhuhai or Sanya operations) from the seven regional branches of CAOSC. Jet fuel obtained from such regional branches is purchased at uniform prices throughout China that are determined and adjusted by CAOSC from time to time with the approval of the CAAC and the pricing department of the SDPC based on market conditions and other factors.

Safety

The CAAC has made the improvement of air traffic safety in China a high priority and is responsible for the establishment of operational safety, maintenance and training standards for all Chinese airlines. The Chinese airlines are required to provide monthly flight safety reports to the CAAC, including reports of flight or other incidents or accidents and other safety related problems involving such airline's aircraft occurring during the relevant reporting period. The CAAC periodically conducts safety inspections on individual airlines.

Table of Contents

The CAAC oversees the standards of all Chinese airline pilots through its operation of the CAAC Aviation College. The CAAC Aviation College is a monitoring unit located in Tianjin which implements a uniform pilot certification process applicable to all Chinese airline pilots and is responsible for the issuance, renewal, suspension and cancellation of pilot licenses. Every pilot is required to pass CAAC-administered examinations before obtaining a pilot license and is subject to an annual recertification examination.

All aircraft operated by Chinese airlines, other than a limited number of leased aircraft registered in foreign countries, are required to be registered with the CAAC. All aircraft operated by Chinese airlines must have a valid certificate of airworthiness, which is issued annually by the CAAC. In addition, maintenance permits are issued to a Chinese airline only after its maintenance capabilities have been examined and assessed by the CAAC. Such maintenance permits are renewed annually. All aircraft operated by Chinese airlines may be maintained and repaired only by CAAC-certified maintenance facilities, whether located within or outside China. Aircraft maintenance personnel must be certified by the CAAC before assuming aircraft maintenance posts.

Security

The CAAC establishes and supervises the implementation of security standards and regulations for the Chinese commercial aviation industry. Such standards and regulations are based on Chinese laws, as well as standards developed by international commercial aviation organizations. Each airline and airport in China is required to submit to the CAAC an aviation security handbook describing specific security procedures established by such airline or airport for the day-to-day operations of commercial aviation and procedures for staff training on security. Such security procedures must be based on relevant CAAC regulations and international commercial aviation treaties. Chinese airports and airlines that operate international routes must also adopt security measures in accordance with the requirements of the relevant international agreements.

Noise and Environmental Regulation

All airlines in China must comply with the noise and environmental regulations of the PRC State Environmental Protection Agency. Applicable regulations of the CAAC permit Chinese airports to refuse take-off and landing rights to any aircraft that does not comply with noise regulations.

Chinese Airport Policy

The CAAC supervises and manages the administration of most civilian airports in China, including Baiyun International Airport, which is managed by Baiyun International Airport Company, a company directly controlled by the CAAC. Airports in China are also subject to regulation and ongoing review by the CAAC, which determines take-off and landing charges, as well as charges for the use of airports and airport services.

Competition

The CAAC's extensive regulation of the Chinese commercial aviation industry has had the effect of managing competition among Chinese airlines. Nevertheless, competition has become increasingly intense in recent years due to a number of factors, including relaxation of certain regulations by the CAAC, an increase in the number of Chinese airlines and an increase in the capacity, routes and flights of Chinese airlines.

In the Chinese aviation industry, the three dominant airlines are the Group, Air China and China Eastern Airlines (China Eastern). In 2002, these three airlines together controlled approximately 51% of the commercial aviation market in China as measured by passengers carried.

Most major Chinese airlines have in recent years significantly expanded their fleets, while at the same time, passenger traffic has not increased proportionately. This has resulted in a reduction in the passenger load factors for most Chinese airlines. As a result, Chinese airlines are required to be more competitive with respect to, for example, quality of service, including ticketing and reservations, in-flight services, flight scheduling and timeliness.

The Group expects that competition in China's commercial aviation industry will continue to be intense. The Group will also face increasing competition from alternative means of transport, such as highway and rail, as China's transportation infrastructure improves.

Relative to other Chinese airlines, however, the Group believes that it possesses certain competitive advantages. The Group has the most extensive route network and the largest number of regional route bases among Chinese airlines, which the Group believes places it in a favorable position in the route allocation process. The Group also has the largest aircraft fleet of any Chinese airline, which, together with the Group's planned aircraft acquisitions, will permit the Group to expand its operations and to improve the deployment of the aircraft in its fleet. The Group also believes that its dominant presence in the populous and economically developed southern and central regions of China provides it with a competitive advantage in attracting new customers and that its fully integrated flight training, aircraft maintenance and air catering operations enable it to achieve and maintain high quality service to its customers.

The following table sets forth the Group's market share of passengers carried, cargo and mail carried and total traffic of Chinese airlines for the years indicated.

Year	Passengers Carried		Cargo and Mail Carried (tons)		Total Traffic (ton kilometers)

Domestic Routes

The Group competes against its domestic competitors primarily on the basis of flight schedule, route network, quality of service, safety, type and age of aircraft and, to a lesser extent and until recently, price. The Group competes against nine other Chinese airlines in its various domestic route markets. Of these competitors, the largest are three airlines owned or controlled by the Chinese Government, and the remaining six airlines are operated by or under the control of various Chinese provincial or municipal governments.

The following table sets forth the Group's market share of the passengers carried, cargo and mail carried on departing flights and total departing flights at the ten busiest airports in China, based on passenger volume, in 2002.

Airport	Passengers Carried (% of total)	Cargo and Mail Carried (% of total)	Departing Flights (% of total)
Beijing	12.5	12.6	11.8
Shanghai Hongqiao	15.5	10.6	15.2

Hong Kong Regional Routes

The Group dominates the routes operated by Chinese airlines between Hong Kong and Macau and China. In 2002, the Group operated an average of more than 257 charter and other scheduled flights per week between China and Hong Kong or Macau, accounting for approximately 31.2% of the total number of passengers carried by all Chinese airlines on the Hong Kong regional routes. The Group believes that the routes on which it operates charter flights are among its highest yielding routes, primarily because the Group faces limited competition on such routes and is consequently less subject to downward pricing pressures. Dragon Air, which is a Hong Kong-based airline, competes with the Group on many of the Group's Hong Kong regional routes.

Air Macau Group Ltd. (Air Macau), a Macau-based airline, started to operate routes in 1996 between Macau and China, including destinations such as Beijing, Shanghai, Xiamen and Wuhan. Air Macau also operates routes between Macau and Taiwan, including flights which allow passengers to travel between Taiwan and China through Macau. The air fares on some of Air Macau's routes are significantly less than air fares on comparable routes of the Group. Air Macau's routes provide an alternative to and compete with the Group's Hong Kong regional routes for passengers travelling between Taiwan and China.

International Routes

The Group competes with Air China, China Eastern and many well-established foreign airlines on its international routes. Most of these international competitors have significantly longer operating histories, substantially greater financial and technological resources and greater name recognition than the Group. In addition, the public's perception of the safety and service records of Chinese airlines may adversely affect the Group's ability to compete against its Hong Kong regional and international competitors. Many of the Group's international competitors have larger sales networks and participate in reservation systems that are more comprehensive and convenient than those of the Group, or engage in promotional activities that may enhance their ability to attract international passengers.

Air China has the most extensive international route network among Chinese airlines. Beijing, the hub of Air China's operations, has been the destination for most international flights to China. The Group competes against, among other airlines, Thai Airways International, Singapore Airlines, Malaysian Airlines System, Air China and China Eastern on flights to Southeast Asian destinations. In the case of its European routes, the Group's competitors include KLM-Royal Dutch Airlines. The Group faces competition on its international route from Air China and China Eastern, each of which operates several routes between destinations in China and the United States, as well as international airlines that fly to Los Angeles from Hong Kong. The Group competes in the international market primarily on the basis of safety, price, timeliness and convenience of scheduling.

Airline Subsidiaries

The Airline Subsidiaries are joint ventures established by the Company and local companies in the provinces or special economic zones where the Airline Subsidiaries are based and are engaged in providing airline and related services. The Company owns 60% equity interest in each of the Airline Subsidiaries.

As of December 31, 2002, Xiamen Airlines operated under its own MF code a fleet of 26 aircraft on 79 domestic routes, four international route and five Hong Kong regional routes (exclusive of domestic and Hong Kong regional routes shared with the Company). In 2002, Xiamen Airlines carried a total of about 4.98 million passengers, or approximately 23.2% of the passengers carried by the Group in that year, and had RMB3,162 million in operating revenue.

As of December 31, 2002, Shantou Airlines operated under the Group's CZ code 4 aircraft on 48 domestic routes, one international route and two Hong Kong regional route. In 2002, Shantou Airlines carried a total of about 644,000 passengers, or 3.0% of the passengers carried by the Group in that year. Total operating revenue of Shantou Airlines for the year ended December 31, 2002 was RMB488 million.

Edgar Filing: CHINA SOUTHERN AIRLINES CO LTD - Form 20-F

As of December 31, 2002, Guangxi Airlines operated under the CZ code 4 aircraft on 28 domestic routes (exclusive of domestic routes shared with the Company), two international routes and four Hong Kong regional routes. In 2002, Guangxi Airlines carried a total of about 626,000 passengers, or 2.9% of the total number of passengers carried by the Group in that year. Total operating revenue of Guangxi Airlines for the year ended December 31, 2002 was RMB433 million.

Table of Contents

As of December 31, 2002, Zhuhai Airlines operated under the CZ code 4 aircraft on 21 domestic routes, and one international route. In 2002, Zhuhai Airlines carried a total of about 681,000 passengers, or approximately 3.2% of the total number of passengers carried by the Group in that year. Total operating revenue of Zhuhai Airlines for the year ended December 31, 2002 was RMB414 million.

As of December 31, 2002, Guizhou Airlines operated under the CZ code 4 aircraft on 21 domestic routes, one international route and one Hong Kong regional route. In 2002, Guizhou Airlines carried a total of about 480,000 passengers, or approximately 2.2% of the total number of passengers carried by the Group in 2002. Total operating revenue of Guizhou Airlines was approximately RMB332 million for the year ended December 31, 2002.

Insurance

The CAAC maintains fleet and legal liability insurance on behalf of the Group and all other Chinese airlines with the People's Insurance Company of China (PICC) under the PICC master policy. The Group maintains aviation hull all risks, spares and airline liability insurance, aircraft hull all risks and spare engines deductible insurance, aviation hull war and allied perils policy of the type and in the amount customary in the Chinese aviation industry.

Under Chinese law, civil liability of Chinese airlines for injuries suffered by passengers on domestic flights is limited to RMB 70,000 (approximately US$8,455) per passenger. Under the Convention for the Unification of Certain Rules Relating to International Transportation by Air of 1929 (as amended by the protocol of 1955, the Warsaw Convention), unless a separate agreement has been entered into between China and a specific country, civil liability for injuries suffered by passengers on international flights is limited to US$20,000 per passenger. The Group believes that it maintains adequate insurance coverage for the maximum civil liability that can be imposed in respect of injuries to passengers under Chinese law, the Warsaw Convention or any separate agreement applicable to the Group.

The CAAC allocates insurance premiums payable in respect of the PICC master policy to each participating airline based on the value of the airline's insured aircraft or, in the case of leased aircraft, based on the amount required by the terms of the lease. Insurance claims made by any participating airline may cause the premiums paid by the Group under the PICC master policy to increase. PICC's practice has been to reinsure a substantial portion of its aircraft insurance business through reinsurance brokers on the London reinsurance market.

Intellectual Property

The Group's businesses and operations, other than the businesses and operations of Xiamen Airlines, are conducted under the names China Southern and China Southern Airlines in both English and Chinese. The Group uses as its logo a stylized rendition of a kapok plant. Xiamen Airlines conducts its businesses and operations under the name of Xiamen Airlines in English and Chinese and uses its own logo depicting a stylized rendition of an egret.

The names China Southern and China Southern Airlines contain Chinese words of common usage and are therefore not eligible for registration as tradenames under current Chinese law. The kapok logo is a trademark registered in China and recorded with the International Air Transport Association (IATA), the rights to which are owned by CSAHC. The Company and CSAHC have entered into a trademark license agreement (the Trademark License Agreement), pursuant to which CSAHC has licensed to the Group the right to use the names China Southern and China Southern Airlines in both English and Chinese and granted the Company a 10-year renewable license from 1997 to use the kapok logo on a world-wide basis. CSAHC has retained the right to use the kapok logo in connection with its non-airline related businesses conducted as of the date of the Trademark License Agreement and to permit its affiliates that do not compete, directly or indirectly, with the Group to use the kapok logo. Xiamen Airlines owns all rights to its egret logo, which is a trademark registered in China, and recorded with the IATA.

The Company owns all rights to three trademarks, being SKY PEARL CLUB, the logo relating to Easy Cargo 5000 and SKY PEARL CARD which are registered in China, and recorded with Trademark Office of the State Administration for Industry and Commerce. Zhuhai Airlines Company Limited owns all rights to the airline logo which is registered with the Trademark Office of the State Administration for Industry and Commerce.

Property, Plant and Equipment

For a discussion of the Group's aircraft, see Item 4, Information on the Company - History and development of the Company - Aircraft Fleet.

The Group's headquarters in Guangzhou occupy an area of approximately 149,000 square meters of land and a total gross floor area of approximately 149,000 square meters. The Group leases from CSAHC the land in Guangzhou on which the Group's headquarters and other facilities are located. The Group also leases from CSAHC certain buildings at the Wuhan, Haikou and Zhengzhou airports.

The Company's principal properties are located at its headquarters site and at its route bases. The following table sets forth certain information with respect to the Company's properties at its headquarters in Guangzhou and certain route bases as of the date hereof.

As systems for registration and transfer of land use rights and related real property interests in China have been implemented relatively recently, such systems do not yet comprehensively account for all land and related property interests. The land in Guangzhou on which the Group's headquarters and other facilities are located and the buildings that the Group uses at its route base in Wuhan, Haikou and Zhengzhou are leased by the Company from CSAHC. However, CSAHC lacks adequate documentation evidencing CSAHC's rights to such land and buildings, and, as a consequence, the lease agreements between CSAHC and the Company for such land may not be registered with the relevant authorities. Lack of registration may affect the validity of such lease agreements. There are certain other parcels of land and buildings owned or used by the Group that lack adequate documentation. Lack of adequate documentation for land use rights and ownership of buildings may impair the ability of the Group to dispose of or mortgage such land use rights and buildings.

The Group has been occupying all of the land and buildings described above without challenge. CSAHC has received written assurance from the CAAC to the effect that CSAHC is entitled to continued use and occupancy of the land in Guangzhou. The Group understands that the CAAC is basing its conclusion on an agreement among certain governmental authorities relating to such land. CSAHC has agreed to indemnify the Group against any loss or damage caused by any challenge of, or interference with, the use by the Group of any of their respective land and buildings.

ITEM 5. OPERATING AND FINANCIAL REVIEW AND PROSPECTS.

The following discussion and analysis should be read in conjunction with the Financial Statements of the Group contained elsewhere in this Annual Report. The Group maintains its books and accounts in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the PRC (PRC GAAP) and prepares its financial statements in accordance with both PRC GAAP and IFRS. The Financial Statements contained elsewhere in this Annual Report have been prepared in accordance with IFRS. IFRS differs in certain material respects from U.S. GAAP. For a discussion of the material differences between IFRS and U.S. GAAP relating to the Group, see U.S. GAAP Reconciliation and Note 31 to the Financial Statements.

Critical Accounting Policies

The discussion and analysis of the Group's financial condition and results of operations are based upon the consolidated financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with IFRS. The preparation of such consolidated financial statements requires the Group to make estimates and judgments that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities, revenues and expenses, and related disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of our financial statements. Actual results may differ from these estimates under different assumptions or conditions.

Critical accounting policies are defined as those that are reflective of significant judgments and uncertainties, and potentially result in materially different results under different assumptions and conditions. The Group believes that its critical accounting policies are limited to those described below. For a detailed discussion on the application of these and other accounting policies, see Note 2 to the Financial Statements.

Revenue Recognition

The Group records sales of passenger, cargo and mail tickets as a current liability on the consolidated balance sheet. Passenger, cargo and mail revenues are recognized and the related current liability is reduced when the transportation is provided. The Group makes estimates about a current liability for tickets sold but not yet reported to the Group, the timing and amount of tickets uplifted by other airlines and the amount of tickets sold that will not be used. The Group periodically evaluates the liability and record any resulting adjustments, which may be significant, in the consolidated statement of operations in the period in which the evaluations are completed.

