Item 4.02 Non-Reliance on Previously Issued Financial Statements or a Related Audit Report or Completed Interim Review.

(a) On February 8, 2010, the Audit Committee of the Board of Directors of Innodata Isogen, Inc. concluded that because of certain errors relating to its income tax computation that are described below, the following financial statements should no longer be relied upon: the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2008, and the Company's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the period ended September 30, 2009.

The errors relate primarily to the computation of the Company's deferred income tax asset and income tax benefit and related valuation allowances. The net result of these errors is that for 2008 the Company's reported net income of $7,584,000 was overstated by $926,000, or $0.04 per diluted share, and the Company's deferred tax asset on its consolidated balance sheet was overstated by the same amount. The errors did not affect revenues, operating income, pre-tax income, or cash-flows for any period or net income during 2009, and have no impact on the Company's tax returns for 2008 or 2009.

To correct these errors the Company has filed restated financial statements in an amended Annual Report on Form 10-K/A for the year ended December 31, 2008 and the Company has also filed restated financial statements in an amended Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q/A for the period ended September 30, 2009.

In 2005 and 2006, the Company established a deferred tax asset to reflect tax loss carryforwards that were generated in those years. The Company also established an offsetting valuation allowance as management believed that it was more likely than not that such deferred tax assets would not be realized. In 2006 and 2007, the deferred tax asset and the valuation allowance erroneously included losses generated by tax deductions that were taken by the Company on the exercise of stock options. The deferred tax asset and the valuation allowance were also overstated because an incorrect state income tax rate was applied to state tax loss carryforwards for the calculation of the related deferred tax asset. Since the recorded deferred tax asset and the valuation allowance offset each other in 2006 and 2007, the errors did not affect net income or reported asset accounts in those years.

In the fourth quarter of 2008, based on management's assessment that the deferred tax asset would more likely than not be realized, management reversed the entire valuation allowance. Since the Company's deferred tax asset account and valuation allowance were both overstated, the reversal in 2008 of the valuation allowance resulted in the erroneous recognition of a deferred tax asset and related tax benefit in 2008.

The Audit Committee of the Board of Directors discussed these matters with the Company's independent registered public accounting firms.
