PEARSON NINE-MONTH TRADING UPDATE

Sales up 8% and operating profit up 11% at constant exchange rates

2008 adjusted EPS expected to be toward the top end of current market estimates*

Pearson, the international education and information company, is today providing an update on trading in the first nine months of 2008.

Pearson continued to perform well in the third quarter. For the first nine months, sales are up 8% and operating profit up 11% at constant exchange rates.

We are trading in line with our expectations, and we remain on track to make further progress on our financial goals in 2008. If the recent strengthening of the US dollar against sterling is maintained, we expect full-year adjusted earnings per share to be toward the top end of current market estimates*.

Marjorie Scardino, chief executive, said: "Pearson's strong performance continues. We're naturally cautious about the global economic conditions, but we have good trading momentum, innovative products, resilient businesses and a strong balance sheet. With those advantages, we believe we are in good shape to prosper and strengthen our company, even through these turbulent times."

Highlights for the first nine months of 2008

Our Education business is trading in line with expectations, with sales up 10%. The integration of 2007 acquisitions is progressing well and our margin guidance is unchanged: we expect 2008 margins to be similar to the 2007 levels, even after significant expensed integration costs, with margin improvements in 2009 and beyond.

In North American Education, sales are up 11%. The fourth quarter is an important selling season in higher education, but we expect our full-year sales to grow by around 10% (or by 2-4% in underlying terms).

We are benefiting from the breadth of our North American Education business, which has helped offset some softness in the US School publishing market, particularly in the supplemental publishing segment. enVisionMATH, our digital elementary mathematics programme, is performing particularly strongly, helping us take a 31% share of new adoptions where we competed. In Higher Education we are gaining share, helped by a strong performance in custom publishing and technology, with rapid growth of our digital MyLab programmes. Almost four million students have registered for these programmes so far this year, up 48% on the same period the previous year. Our Assessment & Information business is also growing strongly, benefiting from its large base of long-term contracts and its leading position across state and national testing, educational assessment, evaluation systems and clinical assessments.

In International Education, sales are up 10%. We expect full-year sales growth of around 10% (or in the low single digits in underlying terms), including the absence of the full UK National Curriculum Test Marking contract. We have achieved particularly strong growth this year in South Africa, Spain and Mexico. In the UK, we have gained share in school publishing through a period of significant curriculum change.

Our Professional Education business is trading in line with our expectations, with sales 1% lower after nine months, but expected to increase in the low single digits for the year as a whole. We are seeing growth in testing volumes, and we expect our technology publishing business to benefit from new software releases in the fourth quarter.

At the FT Group, sales are up 11%. At FT Publishing, sales are up 14% with advertising revenues 1% ahead of 2007. The Financial Times and Mergermarket are continuing to increase their content revenues and build their audiences through the volatility in global financial markets. Mergermarket is achieving good sales growth and strong renewal rates. Operating profits continue to show good growth, as expected, and for the full year we expect FT Publishing to increase profits even if there is no growth in advertising revenues. At Interactive Data, sales are up 8%, benefiting from continued new business wins.

At Penguin, sales are up 3% with a strong publishing performance from both new and established authors including Eckhart Tolle (A New Earth), Elizabeth Gilbert (Eat, Pray, Love), Jamie Oliver (Jamie at Home) and Jane Green

(Second Chance). The fourth quarter is an important selling season in consumer publishing and Penguin remains on track to reach its goal of a double-digit margin for the full year with a strong line-up of bestselling authors including Jamie Oliver (Jamie's Ministry of Food), Jeremy Clarkson (For Crying Out Loud), Patricia Cornwell (Scarpetta) and Nora Roberts (The Pagan Stone).

Exchange rates: Pearson generates around 60% of its sales in the United States, and each five cent change in the average £:$ exchange rate for the full year (which in 2007 was £1:$2.00) has a translation impact of approximately 1p on adjusted earnings per share. The average rate during the first nine months of 2008 was £1:$1.95 (compared to £1:$1.99 in the first nine months of 2007) and the closing rate at the end of September was £1:$1.83).