Fixed Assets

The Group depreciates its fixed assets on a straight-line basis to their estimated residual values over their respective estimated useful life. In addition, the Group evaluates fixed assets used in operations for impairment. If circumstances indicate that the net book value of an asset or investment may not be recoverable, this asset may be considered impaired, and an impairment loss may be recognized in accordance with IAS 36 Impairment of Assets. The amount of impairment loss is the difference between the carrying amount of the asset and its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the greater of the net selling price and the value in use. In determining the value in use, the Group utilizes certain assumptions, including, but not limited to: (i) estimated fair market value of the assets, and (ii) estimated future cash flows expected to be generated by these assets, which are based on additional assumptions such as asset utilization, length of service the asset will be used in the Group's operations and estimated residual values. The Group will use all readily available information in determining an amount that is a reasonable approximation of recoverable amounts, including estimates based on industry trends and reference to market rates and transactions. Changes to the above estimates may have a material effect on the Group's Financial Statements.

Overview

During the year, the economic conditions in the PRC and other Asian regions continued to show steady improvement, leading to an increase in demand for aviation services. To increase the efficiency and global competitiveness of PRC domestic airlines, the PRC Government implemented various measures to maintain the momentum of economic growth and to streamline the airline industry through mergers and restructuring.

The Group conducts a portion of its airline operations through the Airline Subsidiaries. Operating results for the Airline Subsidiaries are included in each of the years presented in the Financial Statements. The Airline Subsidiaries, which derive substantially all of their operating revenue from passenger traffic, accounted for 29.7%, 29.7% and 26.8% of the Group's total operating revenue, and 35.0%, 34.2% and 33.5% of the Group's total passengers carried, in 2000, 2001 and 2002, respectively. Xiamen Airlines is the largest member of the Airline Subsidiaries, with operating revenue of RMB2,737 million, RMB3,185 million and Rmb3,162 million in 2000, 2001 and 2002, respectively, or 18.0%, 18.9% and 17.5% of the Group's total operating revenue in such years.

The Group's operating revenue is substantially dependent on overall passenger and cargo traffic volume, which is subject to seasonal and other changes in traffic patterns, the availability of appropriate time slots for the Group's flights and alternative routes, the degree of competition from other airlines and alternate means of transportation, as well as other factors that may influence passenger travel demand and cargo and mail volume. In particular, the Group's airline revenue is generally higher in the second and third quarters than in the first and fourth quarters.

Like most airlines, the Group is subject to a high degree of financial and operating leverage. A significant percentage of the Group's operating expenses is fixed costs that do not vary proportionally based on the Group's load factors or the number of passengers carried. These fixed costs include depreciation expense, jet fuel costs, landing and navigation fees, financing costs, operating lease payments, aircraft maintenance costs and labor for flight crew, cabin crew and ground personnel. Thus, a minor change in the Group's yields or load factors would have a material effect on the Group's results of operations. In addition, certain of these expenses, primarily financing costs, operating lease payments, labor costs and depreciation and amortization of aircraft and flight equipment, do not vary based on the number of flights flown. Thus, the Group's operating results can also be substantially affected by minor changes in aircraft utilization rates. The Group is and will continue to be highly leveraged with substantial obligations denominated in foreign currencies and, accordingly, the results of its operations are significantly affected by fluctuations in foreign exchange rates, particularly for the U.S. dollar and the Japanese yen. The Group recorded a net exchange gain (loss) of RMB319 million, RMB297 million and RMB(175) million in 2000, 2001 and 2002, respectively. These amounts represented mainly unrealized exchange differences resulting from the retranslation of the foreign currency borrowings as of year end 2000, 2001 and 2002.

A number of other external variables, including political and economic conditions in China, tend to have a major impact on the Group's performance. The Group's financial performance is also significantly affected by factors arising from operating in a regulated industry. As substantially all aspects of the Group's airline operations are regulated by the CAAC, the Group's operating revenues and expenses are directly affected by the CAAC's policies with respect to domestic airfares, jet fuel prices and landing and navigation charges, among others. The nature and extent of airline competition and the ability of Chinese airlines to expand are also affected by CAAC's control over route allocations. Any changes in the CAAC's regulatory policies, or any implementation of such policies may have a significant impact on the Group's future operations and its ability to implement its operating strategy.

Operating Results

The historical results of operations discussed below may not be indicative of the Group's future operating performance. In addition to the factors discussed under Overview above, the Group's future operations will be affected by, among other things, changes in the aviation market, the cost of jet fuel, aircraft acquisition and leasing costs, aircraft maintenance expenses, take-off and landing charges, wages, salaries and benefits and other operating expenses, foreign exchange rates and the rates of income taxes paid. The Group expects depreciation expenses to increase in future as the Group continues to expand its fleet.

2002 Compared with 2001

The Group recorded a net income of RMB576 million for 2002, as compared to a net income of RMB340 million for 2001. The Group's operating revenue increased by RMB1,139 million or 6.7% from RMB16,880 million in 2001 to RMB18,019 million in 2002. Passenger load factor increased by 2.9 percentage points from 62.5% in 2001 to 65.4% in 2002. Passenger yield (in passenger revenue per RPK) decreased by 10.0% from RMB0.60 in 2001 to RMB0.54 in 2002. Average yield (in traffic revenue per RTK) decreased by 10.9% from RMB5.43 in 2001 to RMB4.84 in 2002. Operating expenses increased by RMB514 million or 3.3% from RMB15,479 million in 2001 to RMB15,993 million in 2002. As operating revenue increased more than operating expenses, operating profit increased by 44.7% from RMB1,401 million in 2001 to RMB2,026 million in 2002. The Group's net non-operating expenses increased by 46.5%, from RMB605 million in 2001 to RMB887 million in 2002, mainly due to an unfavorable movement in exchange differences of RMB472 million, partly offset by a gain on disposal of four Boeing 757-200 aircraft of RMB199 million. Overall, the Group's net income increased by 69.2%, from RMB340 million in 2001 to RMB576 million in 2002.

Operating Revenue

Substantially all of the Group's operating revenue is attributable to its airline operations. Traffic revenue in 2002 and 2001 accounted for 97.0% and 97.5% respectively of total operating revenue. Passenger revenue and, cargo and mail revenue accounted for 89.8% and 10.2% respectively of total traffic revenue in 2002. The balance of the Group's operating revenue is derived from commission income, income from general aviation operations, fees charged for ground services rendered to other Chinese airlines that operate flights in and out of airports in Southern China (including the airports in Guangzhou, Shenzhen, Xiamen and Wuhan), air catering services and aircraft lease income.

Operating revenue increased by 6.7% from RMB16,880 million in 2001 to RMB18,019 million in 2002. This increase was primarily due to a 4.3% rise in passenger revenue from RMB15,055 million in 2001 to RMB15,696 million in 2002 due to higher traffic volume. The total number of passengers carried increased by 12.4% to 21.49 million passengers in 2002. RPKs increased by 15.5% from 25,057 million in 2001 to 28,940 million in 2002, primarily as a result of an increase in passengers carried. However, passenger yield decreased by 10.0% from RMB0.60 in 2001 to RMB0.54 in 2002, mainly as a result of a fall in the average fares resulting from increased competition.

Domestic passenger revenue, which accounted for 78.0% of total passenger revenue in 2002, increased by 1.4% from RMB12,068 million in 2001 to RMB12,234 million in 2002. For the Group's domestic routes, passenger traffic in RPKs increased by 13.6%, while passenger capacity in ASKs increased by 7.5%, resulting in 3.6 percentage points increase in passenger load factor, or an increase of 5.8% from 2001. Passenger yield, however, decreased from RMB0.62 in 2001 to RMB0.55 in 2002 mainly as a result of increased competition among the PRC airlines.

Hong Kong passenger revenue, which accounted for 6.7% of total passenger revenue, decreased by 6.5% from RMB1,128 million in 2001 to RMB1,055 million in 2002. For Hong Kong flights, passenger traffic in RPKs increased by 2.0%, while passenger capacity in ASKs increased by 3.3%, resulting in 0.8 percentage point decrease in passenger load factor, or a decrease of 1.3% from 2001. Passenger yield decreased from

RMB1.06 in 2001 to RMB0.98 in 2002 mainly due to slack in traffic volume.

Table of Contents

International passenger revenue, which accounted for 15.3% of total passenger revenue, increased by 29.4% from RMB1,860 million in 2001 to RMB2,407 million in 2002. For international flights, passenger traffic in RPKs increased by 26.7%, while passenger capacity in ASKs increased by 25.3%, resulting in a 0.7 percentage point gain in passenger load factor, or an increase of 1.1% from 2001. Passenger yield increased slightly by 2.4% from RMB0.41 in 2001 to RMB0.42 in 2002.

Cargo and mail revenue, which accounted for 10.2% of the Group's total traffic revenue and 9.9% of total operating revenue, increased by 27.0% from RMB1,406 million in 2001 to RMB1,786 million in 2002. The increase was primarily due to the opening of two international cargo routes in 2002.

Other operating revenue increased by 28.4% from RMB418 million in 2001 to RMB537 million in 2002. The increase was primarily due to increase in fees charged for ground services rendered to other Chinese airlines as the traffic volume increased as well as an income from a lease arrangement effected during the year.

Operating Expenses

Substantially all of the Group's operating expenses result from its airline operations. The vast majority of such expenses relate directly to flight operations, aircraft and traffic servicing, aircraft repairs and maintenance and to depreciation and amortization in respect of aircraft and flight equipment. Expenses associated directly with the Group's flight operations (collectively, flight operations expenses) include fuel costs, operating lease payments, catering expenses, aircraft insurance, flight personnel payroll and welfare and training expenses. Expenses associated directly with repairs and maintenance in respect of the Group's aircraft (collectively, maintenance expenses) include repairs and maintenance and overhaul charges, the costs of consumables and other maintenance materials and labor costs for maintenance personnel. Expenses associated directly with the Group's aircraft and traffic servicing operations (collectively aircraft and traffic servicing expenses) include landing and navigation fees, rental payments and charges in respect of terminal and other ground facilities and labor costs for ground personnel. The balance of the Group's operating expenses result from promotional and marketing activities (collectively, promotion and sales expenses) such as sales commissions, fees for use of the CAAC's reservation system, ticket-printing and sales office expenses, advertising and promotional expenses, and from general and administrative expenses, such as administrative salaries and welfare and other personnel benefits and office expenses.

Total operating expenses in 2002 amounted to RMB15,993 million, representing an increase of 3.3% or RMB514 million over 2001, primarily due to the combined effect of the growth in operations and increase in maintenance expenses. Total operating expenses as a percentage of total operating revenue decreased from 91.7% in 2001 to 88.76% in 2002 as the increase in operating revenue exceeded the increase in operating expenses.

Flight operation expenses, which accounted for 42.1% of total operating expenses, decreased by 2.5% from RMB6,906 million in 2001 to RMB6,733 million in 2002, mainly due to a decrease in operating lease rentals. Fuel costs, which accounted for 52.3% of flight operations expenses decreased by 0.8% from RMB3,549 million in 2001 to RMB3,519 million in 2002 mainly resulting from decreased fuel prices. Operating lease rentals decreased by 25.9% from RMB1,913 million in 2001 to RMB1,417 million in 2002, primarily due to the termination of wet leases of five Boeing 737-300/37K aircraft from Zhongyuan Airlines in January 2002. Catering expenses increased by 12.8% from RMB554 million in 2001 to RMB625 million in 2002, reflecting primarily an increase in number of passengers carried. Aircraft insurance costs increased by 108.1% from RMB123 million in 2001 in the rates of aircraft insurance premiums subsequent to the 911 incident of the United States. Labor costs for flight personnel increased by 18.9% from RMB657 million in 2001 to RMB781 million in 2002, largely due to an increase in flight hours as well as an increase in bonuses for flight personnel.

Maintenance expenses which accounted for 14.6% of total operating expenses, increased by 15.8% from RMB2,015 million in 2001 to RMB2,333 million in 2002. The increase was primarily attributable to a 15.7% increase in aircraft maintenance and repair charges from RMB1,845 million in 2001 to RMB2,135 million in 2002, mainly as a result of the effect of fleet expansion in recent years and the growth in operations.

Aircraft and traffic servicing expenses, which accounted for 15.7% of total operating expenses, increased by 9.3% from RMB2,298 million in 2001 to RMB2,511 million in 2002. The increase primarily resulted from 9.1% rise in landing and navigation fees from RMB2,157 million in 2001 to RMB2,353 million in 2002, as the number of flights increased.

Promotional and sales expenses, which accounted for 9.4% of total operating expenses, decreased by 2.7% from RMB1,541 million in 2001 to RMB1,500 million in 2002. The decrease was due to 15.9% decrease in sale commissions and bonuses paid to sales agents because of tighter cost controls exercised by the Group.

Table of Contents

General and administrative expenses, which accounted for 6.6% of total operating expenses, increased by 18.8% from RMB892 million in 2001 to RMB1,060 million in 2002. This was mainly due to an increase in staff salaries and welfare benefits of 27.8% from RMB439 million in 2001 to RMB561 million in 2002 and increased scale of operations.

Depreciation and amortization, which accounted for 11.5% of total operating expenses, increased by 1.4% from RMB1,815 million in 2001 to RMB1,840 million in 2002. This was primarily as a result of the additions of aircraft during 2002.

Operating Profit

Operating profit increased by 44.7% from RMB1,401 million in 2001 to RMB2,026 million in 2002, as operating revenue increased by RMB1,139 million or 6.7% from 2001, while operating expenses increased by RMB514 million or 3.3% over the same period.

Non-operating Income/(Expenses)

Interest expense increased by 2.7% from RMB934 million in 2001 to RMB959 million in 2002, mainly reflecting the additional bank loans borrowed to finance the acquisitions of aircraft, partly offset by scheduled debt repayments during the year.

Interest income increased by 5.5% from RMB50 million in 2001 to RMB53 million in 2002. This was mainly due to an increase in cash balances.

The Group recognized a net gain on sale of fixed assets of RMB171 million in 2002, mainly resulting from disposal of four Boeing 757-200 aircraft.

During 2002, the Group recorded a net exchange loss of RMB175 million predominantly due to its Japanese yen denominated borrowings as a result of the Japanese yen appreciation. Such amount comprised mostly unrealized translation loss.

Taxation

The Group is subject to PRC income tax at a rate of 33%.

Taxation expense increased by 24.2% from RMB321 million in 2001 to RMB398 million in 2002, reflecting primarily an increase in profit before taxation. A deferred tax asset of RMB149 million was recognized at December 31, 2002 in respect of the unrelieved PRC tax losses brought forward from prior years. Such tax losses are available for carry-forward to offset against future PRC taxable profits for a maximum period of 5 years.

Minority Interests

Minority interests increased by 22.7% from RMB135 million in 2001 to RMB165 million in 2002, primarily as a result of an increase in net profits of the Group's Airline Subsidiaries.

2001 Compared With 2000

The Group recorded net income of RMB340 million for 2001, a decrease of 32.2% from RMB502 million for 2000. The Group's operating revenue increased by RMB1,702 million or 11.2% from RMB15,178 million in 2000 to RMB16,880 million in 2001. Passenger load factor increased by 2.1 percentage point from 60.4% in 2000 to 62.5% in 2001. Passenger yield (in passenger revenue per RPK) decreased by 1.6% from RMB 0.61 in 2000 to RMB0.60 in 2001. Average yield (in traffic revenue per RTK) decreased by 3.6% from RMB5.63 in 2000 to RMB5.43 in 2001. Operating expenses increased by RMB1,483 million or 10.6% from RMB13,996 million in 2000 to RMB15,479 million in 2001. Of the increase in operating expenses, an approximate amount of RMB243 million was attributable to the increase in aircraft repair and maintenance expense and the remaining amount of approximately RMB1,240 million was primarily due to operational growth. As operating revenue increased more than operating expenses, operating income increased by 18.5% from RMB1,182 million in 2000 to RMB1,401 million in 2001. The Group's net non-operating expenses increased by 141.3%, from RMB251 million in 2000 to RMB605 million in 2001, mainly reflecting a drop in sale of aircraft under sale and leaseback transactions of RMB318 million and a loss on sale of staff quarters of RMB111 million.

