Reports and Events of Default

The indenture, to the extent relating to the 2.75% notes, certain notes concurrently and previously issued under the indenture and all future series of securities under the indenture, provides that any documents or reports that Prudential Financial may be required to file with the SEC pursuant to Section 13 or 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, will be filed with the trustee within 15 days after Prudential Financial has filed those documents or reports with the SEC. Under the Trust Indenture Act of 1939, as amended, Prudential Financial may have a separate obligation to file with the trustee documents or reports it is required to file with the SEC. Prudential Financial's failure to comply with either filing obligation is not an event that will result in an event of default under the indenture. Accordingly, acceleration of Prudential Financial's obligations under the 2.75% notes will not be a remedy for its failure to file those documents or reports with the trustee, and you may have no remedy for the failure other than an action in damages. For other outstanding series of notes of Prudential Financial, acceleration is a remedy, upon appropriate notice and passage of time, for the holders of those securities for Prudential Financial's failure to file documents or reports with the trustee.

Other Information

Proposed legislation recently introduced in the United States Congress would generally require the withholding of tax at a rate of 30% on interest paid with respect to debt securities and the gross proceeds of a disposition of debt securities paid to a foreign financial institution, as defined in the legislation, unless the institution enters into an agreement with the U.S. government to collect and provide to the U.S. tax authorities substantial information regarding U.S. account holders of the institution (which would include certain equity and debt holders of the institution, as well as certain account holders that are foreign entities with U.S. owners). The proposed legislation would also generally require the withholding of tax at a rate of 30% on interest paid with respect to debt securities and the gross proceeds of a disposition of debt securities paid to a non-financial foreign entity unless the entity provides the withholding agent with a certification identifying the direct and indirect U.S. owners of the entity. Under certain circumstances, a non-U.S. holder of debt securities might be eligible for refunds or credits of such taxes. Prudential Financial will not be required to pay additional amounts with respect to any taxes withheld from payments on the 2.75% notes as a result of the enactment and implementation of the proposed or similar legislation. As currently drafted, the legislation is proposed to be effective for amounts paid after December 31, 2012, and will not apply to payments made with respect to obligations outstanding on the date that is two years after the enactment of the legislation. Investors are encouraged to consult with their own tax advisors regarding the possible implications of this proposed legislation on their investment in the 2.75% notes.

Concurrent with the offering of the 2.75% notes, Prudential Financial is also offering $750 million aggregate principal amount of 3.875% Medium-Term Notes, Series D, due 2015.