Operating Revenue

Edgar Filing: CHINA SOUTHERN AIRLINES CO LTD - Form 20-F

Substantially all of the Group's operating revenue is attributable to airline operations. Traffic revenue in 2000 and 2001 accounted for 96.9% and 97.5% of total operating revenue, respectively. Passenger traffic and cargo and mail traffic accounted for 91.5% and 8.5% of total traffic revenue in 2001, respectively. The balance of the Group's operating revenue is derived from commission income, income from general aviation operations, fees charged for ground services rendered to other Chinese airlines, which operate flights in and out of airports in Southern China, including the airports in Guangzhou, Shenzhen, Xiamen and Wuhan, air catering services and aircraft lease income.

Operating revenue increased by 11.2% from RMB15,178 million in 2000 to RMB16,880 million in 2001. This increase was primarily due to a 13.6% rise in passenger revenue from RMB13,255 million in 2000 to RMB15,056 million in 2001, primarily as a result of higher traffic volume. The total number of passengers carried increased by 13.5% to 19.12 million passengers in 2001. RPKs increased by 15.7% from 21,653 million in 2000 to 25,057 million in 2001, primarily as a result of an increase in passengers carried. However, passenger yield decreased by 1.6% from RMB0.61 in 2000 to RMB0.60 in 2001, primarily as a result of a fall in the average fares of international passenger traffic.

Domestic passenger revenue, which accounted for 80.1% of total passenger revenue in 2001, increased by 14.2% from RMB10,564 million in 2000 to RMB12,068 million in 2001. For the Group's domestic routes, passenger traffic in RPKs increased by 14.6%, while passenger capacity increased by 10.8%, resulting in a 2.0 percentage point increase in passenger load factor, or an increase of 3.3% from 2000. Passenger yield remained unchanged at RMB0.62.

Hong Kong passenger revenue, which accounted for 7.5% of total passenger revenue, decreased by 1.3% from RMB1,143 million in 2000 to RMB1,128 million in 2001. For Hong Kong flights, passenger traffic in RPKs decreased by 1.3%, while passenger capacity in ASKs, decreased 3.1%, resulting in a 1.1 percentage point increase in passenger load factor, or an increase of 1.8% from 2000. Passenger yield remained unchanged at RMB1.06.

International passenger revenue, which accounted for 12.4% of total passenger revenue, increased by 20.2% from RMB1,548 million in 2000 to RMB1,860 million in 2001. For international flights, passenger traffic in RPKs increased by 26.2%, while passenger capacity in ASKs increased by 21.6%, resulting in a 2.4 percentage point increase in passenger load factor, or an increase of 3.8% from 2000. Passenger yield decreased by 4.7% from RMB0.43 in 2000 to RMB0.41 in 2001, principally as a result of larger fare discounts being offered on the long-haul flights, especially on the two new routes to Australia, with a view to establishing the market share.

Cargo and mail revenue, which accounted for 8.5% of the Group's total traffic revenue and 8.3% of total operating revenue, decreased by 3.1% from RMB1,451 million in 2000 to RMB1,406 million in 2001. This decrease was primarily due to increased competition in domestic and international markets. In order to maintain its market share, larger discounts were given by the Group, resulting in a drop of yield per RTK of 17.4%.

Other operating revenue decreased by 11.4% from RMB472 million in 2000 to RMB418 million in 2001. This decrease was primarily due to a drop in aircraft lease income of RMB45 million.

Operating Expenses

Substantially all of the Group's operating expenses result from its airline operations. The vast majority of such expenses relate directly to flight operations, aircraft and traffic servicing, aircraft repairs and maintenance and to depreciation and amortization in respect of aircraft and flight equipment. Expenses associated directly with the Group's flight operations (collectively, flight operations expenses) include fuel costs, operating lease rentals, catering expenses, aircraft insurance, flight personnel payroll and welfare and training expenses. Expenses associated directly with repairs and maintenance in respect of the Group's aircraft (collectively, maintenance expenses) include repairs and maintenance and overhaul charges, the costs of consumables and other maintenance materials and labor costs for maintenance personnel. Expenses associated directly with the Group's aircraft and traffic servicing operations (collectively, aircraft and traffic servicing expenses) include landing and navigation fees, rental payments and charges in respect of terminal and other ground facilities and labor costs for ground personnel. The balance of the Group's operating expenses result from promotional and marketing activities (collectively, promotional and marketing expenses) such as sales commission, fees for use of the CAAC's reservation system, ticket-printing and sales office expenses, advertising and promotional expenses, from general and administrative expenses, such as administrative salaries and welfare and other personnel benefits and office expenses, and from depreciation and amortization expenses.

Total operating expenses in 2001 amounted to RMB15,479 million, representing an increase of 10.6% or RMB1,483 million over 2000, primarily due to the combined effect of the growth in operations and increases in operating lease rentals and repair and maintenance expenses. Total operating expenses as a percentage of total operating revenue decreased from 92.2% in 2000 to 91.7% in 2001 as the increase in operating revenue exceeded the increase in operating expenses.

Flight operation expenses, which accounted for 44.6% of total operating expenses, increased by 13.0% from RMB6,109 million in 2000 to RMB6,906 million in 2001, primarily as a result of an increase in fuel costs, operating lease rentals, catering expenses, aircraft insurance costs and labor costs for flight personnel. Fuel costs, which accounted for 51.4% of flight operations expenses, increased by 9.5% from RMB3,240 million in 2000 to RMB3,549 million in 2001 as a result of the traffic capacity growth. Operating lease rentals increased by 18.4% from RMB1,616 million in 2000 to RMB1,913 million in 2001, due primarily to the full year effect of five Boeing 737-300/37K aircraft wet leased from Zhongyuan Airlines commencing in 2000. Catering expenses increased by 14.5% from RMB483 million in 2000 to RMB554 million in 2001, reflecting primarily an increase in number of passengers carried. Aircraft insurance costs increased by 44.7% from RMB85 million in 2000 to RMB123 million in 2001, due largely to a rise in aircraft insurance premiums levied on PRC airlines by the People's Insurance (Property) Company of China as a result of the September 11 attacks in the United States of America. Labor costs for flight personnel increased by 14.1% from RMB576 million in 2000 to RMB657 million in 2001, due largely to an increase in flight hours as well as an increase in bonuses for flight personnel.

Maintenance expenses which accounted for 13.0% of total operating expenses, increased by 14.6% from RMB1,759 million in 2000 to RMB2,015 million in 2001. The increase was primarily attributable to a 15.2% increase in aircraft maintenance and repair charges from RMB1,602 million in 2000 to RMB1,845 million in 2001, mainly as a result of the effect of fleet expansion in recent years.

Aircraft and traffic servicing expenses, which accounted for 14.8% of total operating expenses, increased by 11.0% from RMB2,069 million in 2000 to RMB2,298 million in 2001. The increase resulted from a 10.3% rise in landing and navigation fees from RMB1,955 million in 2000 to RMB2,157 million in 2001, as the number of flights increased.

Promotional and marketing expenses, which accounted for 10.0% of total operating expenses, increased by 11.8% from RMB1,378 million in 2000 to RMB1,541 million in 2001. The increase was due to a 11.2% increase in commission and bonuses paid to sales agents, which resulted from a rise in traffic revenue and increased competition.

General and administrative expenses, which accounted for 5.9% of total operating expenses, increased by 10.3% from RMB809 million in 2000 to RMB892 million in 2001. This was mainly due to an increase in staff salaries and welfare benefits of 6.1% from RMB294 million in 2000 to RMB312 million in 2001 and increased scale of operations.

Depreciation and amortization, which accounted for 11.7% of total operating expenses, decreased by 2.6% from RMB1,864 million in 2000 to RMB1,815 million in 2001. This was primarily as a result of the disposal of four Boeing 757-200 aircraft and two Airbus 320-200 aircraft under sale and leaseback transactions in 2000 and 2001 respectively and full depreciation of certain old flight equipment during 2001.

Operating Income

Operating income increased by 18.5% from RMB1,182 million in 2000 to RMB1,401 million in 2001, as operating revenue increased by RMB1,702 million or 11.2% as compared to 2000, while operating expenses increased by RMB1,483 million or 10.6% over the same period.

Non-operating Income/(Expenses)

Interest expense decreased by 13.1% from RMB1,074 million in 2000 to RMB934 million in 2001, mainly reflecting the scheduled debt repayments during the year.

Interest income decreased by 44.8% from RMB90 million in 2000 to RMB50 million in 2001. This was mainly attributable to a decrease in domestic deposit rates as well as a fall in the cash balances.

The Group recognized a net loss on sale of fixed assets of RMB56 million in 2001, mainly resulting from the net effect of a loss of RMB111 million on disposal of staff quarters and a gain of RMB60 million on disposal of two Airbus 320-200 aircraft under sale and leaseback arrangements.

During 2001, the Group recorded a net exchange gain of RMB297 million predominantly due to its Japanese yen denominated borrowings as a result of the Japanese yen depreciation. Such amount comprised mostly unrealized translation gains.

Taxation

The Group is subject to PRC income tax at a rate of 33%. Taxation expense decreased by 5.4% from RMB339 million in 2000 to RMB321 million in 2001, reflecting primarily the decrease in income before taxation. A deferred tax asset of RMB176 million was recognized at December 31, 2001 in respect of the unrelieved PRC tax losses brought forward from prior years. Such tax losses are available for carry-forward to offset against future PRC taxable profits for a maximum period of five years.

Table of Contents*Minority Interests*

Minority interests increased by 48.5% from RMB91 million in 2000 to RMB135 million in 2001, primarily as a result of an increase in net income of the Group's Airline Subsidiaries.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Prior to the initial public offering of the Company, the Group met its working capital and capital expenditure requirements through cash from its operations, the proceeds of certain long-term and short-term bank loans, capital lease financing and rebates available under certain of the Group's aircraft leases. In July 1997, the Company received net proceeds of RMB5,459 million from its initial public offering. A majority part of these net proceeds were utilized to finance the Group's working capital and capital expenditure requirements. As of December 31, 2002, the Group had loan facilities from several PRC commercial banks for providing long term loan finance up to an approximate amount of RMB12,360 million to the Group. As of December 31, 2002, an approximate amount of RMB7,258 million was utilized. As of December 31, 2001 and 2002, the Group's cash and cash equivalents totaled RMB2,818 million and RMB3,771 million, respectively.

Net cash inflows from operating activities in 2000, 2001 and 2002 were RMB2,355 million, RMB2,224 million and RMB3,698 million respectively.

Net cash used in investing activities in 2000, 2001 and 2002 was RMB256 million, RMB3,036 million and RMB5,895 million respectively. Cash capital expenditures in 2000, 2001 and 2002 were RMB1,381 million, RMB1,492 million and RMB6,351 million, respectively, reflecting predominantly additional investments in aircraft and flight equipment under the Group's fleet expansion plans and Guangzhou new airport, and, to a small extent, additional investments in pilot training facilities and other facilities and buildings for operations.

Financing activities resulted in net cash (outflows)/inflow of RMB(2,490) million, RMB(568) million and RMB3,150 million in 2000, 2001 and 2002, respectively. The net cash outflows of 2000 and 2001 were primarily as a result of making scheduled repayments of bank borrowings and capital lease obligations in excess of proceeds from new bank borrowings.

As of December 31, 2002, the Group's aggregate long-term debt and obligations under capital leases totaled RMB14,851 million. Based on such amount, in 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006, 2007 and thereafter, amounts payable under such debt and obligations will be RMB2,384 million, RMB2,115 million, RMB2,111 million, RMB5,125 million and RMB3,116 million respectively. Such borrowings were denominated, to a larger extent, in United States dollars and, to a smaller extent, in Japanese yen, with almost all being fixed interest rate borrowings. In the normal course of business, the Group is exposed to fluctuations in foreign currencies. The Group's exposure to foreign currencies was primarily as a result of its foreign currency debts. Depreciation or appreciation of the Renminbi against foreign currencies affects the Group's results significantly because the Group's foreign currency payments generally exceed its foreign currency receipts. The Group is not able to hedge its foreign currency exposure effectively other than by retaining its foreign currency denominated earnings and receipts to the extent permitted by the State Administration of Foreign Exchange, or subject to certain restrictive conditions, entering into forward foreign exchange contracts with authorized PRC banks.

As of December 31, 2002, the Group's short term bank debt was RMB4,423 million with interest rates ranging from 1.9% to 5.3%. The Group's weighted average interest rate on short-term bank notes payable was 3.11% as of December 31, 2002. The primary use of the proceeds of the Group's short-term debt is to finance working capital needs. The Group has generally been able to arrange short-term bank loans with domestic banks in China as necessary and believes it can continue to obtain them based on its well-established relationships with various lenders.

As of December 31, 2002, the Group had obligations under operating leases totalling RMB8,537 million, predominately for aircraft. Of such amount, RMB1,280 million, RMB1,328 million, RMB1,245 million, RMB1,002 million and RMB3,682 million respectively was due in 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006, 2007 and thereafter.

As of December 31, 2002, the Group had a working capital deficit of RMB7,016 million, as compared to a working capital deficit of RMB3,696 million as of December 31, 2001. Historically, the Group operated in a negative working capital position, relying on cash inflow from operating activities and short-term bank debt refinancings to meet its short-term liquidity and working capital needs. The increase in the Group's working capital deficit from 2001 to 2002 was mainly because the Group sought increased short term bank loans to finance its aircraft acquisitions. Upon deliveries of the aircraft, the Group continued to seek renewal of its short-term loans instead of replacing such loans with long term loans, as the interest rate for short-term loans is lower. The liquidity of the Group in the future will primarily be dependent on its ability to maintain adequate cash inflow from operations to meet its debt obligations as they become due and, on its ability to obtain adequate external financing to meet its committed future capital expenditures. With regard to the future capital commitments, the Group has obtained firm commitments from several PRC banks to provide loans up to approximately RMB5,102 million and sought letters of intent from several PRC banks to provide additional loans up to approximately RMB5,876 million. With regard to the Group's long-term debt and lease obligations due in 2003 of RMB3,664 million, the Group intends to meet such payment using its operating cashflows. As the Group is subject to a high degree of operating leverage, a minor decrease in the Group's yield and/or load factor could result in a significant decrease in its operating revenue and hence its operating cashflows. This could arise in such circumstances as where competition between Chinese airlines increases or where PRC aviation demand decreases. Similarly, a minor increase in the jet fuel prices, particularly those in domestic market, could result in a significant increase in the Group's operating expenses and hence a significant decrease in its operating cashflows. This could be caused by fluctuations in supply and demand in international oil market. Currently, the Group's existing debt and capital lease facilities do not contain any financial covenants. Nevertheless, as the Group is subject to a high degree of financial leverage, an adverse change in the Group's operating cashflows could adversely affect its financial health and hence weaken its ability to obtain additional debt and lease facilities and to renew its short-term debt facilities as they fall due.

The Group acquired certain of its aircraft pursuant to capital or operating leases that obligate the Group to indemnify the lessors against any withholding or similar taxes that may be imposed on the lessors by taxing authorities in China with regard to payments made pursuant to such leases. In accordance with relevant PRC tax regulations, a PRC lessee is liable to pay PRC withholding tax in respect of any lease payments regularly made to an overseas lessor. Depending on the circumstances, this tax is generally imposed at a fixed rate ranging from 10% to 20% of the lease payments, or in certain cases, the interest components of such payments. Pursuant to an approval document from the State Taxation Bureau, lease arrangements executed prior to September 1, 1999 are exempt from PRC withholding tax. The PRC withholding tax payable in respect of the operating leases executed after September 1, 1999 of RMB5 million, RMB12 million and RMB14 million during 2000, 2001 and 2002 respectively, have been included as part of the operating lease charges.

As of December 31, 2002, the Group had capital commitments in 2003, 2004 and 2005 of approximately RMB6,204 million, RMB2,612 million and RMB731 million, respectively. Of such amounts, RMB2,801 million in 2003, RMB2,344 million in 2004 and RMB731 million in 2005 are related to the acquisition of aircraft and related flight equipment, and RMB2,890 million in 2003 and RMB237 million in 2004 are related to the Group's facilities and equipment to be constructed and installed at the Guangzhou new airport. This new airport is expected to commence operations in late 2003 to replace the Baiyun International Airport as the Group's main route base. The remaining amounts of RMB513 million in 2003 and RMB31 million in 2004 are related to the Group's other airport and office facilities and equipment, overhaul and maintenance bases and training facilities. The Group's capital expenditures are generally subject to receipt of various approvals of the Chinese Government and may be subject to change depending on the timing of such approvals, prevailing market condition, the availability of financing and other relevant factors.

As of December 31, 2002, the Group undertook to make a capital contribution of approximately RMB60 million and RMB201 million to jointly controlled entity and affiliated company, respectively.

As of December 31, 2002, cash and cash equivalents of the Group totaled RMB3,771 million. Of such balance, 23.7% was denominated in foreign currencies (mainly in United States dollars).

A final dividend of RMB0.02 (before tax) per share totaling RMB67.5 million (before tax) in respect of financial year 2001 was paid to shareholders during the year. No interim dividend was paid during the year ended December 31, 2002.

The Group expects that the Group's cash from operations and short-term and long-term bank borrowings will be sufficient to meet its cash requirements in the foreseeable future.

Board Practices

Directors' service contracts with the Company or any of its subsidiaries provide prorated monthly salary upon termination of employment in accordance with his contract. The Director is entitled to paid leave in accordance with his contract.

Audit Committee

Table of Contents

The audit committee is appointed by the Board and consists of three independent non-executive Directors. The current members of the audit committee are Mr. Simon To, Mr. Peter Lok and Mr. Wei Ming Hai. At least once a year, the committee is required to meet with the external auditors without any executive members of the Board in attendance. The quorum necessary for the transaction of any business is two committee members. The committee will normally meet four times a year. The external auditors or the Chief Financial Officer of the Company may request a meeting of the audit committee.

The audit committee selects and engages, on behalf of the Company, external auditors to audit the Company's annual financial statements and considers questions regarding the audit fees and the resignation or dismissal of the external auditors. The audit committee also reviews and approves the planned scope of the Company's annual audit. In addition, the audit committee reviews the annual and interim financial statements, the preliminary announcement of results and any other announcement regarding the Company's results or other financial information to be made public, before submission to the Board. Moreover, the committee discusses problems arising from the audit and reviews the external auditors management letter and management's response. Furthermore, the audit committee reviews the effectiveness of the system of internal financial controls from information provided by the Executive Directorate and management of the Company and by the independent auditors and ensures adherence to the Company's control policies so that the Company's assets are safeguarded and that the financial records are complete and accurate. The audit committee meets regularly with the Company's senior financial, internal audit and the independent auditors to consider the Company's financial reporting, the nature and scope of audit review and the effectiveness of the systems of internal control. The audit committee also reviews any significant transactions that are not in the ordinary course of business.

The Company has an internal audit department which reviews procedures in all major financial and operational activities. This department is led by the head of internal audit who is directly responsible to the Chairman of the Board and submits regular reports to the audit committee.

The Company does not have a Remuneration Committee. The executive compensation program of the Company is administered by the Board of Directors.

Employees

As of December 31, 2002, the Group had 17,031 employees, including 1,820 pilots, 2,570 flight attendants, 2,199 maintenance personnel, 3,832 sales and marketing personnel and 3,583 administrative personnel. All of the Group's pilots, flight attendants, technical personnel, management personnel and sales and marketing personnel are contract employees, and most of the Group's ancillary service workers are temporary employees. Contract employees are hired by the Group pursuant to renewable employment contracts with terms ranging from three to five years. Temporary employees generally are hired by the Group pursuant to at-will employment contracts or employment contracts with a term of one year.

The Company's employees are members of a trade union organized under the auspices of the All-China's Federation of Trade Unions, which is established in accordance with the Trade Union Law of China. A representative of the Company labor union currently serves on the Supervisory Committee of the Company. Each of the Company's subsidiaries has its own trade union. The Group has not experienced any strikes, slowdowns or labor disputes that have interfered with its operations, and the Group believes that its relations with its employees are good.

All employees of the Group receive cash remuneration and certain non-cash benefits. Cash remuneration consists of salaries, bonuses and cash subsidies provided by the Group. Salaries are determined in accordance with the national basic wage standards. The total amount of wages payable by the Group to its employees is subject to a maximum limit determined by the CAAC based on the profitability of the Group and other factors. Bonuses are based on the profitability of the Group. Cash subsidies are intended as a form of cost-of-living adjustment. In addition to cash compensation, the Group's contract employees receive certain non-cash benefits, including housing, education and health services, and the Group's temporary employees receive limited health services, but not housing or education. CSAHC provides certain services in respect of these benefits to the Group's employees in consideration of certain fees and other charges.

Pension Programs

Historically, the Group participated in an industry-wide pension scheme managed by the CAAC. With effect from January 1, 1998, the pension scheme of the CAAC was replaced by several new retirement schemes operated under the auspices of various municipal governments. Employees of the Group are currently covered by such schemes. Under such schemes, the Group is required to pay quarterly premiums to the relevant municipal governments. The premiums range from 14% to 19% of the total monthly salary, bonuses and other benefits paid by the Group to its employees.

Table of Contents

In addition, the Group was selected as one of the pilot enterprises to establish a supplementary defined contribution retirement scheme for the benefit of employees. In this connection, employees of the Group participate in a supplementary defined contribution retirement scheme whereby the Group is required to make defined contributions at the rate of 4.5% of total salaries. This scheme which was previously organized by CSAHC has been handed over to relevant PRC government agencies since January 2002. The Group has no obligation for the payment of pension benefits beyond the contributions described above. Contributions to the retirement schemes are charged to consolidated statement of income as and when incurred..

The Group is also required to provide retirees with medical benefits, transportation subsidies and other welfare facilities. Previously, the Group paid a fixed annual fee to CSAHC in return for CSAHC providing such benefits to the retired employees of the Group. With effect from January 1, 2002, such arrangement was terminated and the services are now provided by the Group itself..

Workers Compensation

There is no workers compensation or other similar compensation scheme under the Chinese labor and employment system. As required by Chinese law, however, the Group, subject to certain conditions and limitations, pays for the medical expenses of any contract employee who suffers a work-related illness, injury or disability and continues to pay the full salary of, and provides all standard cash subsidies to, such employee during the term of such illness, injury or disability. The Group also pays for certain medical expenses of its temporary employees.

At no time during 2002 had any Director, Supervisor or member of the Senior Management or any of their spouses or minor children, been granted or exercised or subscribed for shares or debentures or options of the Company.

Share Ownership

As of the date of this Annual Report, no Director, Senior Management or Supervisor of the Company is a beneficial owner of any shares of the Company's capital stock. As of the date of this Annual Report, no arrangement has been put in place involving issue or grant of options or shares or securities of the Company to any of the Director, Senior Management, Supervisor or employees of the Company.

Related Party Transactions

The Company enters into transactions from time to time with CSAHC and its affiliates. For a description of such transactions, see Note 22 to the Financial Statements. In particular, the following arrangements, which the Company believes are material to its operations, have been made between the Company and CSAHC and its affiliates. The Company believes that these arrangements are effected in the prevailing market rates and are commercially reasonable and on terms no less favorable than terms available from third parties.

Acquisition of Assets from CSAHC

During the year, the Group acquired five Boeing 737-300/37K aircraft and related spare parts and certain vehicles from Zhongyuan Airlines, a subsidiary of CSAHC, at a consideration of approximately RMB1,097 million. The consideration was satisfied by cash of approximately RMB132 million together with an assumption by the Group of Zhongyuan Airlines' debts of approximately RMB965 million. In addition, the Group received reimbursements of wet lease rentals totaling RMB150 million which it paid to Zhongyuan Airlines during the period from July 1, 2001 to December 31, 2001. Such reimbursements have been applied to reduce the purchase costs of the acquired assets.

On August 29, 2002, the Company entered into agreements with CSAHC to acquire 90% registered capital in each of Guangzhou Aviation Hotel, South China International Aviation & Travel Services Company and Southern Airlines Advertising Company from CSAHC at considerations of RMB99 million, RMB5 million and RMB4 million, respectively. The remaining 10% registered capital in each of these companies are still held by CSAHC. Following the transfer, Guangzhou Aviation Hotel, South China International Aviation & Travel Services Company and Southern Airlines Advertising Company became subsidiaries of the Company. These acquisitions did not have a significant impact on the operating results of the Group for the year ended December 31, 2002 or its financial position at that date.

Arrangement with CSAHCTrademark License Agreement

The Company and CSAHC have entered into the Trademark License Agreement dated May 22, 1997, pursuant to which CSAHC has acknowledged that the Group has the right to use the name "China Southern" and "China Southern Airlines" in both Chinese and English, and has granted to the Company a 10-year renewable license to use the kapok logo on a world-wide basis in connection with its airline-related businesses. CSAHC has retained the right to use the kapok logo in connection with its non-airline related businesses conducted as of the date of the Trademark License Agreement and to permit its affiliates that do not compete, directly or indirectly, with the Group to use the kapok logo. Unless CSAHC gives written notice of termination three months before the expiration of the 10-year term of the agreement, the agreement will be automatically extended for another 10-year term.

Leases

The Company as lessee and CSAHC as lessor have entered into the following lease agreements:

The Company and CSAHC have entered into a land lease agreement dated May 22, 1997, in respect of the land used by the Company within Baiyun International Airport. The total rental payment is RMB2.7 million per year. The term of the lease is five years commencing April 1, 1997, and is renewable by the Group thereafter.

The Company and CSAHC have separately entered into four lease agreements dated May 22, 1997, in respect of office premises located at the east wing of the Guangzhou Railway Station on Guangzhou Huanshi Dong Road, office premises at Haikou Airport, office premises in Haikou City, and office premises at Tianhe Airport in Wuhan, Hubei Province. The aggregate rental payment under the four leases is

RMB12.6 million per year. The original term of each lease is one year and is renewable annually by the Group thereafter.

The Company and CSAHC have entered into an indemnification agreement dated May 22, 1997, in which CSAHC has agreed to indemnify the Company against any loss or damage caused by or arising from any challenge of, or interference with, the Company's right to use certain land and buildings.

Director

Pursuant to Article 13 of the Articles of Association, the business purposes of the Company are: (i) to absorb domestic and foreign capital; (ii) to assist in developing the aviation industry of China; (iii) to promote the development of the national economy of China; (iv) to utilize corporate incentive mechanisms of privatization; (v) to draw on the advanced management expertise of other domestic and foreign companies; (vi) to continuously improve the management of the Company; (vii) to enhance the market competitiveness of the Company; (viii) to generate economic and social benefits for the Company; and (ix) to generate steady income for the Company's shareholders. Pursuant to Article 14 of the Articles of Association, the scope of business of the Company shall be consistent with and subject to the scope of business approved by the relevant supervisory department of the State. The scope of business of the Company includes: (i) provision of scheduled and non-scheduled domestic, regional and international air transportation services for passengers, cargo, mail and luggage; (ii) undertaking general aviation services; (iii) provision of aircraft repair and maintenance services; (iv) acting as agent for other domestic and international airlines; (v) provision of air catering services and (vi) engaging in other airline or airline-related business, including advertising for such services.

Pursuant to Article 154 of the Articles of Association, where a director of the Company is in any way, directly or indirectly, materially interested in a contract, transaction or arrangement or proposed contract, transaction or arrangement with the Company, (other than his contract of service with the Company), he shall declare the nature and extent of his interests to the board of directors at the earliest opportunity, whether or not the contract, transaction or arrangement or proposal therefor is otherwise subject to the approval of the board of directors.

Pursuant to Article 108 of the Articles of Association, where a director is interested in any resolution proposed at a board meeting, such director shall not be present and shall not have a right to vote. Such director shall not be counted in the quorum of the relevant meeting.

Pursuant to Article 162 of the Articles of Association, the Company shall, with the prior approval of shareholders in general meeting, enter into a contract in writing with a director wherein his emoluments are stipulated. The aforesaid emoluments include, emoluments in respect of his service as director, supervisor or senior administrative officer of the Company or any subsidiary of the Company; emoluments in respect of the provision of other services in connection with the management of the affairs of the Company and any of its subsidiaries; and payment by way of compensation for loss of office, or as consideration for or in connection with his retirement from office.

Pursuant to Article 102(6) of the Articles of Association, the board of directors has the power to formulate proposals for increases or reductions in the Company's registered capital and the issue of debentures of the Company; such resolutions must be passed by more than two-thirds of all the directors.

There is no mandatory retirement age for the directors of the Company. The directors of the Company are not required to hold shares of the Company.

Ordinary Shares

Pursuant to Article 19 of the Articles of Association, subject to the approval of the securities authority of the State Council, the Company may issue and offer shares to domestic investors or foreign investors for subscription. Foreign investors are those investors of foreign countries and regions of Hong Kong, Macau and Taiwan who subscribe for shares issued by the Company. Domestic investors are those investors within the territory of the PRC (excluding investors of the regions referred to in the preceding sentence) who subscribe for shares issued by the Company.

Pursuant to Article 20 of the Articles of Association, Shares issued by the Company to domestic investors for subscription in Renminbi shall be referred to as Domestic-Invested Shares. Shares issued by the Company to foreign investors for subscription in foreign currencies shall be referred to as Foreign-Invested Shares. Foreign-Invested Shares which are listed overseas are called Overseas-Listed Foreign-Invested Shares. The foreign currencies mean the legal currencies (apart from Renminbi) of other countries or districts which are recognized by the foreign exchange control authority of the State and can be used to pay the Company for the share price.

Pursuant to Article 21 of the Articles of Association, Domestic-Invested Shares issued by the Company shall be called A Shares. Overseas-Listed Foreign-Invested Shares issued by the Company and listed in Hong Kong shall be called H Shares. H Shares are shares which have been admitted for listing on The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited, the par value of which is denominated in Renminbi and which are subscribed for and traded in Hong Kong dollars. H Shares can also be listed on a stock exchange in the United States of America in the form of American depositary receipts.

- (3) no right to return shares to the Company unless laws and regulations provide otherwise;
- (4) other obligations imposed by laws, administrative regulations and these articles of association.

Shareholders are not liable to make any further contribution to the share capital other than as agreed by the subscriber of the relevant shares on subscription.

Action necessary to change rights of shareholders

Pursuant to Article 92 of the Articles of Association, those shareholders who hold different classes of shares are shareholders of different classes.

The holders of the Domestic-Invested shares and holders of Overseas-Listed Foreign-Invested Shares shall be deemed to be shareholders of different classes.

Pursuant to Article 93 of the Articles of Association, rights conferred on any class of shareholders in the capacity of shareholders (class rights) may not be varied or abrogated unless approved by a special resolution of shareholders in general meeting and by holders of shares of that class at a separate meeting conducted in accordance with Articles 95 to 99.

Pursuant to Article 95 of the Articles of Association, shareholders of the affected class, whether or not otherwise having the right to vote at shareholders' general meetings, shall nevertheless have the right to vote at class meetings in respect of matters concerning sub-paragraphs (2) to (8), (11) and (12) of Article 94, but interested shareholder(s) shall not be entitled to vote at class meetings. Interested shareholder(s) is:

- (1) in the case of a repurchase of shares by offers to all shareholders or public dealing on a stock exchange under Article 31, a controlling shareholder within the meaning of Article 57;
- (2) in the case of a repurchase of share by an off-market contract under Article 31, a holder of the shares to which the proposed contract relates;
- (3) in the case of a restructuring of the Company, a shareholder within a class who bears less than a proportionate obligation imposed on that class under the proposed restructuring or who has an interest in the proposed restructuring different from the interest of shareholders of that class.

Pursuant to Article 96 of the Articles of Association, resolutions of a class of shareholders shall be passed by votes representing more than two-thirds of the voting rights of shareholders of that class represented at the relevant meeting who, according to Article 95, are entitled to vote at class meetings.

Pursuant to Article 97 of the Articles of Association, written notice of a class meeting shall be given forty-five (45) days before the date of the class meeting to notify all of the shareholders in the share register of the class of the matters to be considered, the date and the place of the class meeting. A shareholder who intends to attend the class meeting shall deliver his written reply concerning attendance at the class meeting to the Company twenty (20) days before the date of the class meeting.

If the number of shares carrying voting rights at the meeting represented by the shareholders who intend to attend the class meeting reaches more than one half of the voting shares at the class meeting, the Company may hold the class meeting; if not, the Company shall within five (5) days notify the shareholders again by public notice of the matters to be considered, the date and the place for the class meeting. The Company may then hold the class meeting after such publication of notice.

Pursuant to Article 98 of the Articles of Association, notice of class meetings need only be served on shareholders entitled to vote thereat.

Table of Contents

Meeting of any class of shareholders shall be conducted in a manner as similar as possible to that of general meetings of shareholders. The provisions of these articles of association relating to the manner to conduct any shareholders' general meeting shall apply to any meeting of a class of shareholders.

Pursuant to Article 99 of the Articles of Association, the special procedures for voting at any meeting of a class of shareholders shall not apply to the following circumstances:

- (1) where the Company issues, upon the approval by special resolution of its shareholders in general meeting, either separately or concurrently once every twelve months, not more than 20 per cent of each of its existing issued Domestic-Invested Shares and Overseas-Listed Foreign-Invested Shares;
- (2) where the Company's plan to issue Domestic-Invested Shares and Overseas-Listed Foreign-Invested Shares at the time of its establishment is carried out within fifteen (15) months from the date of approval of the Securities Committee of the State Council.

Meetings of shareholders

Shareholders' general meetings is the organ of authority of the Company and shall exercise its functions and powers, among other things, to decide on the Company's operational policies and investment plans, to elect and replace directors and decide on matters relating to the remuneration of directors, to examine and approve reports of the board of directors, etc.

There are two types of shareholders' general meetings: annual general meetings and extraordinary general meetings. Shareholders' general meetings shall be convened by the board of directors. Annual general meetings are held once every year and within six (6) months from the end of the preceding financial year.

Under any of the following circumstances, the board of directors shall convene an extraordinary general meeting within two (2) months:

- (1) when the number of directors is less than the number of directors required by the Company Law or two thirds of the number of directors specified in the Articles of Association;
- (2) when the unrecovered losses of the Company amount to one third of the total amount of its share capital;
- (3) when shareholder(s) holding 10 per cent or more of the Company's issued and outstanding shares carrying voting rights request(s) in writing the convening of an extraordinary general meeting;
- (4) when deemed necessary by the board of directors or as requested by the supervisory committee.

When the Company convenes a shareholders' general meeting, written notice of the meeting shall be given forty five (45) days before the date of the meeting to notify all of the shareholders in the share register of the matters to be considered and the date and the place of the meeting. A shareholder who intends to attend the meeting shall deliver his written reply concerning the attendance of the meeting to the Company twenty (20) days before the date of the meeting.

The Company shall, based on the written replies received twenty (20) days before the date of the shareholders' general meeting from the shareholders, calculate the number of voting shares represented by the shareholders who intend to attend the meeting. If the number of voting shares represented by the shareholders who intend to attend the meeting reaches one half or more of the Company's total voting shares, the Company may hold the meeting; if not, then the Company shall within five (5) days notify the shareholders again by public notice of the matters to be considered, the place and date for, the meeting. The Company may then hold the meeting after such publication of notice.

Limitation on right to own securities

The PRC Special Regulations on Overseas Offering and the Listing of Shares by Companies Limited by Share (the "Special Regulations") and the Mandatory Provisions for Articles of Association of Companies to be Listed Overseas (the "Mandatory Provisions") provide for different classes of shares to be subscribed for and traded by local and overseas investors respectively. Shares which can be traded by overseas investors must be in registered form and while denominated in Renminbi, they are traded in foreign currency with dividends payable in foreign currency. Local investors are prohibited from dealing in such shares.

Merger, acquisition or corporate restructuring

Pursuant to Article 193 of the Articles of Association, in the event of the merger or division of the Company, a plan shall be presented by the Company's board of directors and shall be approved in shareholders' general meeting and the relevant examining and approving formalities shall be processed as required by law. A shareholder who objects to the plan of merger or division shall have the right to demand the Company or the shareholders who consent to the plan of merger or division to acquire that dissenting shareholder's shareholding at a fair price. The contents of the resolution of merger or division of the Company shall be made into special documents for shareholders' inspection. Such special documents shall be sent by mail to holders of Overseas-Listed Foreign-Invested Shares.

The Articles of Association do not contain any provisions governing the ownership threshold above which shareholder ownership must be disclosed.

Material Contracts

The Company has not entered into any material contracts, other than in the ordinary course of business, during the preceding two years.

Exchange Controls

Under current Chinese foreign exchange regulations, Renminbi is fully convertible for current account transactions, but is not freely convertible for capital account transactions. Conversion from Renminbi into a foreign currency or vice versa for purposes of capital account transactions requires prior approvals of relevant Chinese Government agencies.

The Company is generally required by law to sell all its foreign exchange revenues to Chinese banks at the exchange rates published by Chinese banks on each business day, which rates may deviate only within a very narrow range from the official rate published daily by the People's Bank of China, China's central bank.

The Company may purchase foreign exchange directly from Chinese banks for any current account transactions, such as trade transactions in its normal course of business, including acquisition of aircraft and flight equipment (such acquisition requires approvals from relevant Chinese Government agencies).

The Company is permitted to retain the foreign exchange proceeds from its initial public offering in July 1997. A portion of the proceeds has been used, and the remaining proceeds will be used for the purposes which are consistent with the disclosure made in the Company's prospectus dated July 1997.

Payment of dividends by the Company to holders of the Company's H Shares and ADSs is considered a current account transaction under Chinese law. Therefore, there is no legal restriction on the conversion of Renminbi into foreign exchange for the purpose of paying dividends to such holders of H Shares and ADSs. In addition, the Company's Articles of Association require the Company to pay dividends to holders of the Company's H Shares and ADSs in foreign exchange.

Other Limitations

There are no limitations on the right of non-resident or foreign owners to hold or vote H Shares or ADSs imposed by Chinese law or by the Articles of Association or other constituent documents of the Company. However, under current Chinese law, foreign ownership of the Company may not exceed 49%.

Taxation

The following is a general summary of certain Chinese tax consequences of the acquisition, ownership and disposition of H Shares and ADSs. This summary is based upon tax laws of China as in effect on the date of this Annual Report, including the income tax treaty between the United States and China (the U.S.-PRC Tax Treaty), all of which are subject to change or different interpretation.

In general, for Chinese tax purposes, holders of ADSs will be treated as the owners of the H Shares represented by those ADSs, and exchanges of H Shares for ADSs, and ADSs for H Shares, will not be subject to taxation under the laws of China.

Table of Contents

This summary does not purport to address all material tax consequences for holders or prospective purchasers of H Shares or ADSs, and does not take into account the specific circumstances of such investors. Investors should consult their own tax advisors as to Chinese or other tax consequences of the acquisition, ownership and disposition of H Shares or ADSs.

Dividends

Chinese tax law generally provides for the imposition of a withholding tax on dividends paid by a Chinese company to a non-Chinese shareholder at a rate of 20%. However, the Chinese tax authorities have temporarily suspended imposition of this withholding tax. Accordingly, dividends paid by the Company to holders of H Shares or ADSs who are foreign individuals not resident in China or which are foreign enterprises with no permanent establishment in China will currently not be subject to Chinese withholding tax. In the event that the suspension of the withholding tax is lifted, such payments will be subject to withholding tax at the 20% rate unless the holder is entitled to a tax waiver or a lower tax rate under an applicable double-taxation treaty.

China currently has double-taxation treaties with a number of countries, including Australia, Canada, France, Germany, Japan, Malaysia, the Netherlands, Singapore, the United Kingdom and the United States. Under the U.S.-PRC Tax Treaty, China may tax a dividend paid by the Company to a U.S. holder up to a maximum of 10% of the gross amount of such dividend.

Capital Gains from Transfer or Disposition of Shares

Chinese tax law generally provides that an individual who transfers or otherwise disposes of a company's shares of capital stock is subject to a 20% capital gains tax. Currently, foreign enterprises and all individuals are temporarily exempt from capital gains tax on transfers of shares of capital stock of joint stock companies, such as the Company. Should such temporary exemption be discontinued, such holders may be subject to a 20% capital gains tax unless reduced by an applicable double-taxation treaty. Under the U.S.-PRC Tax Treaty, for example, China may only impose a 20% capital gains tax from the sale or other disposition by a U.S. holder of H Shares or ADSs representing an interest in the Company of 25% or more.

Stamp Duty

Transfers of shares of capital stock of a company are not subject to Chinese stamp duty if the transfer does not take place within China (excluding Hong Kong, Macau and Taiwan).

ITEM 11. QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK.

The Group is subject to market risks due to fluctuations in interest rates. The majority of the Group's borrowings is in the form of long-term fixed- and variable-rate debts with original maturities ranging from two to 12 years. Fluctuations in interest rates can lead to significant fluctuations in the fair value of such debt instruments. From time to time, the Group may enter into interest rate swaps designed to mitigate exposure relating to interest rate risks. No such contract was outstanding as of December 31, 2002.

The Group is also exposed to foreign currency risk as a result of its aircraft and flight equipment being sourced from overseas suppliers. Specifically, the Group's foreign currency exposure relates primarily to its foreign currency long-term debts used to finance such capital expenditures and its capital commitments. Subject to certain restrictive conditions imposed by the State Administration of Foreign Exchange, the Group may, from time to time, enter into forward foreign exchange contracts to mitigate its foreign currency exposures. No such contract was outstanding as of December 31, 2002.

As of December 31, 2002, the Group operated a total of 85 aircraft under operating and capital leases at rates that are substantially fixed. Such leases expose the Group to market risks; however, in accordance with Item 305 of Regulation S-K, such leases have been excluded from the following market risk tables. Commitments under operating and capital leases are disclosed in Note 18 to the Financial Statements.

The following table provides information regarding the Group's interest rate sensitive financial instruments as of December 31, 2002 and 2001:

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS REPORT

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of
China Southern Airlines Company Limited:

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of China Southern Airlines Company Limited and its subsidiaries as of December 31, 2001 and 2002, and the related consolidated statements of income, cash flows and changes in shareholders' equity for each of the years in the three-year period ended December 31, 2002, all expressed in Renminbi. These consolidated financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and Hong Kong. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of China Southern Airlines Company Limited and its subsidiaries as of December 31, 2001 and 2002, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for each of the years in the three-year period ended December 31, 2002 in conformity with International Financial Reporting Standards.

International Financial Reporting Standards vary in certain material respects from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Application of accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America would have affected results of operations for the years ended December 31, 2000, 2001 and 2002 and shareholders' equity as of December 31, 2001 and 2002 to the extent summarized in Note 31 to the consolidated financial statements.

The accompanying consolidated financial statements as of and for the year ended December 31, 2002 have been translated into United States dollars solely for the convenience of the reader. We have audited the translation, and in our opinion, the consolidated financial statements expressed in Renminbi have been translated into United States dollars on the basis set forth in Note 1 to the consolidated financial statements.

1. BASIS OF PRESENTATION

China Southern Airlines Company Limited (the "Company") and its subsidiary companies (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Group") are principally engaged in the provision of domestic, Hong Kong regional and international passenger and cargo and mail airline services, with flights operating primarily from the Guangzhou Baiyun International Airport, which is both the main hub of the Group's route network and the location of its corporate headquarters.

The Company was established in the People's Republic of China (the "PRC", "China" or the "State") on March 25, 1995 as a joint stock limited company as part of the Reorganization (the "Reorganization") of the Company's holding company, China Southern Air Holding Company ("CSAHC") (formerly named as Southern Airlines (Group)). CSAHC is a state-owned enterprise under the supervision of the PRC central government.

The Company's H Shares and American Depositary Shares ("ADS") (each ADS representing 50 H Shares) are listed on the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited and the New York Stock Exchange, respectively, since July 1997.

The consolidated financial statements have been prepared in Renminbi ("RMB"), the national currency of China. Solely for the convenience of the reader, the 2002 financial statements have been translated into United States dollars at the rate of US$ 1.00 = RMB 8.2773, the rate quoted by the People's Bank of China on December 31, 2002. No representation is made that the RMB amounts could have been, or could be, converted into United States dollars ("US$") at that rate or at any other certain rate on December 31, 2002 or at any other certain date.

2. PRINCIPAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES

(a) Statement of compliance

The consolidated financial statements of the Group have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") promulgated by the International Accounting Standards Board. IFRS includes International Accounting Standards ("IAS") and related interpretations.

Differences between IFRS and accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP") and their effect on net income for the years ended December 31, 2000, 2001 and 2002, and on consolidated shareholders' equity as of December 31, 2001 and 2002 are set forth in Note 31.

Table of Contents

CHINA SOUTHERN AIRLINES COMPANY LIMITED
AND SUBSIDIARIES

(Amounts in thousands, except share data)

(b) Basis of preparation

The consolidated financial statements of the Group are prepared on the historical cost basis as modified by the revaluation of certain fixed assets (Note 12). The accounting policies have been consistently applied by the Group and except for a change in accounting policy for land use rights (refer to note 24(f)), are consistent with those used in previous years.

(c) Basis of consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the financial statements of the Company and all of its subsidiaries (see Note 28 for details of the Company's principal subsidiaries) made up to December 31, each year. Subsidiaries are those enterprises controlled by the Group. Control exists when the Group has the power, directly or indirectly, to govern the financial and operating policies of an enterprise so as to obtain benefits from its activities. The financial statements of subsidiaries are included in the consolidated financial statements from the date that control effectively commences until the date that control effectively ceases.

The results of subsidiary companies are included in the consolidated statement of income, and the share attributable to minority shareholders is deducted from or added to the consolidated income after taxation. Losses attributable to minority shareholders of partly owned subsidiaries are accounted for based on the respective equity owned by the minority shareholders up to the amount of the capital contribution and reserves attributable to the minority shareholders. Thereafter, all further losses are assumed by the Company.

All significant intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated on consolidation.

(d) Interest-bearing borrowings

Interest-bearing borrowings are recognized initially at cost, less attributable transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, interest-bearing borrowings are stated at amortized cost with any difference between cost and redemption value being recognized in the consolidated statement of income over the period of the borrowings on an effective interest basis.

(e) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents consist of cash in hand and balances with banks and other financial institutions with an original maturity within three months. For the purposes of the consolidated statement of cash flows, the Group considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. None of the Group's cash and cash equivalents is restricted as to withdrawal.

(f) Trade and other receivables

Table of ContentsCHINA SOUTHERN AIRLINES COMPANY LIMITED
(Amounts in thousands, except share data)

Trade and other receivables are stated at cost less allowance for doubtful accounts. Allowance for doubtful accounts are established based on evaluation of the recoverability of these accounts at the balance sheet date. In establishing such allowance, the Group considers various factors including its historical write-off experience and industry economic trend. Past due balances over a specific period and balances over a specific amount are reviewed individually for collectibility. All other balances are reviewed on a pooled basis

(g) Inventories

Inventories, which consist primarily of expendable spare parts and supplies, are stated at cost less any applicable provision for obsolescence, and are expensed when used in operations. Cost represents the average unit cost. Inventories held for disposal is stated at the lower of cost and net realizable value. Net realizable value represents estimated resale price.

(h) Fixed assets and depreciation

Fixed assets are stated at cost or revalued amounts less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses (refer to accounting policy n). Revaluations are performed periodically to ensure that the carrying amount does not differ materially from that which would be determined using fair value at the balance sheet date.

Depreciation is provided to write off the costs, or revalued amounts where appropriate, of the fixed assets on a straight line basis over their estimated useful lives, to residual values, as follows:

	Depreciable life	Residual value
Buildings	15 to 40 years	Nil
Owned and leased aircraft	8 to 15 years	28.75%
Other flight equipment
Jet engines	8 to 15 years	3%
Others, including rotatable spares	8 to 15 years	Nil
Machinery and equipment	5 to 10 years	3%
Vehicles	6 years	3%

No depreciation is provided in respect of construction in progress.

Table of Contents

(Amounts in thousands, except share data)

(i) Leased assets

Flight equipment under capital leases is stated at an amount equal to lower of its fair value and the present value of minimum lease payments at inception of the lease, and is amortized on a straight line basis over the shorter of the lease term or estimated useful life of the asset to residual values. In cases where title to the asset will be acquired by the Group at the end of the lease, the asset is amortized on a straight line basis over the estimated useful life of the asset to its residual value.

Amounts payable in respect of capital leases are apportioned between interest charges and reductions of obligations based on the interest rates implicit in the leases. Interest charges are included in the consolidated statement of income to provide a constant periodic rate of charge over the lease term.

Gains on aircraft sale and leaseback transactions which result in capital leases are deferred and amortized over the terms of the related leases. Gains on other aircraft sale and leaseback transactions are recognized as income immediately if the transactions are established at fair value. Any excess of the sales price over fair value is deferred and amortized over the period the assets are expected to be used.

Operating lease payments are charged to the consolidated statement of income on a straight line basis over the terms of the related leases.

(j) Construction in progress

Construction in progress represents office buildings, various infrastructure projects under construction and equipment pending installation, and is stated at cost. Cost comprises direct costs of construction as well as interest charges during the periods of construction and installation. Capitalization of these costs ceases and the construction in progress is transferred to fixed assets when the asset is substantially ready for its intended use, notwithstanding any delays in the issue of the relevant commissioning certificates by the relevant PRC authorities.

(k) Lease prepayments

Lease prepayments represent the purchase costs of land use rights and are amortized on a straight line basis over the period of land use rights (Note 24(f)).

(Amounts in thousands, except share data)

(l) Investments

An affiliated company is an entity in which the Group has significant influence, but not control or joint control, over its management, including participating in the financial and operating policy decisions.

A jointly controlled entity is an entity over whose activities the Group has joint control, established by contractual agreement.

The consolidated statement of income includes the Group's share of the results of its affiliated companies and jointly controlled entities for the year. In the consolidated balance sheet, the investments in affiliated companies and jointly controlled entities are stated at the Group's attributable share of net assets. When the Group's share of losses exceeds the carrying amount of the affiliated company or jointly controlled entity, the carrying amount is reduced to nil and recognition of further losses is discontinued except to the extent that the Group has incurred obligations in respect of the affiliated company or jointly controlled entity.

Other investments are stated at cost less impairment losses (refer to accounting policy n). Other investments represent unquoted available-for-sale equity securities of companies established in the PRC. There is no quoted market price for such equity securities and accordingly a reasonable estimate of the fair value could not be made without incurring excessive costs.

(m) Deferred expenditure

Custom duties and other direct costs in relation to modifying, introducing and certifying certain operating leased aircraft are deferred and amortized over the terms of the related leases.

Lump sum housing benefits payable to employees of the Group are deferred and amortized on a straight line basis over a period of 10 years, which represents the vesting benefit period of the employees.

(n) Impairment loss

The carrying amounts of the Group's assets, other than inventories (refer to accounting policy g) and deferred tax assets (refer to accounting policy u) are reviewed periodically in order to assess whether the recoverable amounts have declined below the carrying amounts. These assets are tested for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that their recorded carrying amounts may not be recoverable. When such a decline has occurred, the carrying amount is reduced to the recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the greater of the net selling price and the value in use. In determining the value in use, expected future cash flows generated by the asset are discounted to their present value. The amount of the reduction is recognized as an expense in the consolidated statement of income.

CHINA SOUTHERN AIRLINES COMPANY LIMITED

(Amounts in thousands, except share data)

The Group assesses at each balance sheet date whether there is any indication that an impairment loss recognized for an asset in prior years may no longer exist. An impairment loss is reversed if there has been a change in the estimates used to determine the recoverable amount. A subsequent increase in the recoverable amount of an asset, when the circumstances and events that led to the write-down or write-off cease to exist, is recognized as income. The reversal is reduced by the amount that would have been recognized as depreciation had the write-down or write-off not occurred.

(o) Deferred credits

In connection with the acquisition or operating lease of certain aircraft and engines, the Group receives various credits. Such credits are deferred until the aircraft and engines are delivered, at which time they are either applied as a reduction of the cost of acquiring the aircraft and engines, resulting in a reduction of future depreciation, or amortized as a reduction of rental expense for aircraft and engines under operating leases.

(p) Revenue recognition

Passenger, cargo and mail revenues are recognized when the transportation is provided. Ticket sales for transportation not yet provided are included in current liabilities of the consolidated balance sheet as sales in advance of carriage. Revenue from airline-related business is recognized when services are rendered. Revenue is stated net of sales tax and contributions to the Civil Aviation Administration of China (CAAC) Infrastructure Development Fund.

Interest income is recognized as it accrues unless collectibility is in doubt. Dividend income is recognized when the Group's right to receive payment is established.

Operating lease income is recognized on a straight line basis over the terms of the respective leases.

(q) Traffic commissions

Traffic commissions are expensed when the transportation is provided and the related revenue is recognized. Traffic commissions for transportation not yet provided are recorded in the consolidated balance sheet as a prepaid expense.

(r) Maintenance and overhaul costs

Routine maintenance and repairs, and overhauls in respect of owned aircraft and aircraft held under capital leases are expensed in the consolidated statement of income as and when incurred. In respect of aircraft held under operating leases, a provision is made over the lease term for the estimated cost of scheduled overhauls required to be performed on the related aircraft prior to their return to the lessors.

(s) Translation of foreign currencies

Foreign currency transactions during the year are translated into Renminbi at the applicable rates of exchange prevailing on the transaction dates.

Foreign currency monetary balances at the balance sheet date are translated into Renminbi at the exchange rates quoted by the People's Bank of China ruling at the balance sheet date. Exchange differences are dealt with in the consolidated statement of income.

(t) Borrowing costs

Borrowing costs are expensed in the consolidated statement of income as and when incurred, except to the extent that they are capitalized as being directly attributable to the acquisition or construction of an asset which necessarily takes a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use.

(u) Deferred taxation

Deferred tax is provided using the balance sheet liability method on all temporary differences between the carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes and the amounts used for taxation purposes, except differences relating to the initial recognition of assets or liabilities which affect neither accounting nor taxable profit/loss.

The tax value of losses expected to be available for utilization against future taxable income is recognized as a deferred tax asset and offset against the deferred tax liability attributable to the same legal tax unit and jurisdiction. Net deferred tax assets are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realized.

(v) Retirement benefits

Contributions to retirement schemes and additional retirement benefits paid to retired employees are charged to the consolidated statement of income as and when incurred (see Note 21).

(w) Basic earnings per share

Basic earnings per share for the years ended December 31, 2000, 2001 and 2002 have been computed by dividing net income of RMB501,771, RMB340,225 and RMB575,761, respectively, by the weighted average number of shares in issue of 3,374,178,000 in 2000, 2001 and 2002.

(Amounts in thousands, except share data)

The Group maintains two frequent flyer award programs, namely, the China Southern Airlines Sky Pearl Club and Egret Mileage Plus, which provide travel awards to members based on accumulated mileage. The estimated incremental cost to provide free travel is recognized as an expense and accrued as a current liability as members accumulate mileage. As members redeem awards or their entitlements expire, the incremental cost liability is reduced accordingly to reflect the acquittal of the outstanding obligations.

(x) Revenue from mileage sales under the frequent flyer award programs is recognized when the related transportation services are provided.

(y) Provisions

A provision is recognized in the consolidated balance sheet when the Group has a legal or constructive obligation as a result of a past event, and it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligations. If the effect is material, provisions are determined by discounting the expected future cash flows at a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and, where appropriate, the risks specific to the liability.

(z) Related parties

For the purposes of these consolidated financial statements, parties are considered to be related to the Group if the Group has the ability, directly or indirectly, to control the party or exercise significant influence over the party in making financial and operating decisions, or vice versa, or where the Group and the party are subject to common control or common significant influence. Related parties may be individuals or entities.

(aa) Segmental reporting

The Group operates principally as a single business segment for the provision of air transportation services. The analysis of operating revenue and operating income by geographical segment is based on the following criteria:

(i) Traffic revenue from domestic services within the PRC (excluding Hong Kong) is attributed to the domestic operation. Traffic revenue from inbound/outbound services between the PRC and Hong Kong, and the PRC and overseas destinations is attributed to the Hong Kong regional operation and international operation, respectively.

(ii) Other revenue from ticket selling, general aviation and ground services, air catering and other miscellaneous services is attributed on the basis of where the services are performed.

(ab) Use of estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements of the Group in accordance with IFRS requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting periods. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

10. TAXATION

Pursuant to the income tax rules and regulations of the PRC, the Group is liable to PRC income tax at a rate of 33% in respect of all periods presented.

In respect of the Group's overseas airline activities, the Group has either obtained exemptions from overseas taxation pursuant to the bilateral aviation agreements between the overseas governments and PRC governments, or has sustained tax losses in these overseas jurisdictions. Accordingly, no provision for overseas tax has been made for the years ended December 31, 2000, 2001 and 2002.

Substantially all of the Group's buildings are located in the PRC. The Group was formally granted the rights to use the twenty parcels of land in Guangzhou, Shenzhen, Zhuhai, Beihai, Changsha, Shantou, Haikou, Zhengzhou, Guiyang and Wuhan by the relevant PRC authorities for a period of 30 to 70 years, which expire between 2020 and 2068. For other land in the PRC on which the Group's buildings are erected, the Group was formally granted the rights to use such land for periods of one to five years commencing in the second quarter of 1997 pursuant to various lease agreements between the Company and CSAHC. The leases with initial one-year term are automatically renewable for another one-year period unless the Group gives appropriate notice of termination. In this connection, rental payments totaling RMB15,224 were paid to CSAHC for each of the years ended December 31, 2000, 2001 and 2002 in respect of these leases. See Note 20.

As of December 31, 2001 and 2002, certain aircraft of the Group with an aggregate carrying amount of approximately RMB5,079,342 and RMB5,822,076, respectively, were pledged as security under certain loan agreements. See Note 17.

In compliance with the PRC rules and regulations governing initial public offering of shares by PRC joint stock limited companies, the fixed assets of the Group as of December 31, 1996 were revalued. This revaluation was conducted by Guangzhou Assets Appraisal Corp., a firm of independent valuers registered in the PRC, on a depreciated replacement cost basis, and approved by the China State-owned Assets Administration Bureau.

In accordance with IAS 16 Property, Plant and Equipment, subsequent to the 1996 revaluation, which was based on a depreciated replacement costs, the fixed assets of the Group are carried at revalued amounts, being the fair value at the date of the revaluation less any subsequent accumulated depreciation and impairment losses. Revaluation is performed periodically to ensure that the carrying amount does not differ materially from that which would be determined using fair value at the balance sheet date. In accordance with the revaluation performed by the directors in respect of fixed assets held by the Group as of December 31, 2000, the carrying amounts of fixed assets did not differ materially from their respective fair value.

The effect of the above revaluations was to increase annual depreciation charges by approximately RMB68,000, RMB65,000 and RMB33,000, respectively, for 2000, 2001 and 2002.

Pursuant to certain sale and leaseback arrangements, the Group sold four Boeing 757-200 aircraft, two Airbus 320-200 aircraft and four Boeing 757-200 aircraft, respectively, during 2000, 2001 and 2002 to independent third parties and then entered into operating leases with such parties to lease back the aircraft for a period of eight to nine years. The Group recognized a gain of RMB377,817, RMB59,855 and RMB199,394, respectively, in 2000, 2001 and 2002, being the excess of the sale proceeds which approximated the aircraft's fair value on the date of disposal over the aircraft's net book value and related disposal costs, under the sub-item Gain/(loss) on sale of fixed assets under Non-operating income/(expenses) in the consolidated statements of income.

During 2000, 2001 and 2002, the Group entered into arrangements to lease several of its aircraft to independent third parties. The terms of such leases generally range from one to twelve months. Depreciation of the relevant aircraft from the date of commencement of the leases to December 31, 2000, 2001 and 2002 or the expiry date of the leases, whichever is earlier, was RMB19,027, RMB9,671 and RMB4,176, respectively.

During 2002, the Group entered into an arrangement with certain independent third parties under which the Group sold an aircraft and then immediately leased back the aircraft for a period of 26 years. As agreed, the lease payment obligations, with pre-determined net present value totaling RMB1,295,680 equivalent, is to be satisfied solely out of the sale proceeds and such amount has been placed irrevocably by the Group in form of deposits and debt securities in favor of the lessor. The Group has an option to purchase the aircraft at the 16.6th year and the agreed purchase price is to be satisfied by the balances of the deposits and debt securities outstanding at that date. In the event that the lease agreement is early terminated by the Group, the Group is liable to pay a pre-determined penalty to the lessor. As long as the Group complies with the lease agreement, the Group is entitled to the quiet use of, and continued possession and use or operation of, the aircraft. Since the Group retains substantially the same rights to its use as before the arrangement, no adjustment has been made to the fixed assets. As of December 31, 2002, the net present value of the lease commitments and the corresponding defeased deposits and debt securities amounted to RMB1,322,843. As a result of the arrangement, the Group received a net cash benefit of RMB51,682 which has been recognized as income for the year.

Gains from sale and leaseback of fixed assets

During 1991 and 1992, a total of ten aircraft under capital leases were sold. Seven of these aircraft were leased back under operating leases for a period of two years. Pursuant to the sales agreement, the Group agreed to lease an additional ten replacement aircraft. The gain on the sale of the ten aircraft was RMB575,811. Of this amount, RMB215,693 and RMB129,464, respectively, were recorded directly to other income in 1991 and 1992, and the balance, representing the sale price in excess of fair value of the replacement aircraft, has been deferred and amortized over the respective operating lease periods.

Operating lease rebates

Pursuant to several operating lease arrangements for aircraft commenced in January 1998, the Group received cash rebates totaling RMB24,838 from an operating lessor in 1998. Such rebates have been deferred and amortized over the terms of the respective lease to reduce the future operating lease charges.

Governmental subsidy for safety related capital expenditures

During 2002, the Group received governmental subsidy for safety related capital expenditures amounting to RMB40,240 for enhancing future flight protection and safety standards. Such governmental subsidy is to be amortized over the depreciable lives of the related fixed assets.

20. COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

The Company has been advised by its Chinese legal counsel that, except for liabilities constituting or arising out of or relating to the business assumed by the Company in the Reorganization (see Note 1), no other liabilities were assumed by the Company, and the Company is not jointly and severally liable for other debts and obligations incurred by CSAHC prior to the Reorganization, except for certain loans from PRC banks which were fully repaid by CSAHC. There are not, however, any definitive PRC regulations or other pronouncements confirming such conclusion.

The Group leases from CSAHC certain land in Guangzhou and certain land and buildings in Wuhan, Haikou and Zhengzhou. The Group has a significant investment in buildings and other leasehold improvements located on such land. However, such land in Guangzhou and such land and buildings in Wuhan, Haikou and Zhengzhou lack adequate documentation evidencing CSAHC's rights thereto and the lease agreements between CSAHC and the Company may not be registered with the relevant authorities. Lack of registration may affect the validity of such lease agreements.

(Amounts in thousands, except share data)

With respect to the facilities in Guangzhou, CSAHC has received written assurance from the CAAC to the effect that CSAHC is entitled to continued use and occupancy of the land in Guangzhou. The Company understands that the CAAC is basing its conclusion on an agreement among certain government authorities relating to such land. Such assurance does not constitute formal evidence of CSAHC's right to transfer, mortgage or lease such real property interests. The Group cannot predict the magnitude of the effect on its financial condition or results of operations to the extent that its use of one or more of these parcels of land or the related facilities were successfully challenged. CSAHC has agreed to indemnify the Group against any loss or damage caused by any challenge or interference with the Group's use of any of its land and buildings.

As of December 31, 2002, the Group had on order fifteen Boeing 737-800 aircraft and certain flight equipment, scheduled for deliveries in 2003 to 2005. Deposits of RMB1,659,964 have been made towards the purchase of these aircraft and related equipment. As of December 31, 2002, the aggregate future payments, including estimated amounts for price escalation through anticipated delivery dates for these aircraft and related equipment totaled approximately RMB5,875,996.

As of December 31, 2002, additional capital expenditures of approximately RMB3,671,852 have been authorized, of which approximately RMB569,587 have been committed, for the Group's principal facilities. Such expenditures comprised mainly RMB3,127,420 for facilities and equipment at the Guangzhou New Airport and RMB544,432 for other airport and office facilities and equipment, overhaul and maintenance bases and training centers.

As of December 31, 2002, the Group was committed to make a capital contribution of approximately RMB60,000 and RMB201,000, respectively, to jointly controlled entity and affiliated company.

21. RETIREMENT AND POST-RETIREMENT MEDICAL BENEFITS

Employees of the Group participate in several defined contribution retirement schemes organized separately by PRC municipal governments in regions where the major operations of the Group are located. The Group is required to contribute to these schemes at the rates ranging from 13% to 17% for 2000, 14% to 17% for 2001, and 14% to 19% for 2002, of salary costs including certain allowances. A member of the retirement schemes is entitled to pension benefits equal to a fixed proportion of the salary at the retirement date. The retirement benefit obligations of all existing and future retired staff of the Group are assumed by these schemes.

In addition, the Group was selected as one of the pilot enterprises to establish a supplementary defined contribution retirement scheme for the benefit of employees. In this connection, employees of the Group participate in a supplementary defined contribution retirement scheme whereby the Group is required to make defined contributions at the rate of 4.5% of total salaries. This scheme which was previously organized by CSAHC has been handed over to relevant PRC government agencies since January 1, 2002. The Group has no obligation for the payment of pension benefits beyond the contributions described above. Contributions to the retirement schemes are charged to consolidated statement of income as and when incurred.

The Group is also required to provide retirees with medical benefits, transportation subsidies and other welfare facilities. Previously, the Group paid a fixed annual fee to CSAHC in return for CSAHC providing such benefits to the retired employees of the Group. With effect from January 1, 2002, such arrangement was terminated and the services are now provided by the Group itself.

Furthermore, pursuant to the comprehensive services agreement (the Services Agreement) dated May 22, 1997 between the Company and CSAHC, CSAHC agrees to provide adequate quarters to eligible employees of the Group as and when required. In return, the Group agrees to pay a fixed annual fee of RMB85,000 to CSAHC for a ten-year period effective January 1, 1995.

During 2001 and 2002, the Group provided additional quarters at its own expense to certain employees who are not eligible for quarters pursuant to the Services Agreement. These quarters were provided to the employees in accordance with the relevant PRC housing reform policy. In 2001 and 2002, the Group recognized a loss of RMB110,723 and RMB17,624, respectively, being the excess of the cost of these quarters over the considerations received by the Group from the employees, under Non-operating income/(expenses) in the consolidated statements of income.

Subsequently, pursuant to an additional staff housing benefit scheme effective September 2002, the Group has agreed to pay lump sum housing allowances to certain employees who have not received quarters from CSAHC or the Group according to the relevant PRC housing reform policy, for subsidizing their purchases of housing. Such expenditure has been deferred and amortized on a straight line basis over a period of 10 years, which represents the vesting benefit period of the employees. An employee who quits prior to the end of the vesting benefit period is required to pay back a portion of the lump sum housing benefits determined on a pro-rata basis of the vesting benefit period remained. The Group has the right to effect a charge on the employee's house and to enforce repayment through selling the house in the event of default in repayment. Any shortfall in repayment would be charged against consolidated statement of income. As of December 31, 2002, the Group already made payments totaling RMB46,325 under the scheme and recorded its remaining contractual liabilities totaling RMB213,675 as accrued liabilities on the consolidated balance sheet (See Note 16).

22. RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Substantially all transactions undertaken by the Group during the periods presented were effected on such terms as have been determined by the CAAC or other relevant PRC authorities. In addition, many of the involved counterparties were either regulated by or connected with such authorities. The principal related party transactions are described as follows:

Allocation of routes and air fares

Both domestic and international routes on which the Group and other PRC airlines offer scheduled services are allocated by the CAAC.

CHINA SOUTHERN AIRLINES COMPANY LIMITED

(Amounts in thousands, except share data)

International air fares are subject to bilateral agreements between the CAAC, acting on behalf of the PRC government, and other governments. Domestic air fares are regulated jointly by the CAAC and the PRC Price Administrative Bureau.

Procurement of aircraft and jet engines

Certain PRC airlines, including the Group, were granted permission to acquire aircraft directly from manufacturers subject to the approval of their fleet expansion plans by the relevant PRC government authorities.

The Group acquires engines through Southern Airlines (Group) Import and Export Trading Company (SAIETC), a wholly-owned subsidiary of CSAHC. In this connection, handling fees totaling RMB2,181, RMBNil and RMB2,840, respectively, were paid to SAIETC for 2000, 2001, and 2002.

Procurement of rotables and engineering spare parts

The Group also acquires rotables and engineering spare parts through SAIETC and pays handling fees to it in return. Total purchases amounted to RMB352,679, RMB324,998 and RMB583,548, respectively, for 2000, 2001 and 2002. Handling fees totaling RMB11,602, RMB16,161 and RMB 33,466, respectively, were paid to SAIETC for 2000, 2001 and 2002.

Jet fuel supplies

Jet fuel is subject to allocation in the PRC. The Group is required to purchase jet fuel domestically from the China Aviation Oil Supply Company and Lan Tian Oil Supply Company, companies controlled by the CAAC, at prices set by such suppliers in conjunction with the CAAC and other PRC government authorities. During the periods presented, such prices exceeded the international market prices. The cost of jet fuel purchased by the Group in accordance with such allocation was RMB2,387,646, RMB2,586,688 and RMB2,373,956, respectively, during 2000, 2001 and 2002. The remainder of the Group's jet fuel was purchased from domestic markets and, to a lesser extent, from international markets.

Aircraft insurance

Aviation insurance covering hull, war and passenger liability risk is arranged by the CAAC on behalf of all PRC airlines with the People's Insurance (Property) Company of China (PICC) under a master policy. PICC reinsures a substantial portion of its aircraft insurance business through the international reinsurance market. Insurance premiums are allocated to each individual PRC airline by the CAAC based on the value of the airline's aircraft and after taking into account the claims history of the airline. Insurance premiums totaling RMB85,431, RMB123,439 and RMB256,238, respectively, were incurred by the Group during 2000, 2001 and 2002.

Financial arrangements

(Amounts in thousands, except share data)

The Group's obligations under various lease and bank loan arrangements in connection with aircraft acquisitions are secured by guarantees provided by certain PRC financial institutions which obtained back-to-back guarantees from the CAAC. Guarantee fees totaling RMB1,985, RMB1,490 and RMB1,025, respectively, were paid to these financial institutions during 2000, 2001 and 2002.

Interest income is received from short-term deposits with SA Finance. The applicable interest rate is determined in accordance with the savings rate published by the People's Bank of China. Interest income totaling RMB35,728, RMB13,771 and RMB10,530, respectively, was earned by the Group on such deposits during 2000, 2001 and 2002. See Note 15.

Airline-related services

The Group, jointly with other PRC airlines, participates in the CAAC's computer reservation system, under which the Group purchases computer reservation services from the CAAC at rates determined based on the utilization of the system. Service fees paid by the Group to the CAAC during 2000, 2001 and 2002 totaled RMB82,725, RMB110,134 and RMB107,234, respectively.

The Group utilizes the passenger departure and cargo handling computer systems installed by the CAAC at certain PRC airports. Service fees are levied by the CAAC based on the utilization of these systems. Service fees totaling RMB40,584, RMB57,424 and RMB62,111, respectively, were paid by the Group to the CAAC during 2000, 2001 and 2002.

The Group is required to pay take-off and landing fees to various PRC airports in respect of take-off and landing slots allocated to the Group and other ancillary services provided. Fees are payable by the Group based on the scale rates published by the CAAC. Take-off and landing fees totaling RMB1,327,413, RMB1,527,600 and RMB1,667,706, respectively, were paid to various PRC airports during 2000, 2001 and 2002.

The Group purchases certain inflight meals and related services from Shenzhen Air Catering Company Limited, a cooperative joint venture established in the PRC, in respect of which CSAHC is entitled to 33% of its income after tax. Such purchases amounted to RMB17,941, RMB22,707 and RMB29,058, respectively, during 2000, 2001 and 2002.

Commission is earned by the CAAC's sales offices, various PRC airlines and certain subsidiaries of CSAHC in connection with the air tickets sold by them on behalf of the Group. Commission is calculated based on a fixed rate ranging from 1.5% to 12% on the ticket value. Commission expenses incurred by the Group in respect of tickets sold by the CAAC's sales offices, various PRC airlines and certain subsidiaries of CSAHC totaled RMB554,102, RMB547,186 and RMB481,446, respectively, during 2000, 2001 and 2002. Commission income received from other PRC airlines in connection with air tickets sold by the Group, calculated based on a fixed rate ranging from 3% to 9% on the ticket value, totaled RMB100,994, RMB89,842 and RMB81,931, respectively, during 2000, 2001 and 2002.

Ground service fees are received from other airlines in respect of ground services provided by the Group and Baiyun International Airport Group at Guangzhou Baiyun International Airport. The Group was entitled to 50% of the service fees. The Group's share of ground service fees received totaled RMB20,933, RMB23,513 and RMB39,735, respectively, during 2000, 2001 and 2002.

The Company has a 50% equity interest in Guangzhou Aircraft Maintenance Engineering Company Limited (GAMECO), which provides comprehensive maintenance services to the Group. Maintenance fees totaling RMB471,044, RMB534,828 and RMB592,311, respectively, were incurred by the Group for services provided by GAMECO during 2000, 2001 and 2002.

Certain aircraft sundry supplies are purchased from Southern Airlines (Group) Economic Development Company (SAGEDC), a subsidiary of CSAHC. Supplies totaling RMB72,054, RMB86,386 and RMB101,350, respectively, were purchased by the Group from SAGEDC during 2000, 2001 and 2002.

Advertising services

Advertising services are provided by Southern Airlines Advertising Company (SA Advertising). SA Advertising was a subsidiary of CSAHC up to July, 2002. In August 2002, the Group acquired 90% equity interest in SA Advertising from CSAHC. Expenses totaling RMB10,712, RMB9,940 and RMB3,275, respectively, were incurred by the Group for services provided by SA Advertising during 2000, 2001 and 2002.

Wet lease rentals

Pursuant to certain wet lease arrangements effected in August and November 2000, the Group incurred RMB108,699 and RMB300,000, respectively, during 2000 and 2001 in respect of five Boeing 737-300/37K aircraft leased from Zhongyuan Airlines, a subsidiary of CSAHC. No such rentals were paid in 2002 since the termination of lease arrangements in January 2002.

During 2002, wet lease rentals totaling RMB26,164 were paid to Xinjiang Airlines, a subsidiary of CSAHC, pursuant to a wet lease agreement in respect of a Boeing 757-200 aircraft effective October 2002.

During the period from August to October 2002, the Group received wet lease rentals totaling RMB27,599 from wet leasing of an Airbus 320-200 aircraft to Sichuan Airlines Corporation Limited, an affiliated company of the Group.

Acquisition of aircraft and related spare parts and vehicles

During the year, the Group acquired five Boeing 737-300/37K aircraft and related spare parts and certain vehicles from Zhongyuan Airlines, a subsidiary of CSAHC, at a consideration of approximately RMB1,096,866. The consideration was satisfied by cash of approximately RMB132,130 together with an assumption by the Group of Zhongyuan Airlines' debts of approximately RMB964,736. In addition, the Group received reimbursements of wet lease rentals totaling RMB150,000 which it paid to Zhongyuan Airlines during the period from July 1, 2001 to December 31, 2001. Such reimbursements have been applied to reduce the purchase costs of the acquired assets.

Acquisition of subsidiaries

In August 2002, the Group acquired 90% equity interest in each of Guangzhou Aviation Hotel, Southern Airlines Advertising Company and South China International Aviation & Travel Services Company from CSAHC at an aggregate cash consideration of approximately RMB107,846. Such consideration is determined by reference to the valuation reports prepared by GZAA Incorporated, a firm of independent valuers registered in the PRC. These acquisitions did not have a significant impact on the operating results of the Group for the year ended December 31, 2002 or its financial position at that date.

Amounts due to related companies

Amounts due to related companies include balances with the CAAC and CSAHC and their affiliated companies. These amounts are unsecured and non-interest bearing and have no fixed repayment terms. These amounts are normally settled on a current basis. Balances with other State-owned enterprises are excluded from this caption as other State-owned enterprises are not considered related parties.

Notes:

(a) According to the PRC Company Law and the Articles of Association of the Company and certain of its subsidiaries, the Company and the relevant subsidiaries are required to transfer 10% of their annual net income after taxation, as determined under relevant PRC accounting regulations, to a statutory surplus reserve until the reserve balance reaches 50% of the registered capital. The transfer to this reserve must be made before distribution of a dividend to shareholders.

Statutory surplus reserve can be used to offset prior years' losses, if any, and may be converted into share capital by the issue of new shares to shareholders in proportion to their existing shareholding or by increasing the par value of the shares currently held by them, provided that the balance after such issue is not less than 25% of the registered capital.

(b) According to the PRC Company Law and the Articles of Association of the Company and certain of its subsidiaries, the Company and the relevant subsidiaries are required to transfer between 5% to 10% of their annual net income after taxation, as determined under PRC accounting regulations, to the statutory public welfare fund. This fund can only be utilized on capital items for the collective benefits of the Company's and the relevant subsidiaries' employees such as the construction of dormitories, canteen and other staff welfare facilities. This fund is non-distributable other than in liquidation. The transfer to this reserve must be made before distribution of a dividend to shareholders.

(c) During 2002, the Group adopted certain new PRC accounting regulations which resulted in adjustments to the amounts of the Group's income determined under PRC accounting regulations in respect of prior years and corresponding adjustments to amounts appropriated to the statutory surplus reserve, statutory public welfare fund and discretionary surplus reserve for the prior years.

(d) The transfer to this reserve from the consolidated statement of income is subject to the approval of shareholders at general meetings. Its usage is similar to that of statutory surplus reserve.

(e) Dividend distributions may be proposed at the discretion of the Company's Board of Directors, after consideration of the transfers referred to above and making up cumulative prior years' losses, if any. Pursuant to the Company's Articles of Association, the net income of the Company for the purpose of dividend distribution is deemed to be the lesser of net income determined in accordance with (i) PRC accounting principles and financial regulations, and (ii) IFRS; or if the financial statements of the Company are not prepared in accordance with IFRS, the accounting standards of one of the countries in which its shares are listed. See Note 26.

(f) In the current year, the Group adopted IAS 40 Investment Property. According to IAS 40, the land use rights which were previously included in fixed assets at revaluation base are now presented as lease prepayments and carried at historical cost base with effect from January 1, 2002. Accordingly, the unamortized surplus on previous revaluations of the land use rights, net of related deferred tax asset, are reversed to the share premium and retained profits accounts. The effect of this change did not have a material impact on the Group's financial condition and results of operations in the periods prior to the change. As such, comparative figures of fixed assets, lease prepayments and reserves have not been adjusted for but have been reclassified to conform with the current year's presentation.

25. FAIR VALUE OF FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS AND CONCENTRATIONS OF RISK

Financial assets of the Group include cash and cash equivalents, investments, trade receivables and other receivables. Financial liabilities of the Group include notes payable, accounts payable and obligations under capital leases.

Business risk

The Group conducts its principal operations in China and accordingly is subject to special considerations and significant risks not typically associated with investments in equity securities of the United States of America and Western European companies. These include risks associated with, among others, the political, economic and legal environment, influence of the CAAC over many aspects of its operations and competition in the passenger, cargo and mail airline services industry.

Interest rate risk

The interest rates and terms of repayment of the notes payable and capital lease obligations of the Group are disclosed in Notes 17 and 18, respectively.

Foreign currency risk

The Group has significant exposure to foreign currency as substantially all of the Group's lease obligations and a significant portion of its notes payable are denominated in foreign currencies, principally US dollars, and to a lesser extent, Japanese yen. Depreciation or appreciation of the Renminbi against foreign currencies affects the Group's results significantly because the Group's foreign currency payments generally exceed its foreign currency receipts. The Group is not able to hedge its foreign currency exposure effectively other than by retaining its foreign currency denominated earnings and receipts to the extent permitted by the State Administration of Foreign Exchange (SAFE), or subject to certain restrictive conditions, entering into forward foreign exchange contracts with authorized PRC banks.

Credit risk

Substantially all of the Group's cash and cash equivalents are deposited with PRC financial institutions.

A significant portion of the Group's air tickets are sold by agents participating in the Billing and Settlement Plan (BSP), a clearing scheme between airlines and sales agents organized by International Air Transportation Association. As of December 31, 2001 and 2002, the balance due from BSP amounted to RMB226,135 and RMB353,246, respectively.

Liquidity risk

As of December 31, 2001 and 2002, the Group's net current liabilities amounted to RMB3,695,777 and RMB7,015,998, respectively. For the years ended December 2000, 2001 and 2002, the Group recorded a net cash inflow from operating activities of RMB2,355,086, RMB2,223,943 and RMB3,697,544, respectively, a net cash outflow from investing activities and financing activities of RMB2,745,984, RMB3,603,535 and RMB2,744,364, respectively, and an (decrease)/increase in cash and cash equivalents of RMB(390,898), RMB(1,379,592) and RMB953,180, respectively.

With regard to 2003 and thereafter, the liquidity of the Group is primarily dependent on its ability to maintain adequate cash inflow from operations to meet its debt obligations as they fall due, and on its ability to obtain adequate external finance to meet its committed future capital expenditures. With regard to its short-term notes payable outstanding as of December 31, 2002 of approximately RMB4,422,926, the Group has obtained firm commitments from several PRC banks to renew such borrowings as they fall due during 2003. With regard to the future capital commitments, the Group has already entered into loan financing agreements with several PRC banks to provide loan finance up to an approximate amount of RMB5,102,000 and sought letters of intent from several PRC banks to provide the remaining required loan finance of approximately RMB5,876,000. The directors of the Company believe that such financing will be available to the Group.

The directors of the Company have carried out a detailed review of the cash flow forecast of the Group for the twelve months ending December 31, 2003. Based on such forecast, the directors have determined that adequate liquidity exists to finance the working capital and capital expenditure requirements of the Group during that period. In preparing the cash flow forecast, the directors have considered historical cash requirements of the Group as well as other key factors, including the availability of the above-mentioned loan finance which may impact the operations of the Group during the next twelve-month period. The directors are of the opinion that the assumptions and sensitivities which are included in the cash flow forecast are reasonable. However, as with all assumptions in regard to future events, these are subject to inherent limitations and uncertainties and some or all of these assumptions may not be realized.

Self insurance risk

The Group maintains a limited amount of property insurance in respect of certain personal and real property.

(Amounts in thousands, except share data)Fair value

The carrying amounts and estimated fair values of significant financial assets and liabilities at December 31, 2001 and 2002 are set out below.

	December 31,
	2001		2002
	Carrying amount	Fair value	Carrying amount	Fair value
	RMB	RMB	RMB	RMB
Cash and cash equivalents	2,817,863	2,817,863	3,771,043	3,771,043
Notes payable, current portion	2,177,516	2,208,056	5,240,726	5,326,511
Notes payable, non-current portion	3,627,594	3,752,143	5,835,434	6,111,052

The following methods and assumptions were used to estimate the fair value and each class of financial instrument:

(i) Cash and cash equivalents, and short-term notes payable

The carrying amounts approximate fair value because of the short maturities of these instruments.

(ii) Long-term notes payable

The fair value has been estimated by applying a discounted cash flow approach using interest rates available to the Group for similar indebtedness.

The economic characteristics of the Group's capital leases vary from lease to lease. It is impractical to compare such leases with those prevailing in the market within the constraints of timeliness and cost for the purpose of estimating the fair value of such leases. Investments are unquoted equity interests in companies established in the PRC. There is no quoted market price for such interests and securities in the PRC and accordingly a reasonable estimate of the fair value could not be made without incurring excessive costs.

Fair value estimates are made at a specific point in time and based on relevant market information about the financial instruments. These estimates are subjective in nature and involve uncertainties and matters of significant judgment and therefore cannot be determined with precision. Changes in assumptions could significantly affect the estimates.

26. FOREIGN CURRENCY EXCHANGE

The Renminbi is not freely convertible into foreign currencies. All foreign exchange transactions involving Renminbi must take place either through the People's Bank of China or other institutions authorized to buy and sell foreign exchange or at a swap center.

The Group currently maintains bank accounts in currencies other than the Renminbi to engage in foreign exchange transactions. The amount of foreign exchange that can be retained by the Group under this system is determined by the SAFE based on the Group's expected payment obligations in foreign currencies for lease and debt payments and for dividends. Any amounts of foreign exchange that the Group receives in excess of such amount must be converted into Renminbi at the rate prevailing in the PRC inter-bank market. The Group will have access to foreign currency through the inter-bank system, subject to the approval of the SAFE, to satisfy its foreign exchange requirements where these exceed the amount of foreign exchange that the Group has retained.

The Articles of Association of the Company require cash dividends be declared in Renminbi and paid to holders of the H shares in Hong Kong dollars at the average closing exchange rate for Hong Kong dollars as announced by the People's Bank of China for the calendar week preceding the date of the dividend declaration. To the extent that the Company is unable to pay dividends in foreign currency out of its own resources, it will have to obtain foreign currency through the swap centers and PRC banks. Hong Kong dollar dividend payments will be converted by the depository and distributed to holders of American Depositary Shares in United States dollars.

* Asian market accounted for approximately 76%, 75% and 70%, respectively, of the Group's total international traffic revenue for the years ended December 31, 2000, 2001 and 2002. The remaining portion was mainly derived from the Group's flights to/from European and North American regions.

The major revenue-earning assets of the Group are its aircraft fleet, most of which are registered in the PRC. Since the Group's aircraft fleet is employed flexibly across its route network, there is no suitable basis of allocating such assets to geographic segments. Substantially all of the Group's non-aircraft identifiable assets are located in PRC.

31. SIGNIFICANT DIFFERENCES BETWEEN IFRS AND U.S. GAAP

The Group's accounting policies conform with IFRS which differ in certain material respects from U.S. GAAP. Differences which have a significant effect on consolidated net income and shareholders' equity are set out below.

(a) Sale and leaseback accounting

Under IFRS, gains on sale and leaseback transactions where the subsequent lease is an operating lease are recognized as income immediately, if the transactions are established at fair value. Differences between the sale price and fair value are deferred and amortized over the period for which the assets are expected to be used. Under U.S. GAAP, such gains are deferred and amortized over the term of the lease.

(b) Lease arrangement

As disclosed in Note 12 to the consolidated financial statements, the Group entered into an arrangement with certain independent third parties under which the Group sold an aircraft and then immediately leased back the aircraft for a minimum lease period of 16.6 years. As a result of the arrangement, the Group received a net cash benefit of RMB51,682 which has been recognized as income for the year under IFRS. Under U.S. GAAP, such benefit is deferred and amortized over the minimum lease period. In addition, under the lease arrangement, the commitments by the Group to make long-term lease payments have been defeased by the placement of security deposits. As such, under IFRS such commitments and deposits are not recognized on the consolidated balance sheet. Under U.S. GAAP, such commitments and deposits would be recognized on the consolidated balance sheet, as such commitments are not deemed as extinguished by the placement of security deposits.

(c) Capitalized interest

CHINA SOUTHERN AIRLINES COMPANY LIMITED

(Amounts in thousands, except share data)

Under IFRS, the Group capitalizes interest costs to the extent the related borrowings are directly attributable to the acquisition or construction of an asset.

Under U.S. GAAP, interest costs capitalized are determined based on specific borrowings related to the acquisition or construction of an asset, if an entity's financing plans associate a specific new borrowing with a qualifying asset. If average accumulated expenditures for the asset exceed the amounts of specific new borrowings associated with the asset, additional interest costs capitalized are based on the weighted average interest rate applicable to other borrowings of the entity.

(d) Revaluation of fixed assets

In connection with the Reorganization, the fixed assets of the Group were revalued as of December 31, 1996 (see Notes 1 and 12 to the consolidated financial statements). Such fixed asset revaluation resulted in an increase in shareholders' equity with respect to the increase in carrying amount of certain fixed assets above their historical cost bases, while a charge to the consolidated statement of income was recorded with respect to the reduction in carrying amount of certain fixed assets below their historical cost bases. In addition, the revalued fixed asset amounts serve as the tax bases of fixed assets for years beginning in 1997. Accordingly, the fixed asset revaluation eliminated certain of the temporary differences which gave rise to a deferred tax asset as of December 1996. Such tax asset was offset against the revaluation surplus.

Under U.S. GAAP, fixed assets are stated at their historical cost unless an impairment loss has been recorded. An impairment loss on fixed assets is recorded under U.S. GAAP if the carrying amount of such asset exceeds its future undiscounted cash flows, excluding finance costs. The future undiscounted cash flows, excluding finance costs, of the Group's fixed assets whose carrying amount was reduced in connection with the Reorganization, exceed their historical cost carrying amount and, therefore, impairment of such assets is not appropriate under U.S. GAAP. Accordingly, the revaluation reserve recorded directly to shareholders' equity and the charge recorded under IFRS in 1996 and the additional depreciation charges recorded in the six years ended December 31, 2002, as a result of the Reorganization are reversed for U.S. GAAP purposes.

However, as a result of the tax deductibility of the net revaluation reserve, a deferred tax asset related to the reversal of the net revaluation reserve is created under U.S. GAAP with a corresponding increase in shareholders' equity as of December 31, 1996. Such deferred tax asset will be reversed upon depreciation of the net revaluation surplus included in the fixed assets beginning 1997.

(e) Investments in affiliated company and jointly controlled entity

During the year, the Company invested in an affiliated company and a jointly controlled entity, which were PRC state-owned enterprises. Under IFRS, such investments are initially recorded on a fair value basis at the cost of purchases borne by the Company. In the consolidated statement of income, the equity share of results of the investees are measured based on the fair value of underlying net assets determined on the date of acquisitions.

Table of Contents

CHINA SOUTHERN AIRLINES COMPANY LIMITED

(Amounts in thousands, except share data)

Under U.S. GAAP, such transactions would be considered to be combinations of businesses under common control . Under U.S. GAAP, such investments are initially recorded at the Company's equity share of net assets of the investees determined on a historical cost basis. The differences between such amounts and the cost of purchases are reflected as movements in the shareholders' equity. In the consolidated statement of income, the equity share of results of the investees are measured based on the historical cost basis.

(f) Acquisition of subsidiaries from CSAHC

In August 2002, the Company acquired 90% equity interest in certain subsidiaries from CSAHC. Under IFRS, the purchase method of accounting was applied to such business combination such that as from the date of combination, the results of the acquired subsidiaries and their assets and liabilities are included in the consolidated financial statements of the Group.

Under U.S. GAAP, such transaction would be considered to be a combination of entities under common control . Under U.S. GAAP, combination of entities under common control are accounted for under the as if pooling-of-interests method where assets and liabilities are accounted for at historical cost and financial statements of previously separate entities for periods prior to the combination generally are restated on a combined basis. The effect of this difference was not material to the years presented.

(g) Financial statements presentation and disclosures

In the consolidated statements of income presented under IFRS, gain/(loss) on sale of fixed assets is classified under Non-operating income/(expenses) . Under U.S. GAAP, such gain/(loss) would be classified under Operating income/(expenses) - General and administrative .

As disclosed in Note 14 to the consolidated financial statements, deferred tax assets are presented on a net basis under IFRS. Under U.S. GAAP, the gross amounts of such deferred tax assets and any applicable valuation allowances would be separately disclosed.

(h) New accounting pronouncements

SFAS No. 143

In June 2001, the FASB issued SFAS No. 143 Accounting for Asset Retirement Obligations . SFAS No. 143 requires the Group to record the fair value of an asset retirement obligation as a liability in the period in which it incurs a legal obligation associated with the retirement of tangible long-lived assets that result from the acquisition, construction, development and/or normal use of the assets. The Group is also required to record a corresponding asset which is depreciated over the life of the asset. Subsequent to the initial measurement of the asset retirement obligation, the obligation will be adjusted at the end of each period to reflect the passage of time and changes in the estimated future cash flows underlying the obligation. The Group adopted SFAS No. 143 on January 1, 2003. The Group does not expect the adoption of SFAS No. 143 will have a material impact on its consolidated financial statements.

SFAS No. 145

Table of Contents

CHINA SOUTHERN AIRLINES COMPANY LIMITED

(Amounts in thousands, except share data)

In April 2002, the FASB issued SFAS No. 145, which rescinds SFAS No. 4 Reporting Gains and Losses from Extinguishment of Debt , and an amendment of that Statement, SFAS No. 64 Extinguishments of Debt Made to Satisfy Sinking-Fund Requirements . SFAS No. 145 also rescinds SFAS No. 44 Accounting for Intangible Assets of Motor Carriers . SFAS No. 145 amends SFAS No. 13 Accounting for Leases , to eliminate an inconsistency between the required accounting for sale-leaseback transactions and the required accounting for certain lease modifications that have economic effects that are similar to sale-leaseback transactions. SFAS No. 145 also amends other existing authoritative pronouncements to make various technical corrections, clarify meanings, or describe their applicability under changed conditions.

The provisions of SFAS No. 145 related to the rescission of SFAS No. 4 are applied in fiscal years beginning after May 15, 2002. The provisions in paragraphs 8 and 9(c) of SFAS No. 145 related to SFAS No. 13 were effective for transactions occurring after May 15, 2002. All other provisions of SFAS No. 145 were effective for financial statements issued on or after May 15, 2002. The Group does not expect the adoption of SFAS No. 145 will have a material impact on its consolidated financial statements.

SFAS No. 146

In July 2002, the FASB issued SFAS No. 146 Accounting for Costs Associated with Exit or Disposal Activities which applies to costs associated with an exit activity (including restructuring) or with a disposal of long-lived assets. SFAS No. 146 requires an entity to record a liability for cost associated with an exit or disposal activity when that liability is incurred and can be measured at fair value. Commitment to an exit plan or a plan of disposal expresses only management s intended future actions and does not meet the requirement for recognizing a liability and the related expense. An entity is required to disclose information about its exit and disposal activities, the related costs, and changes in those costs in the notes to the interim and annual financial statements that include the period in which an exit or disposal activity is initiated and in any subsequent period until the activity is completed. The Group is required to adopt SFAS No. 146 on January 1, 2003. The provisions of SFAS No. 146 are required to be applied prospectively after the adoption date to newly exit or disposal activities. Therefore, management cannot determine the potential effect that adoption of SFAS No. 146 will have on the Group s consolidated financial statements.

SFAS No. 150

In May 2003, the FASB issued SFAS No. 150, Accounting for Certain Financial Instruments with Characteristics of both Liabilities and Equity . SFAS No. 150 establishes standards for the classification and measurement of certain financial instruments with characteristics of both liabilities and equity, and requires the classification of a financial instrument that is within its scope as a liability (or an asset in some circumstances). SFAS No. 150 is effective for financial instruments entered into or modified after May 31, 2003, and otherwise is effective at the beginning of the first interim period beginning after June 15, 2003. Management believes the adoption of SFAS No. 150 will not have a material effect on the Group s financial position or results of operations.

FIN No. 45

In November 2002, the FASB issued Interpretation No. 45 Guarantor's Accounting and Disclosure Requirements for Guarantees, Including Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness to Others, an interpretation of FASB Statements No. 5, 57 and 107 and a rescission of FASB Interpretation No. 34. This Interpretation elaborates on the disclosures to be made by a guarantor in its interim and annual financial statements about its obligations under guarantees issued. The Interpretation also clarifies that a guarantor is required to recognize, at inception of a guarantee, a liability for the fair value of the obligation undertaken. The initial recognition and measurement provisions of the Interpretation are applicable to guarantees issued or modified after December 31, 2002. The disclosure requirements are effective for financial statements of interim and annual periods ending after December 31, 2002. As of December 31, 2002, the Group did not have any significant guarantees which would be required to be disclosed pursuant to this Interpretation. The Group does not expect the application of this Interpretation will have a material effect on its consolidated financial statements.

FIN No. 46

In January 2003, the FASB issued Interpretation No. 46 Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities, an interpretation of ARB No. 51. This Interpretation addresses the consolidation by business enterprises of variable interest entities as defined in the Interpretation. The Interpretation applies immediately to variable interests in variable interest entities created after January 31, 2003, and to variable interests in variable interest entities obtained after January 31, 2003. The Interpretation requires certain disclosures in financial statements issued after January 31, 2003 if it is reasonably possible that the Group will consolidate or disclose information about variable interest entities when the Interpretation becomes effective. The Group does not expect the application of this Interpretation will have a material impact on its consolidated financial statements.
