To all CB&I Employees:

I'd like to share with you some exciting news. McDermott and CB&I have each received the stockholder approval necessary to complete our transformational combination. We expect to close the combination next Thursday, May 10th.

This is an exciting day for both McDermott and CB&I, and I want to thank you again for all of your efforts. As I've said before, we're creating a new kind of company, a company built for the future of the energy business. Our new company will have a strong foundation, built on the best ideas, practices and processes from both McDermott and CB&I. Together, we will have the integrated technology, engineering expertise, unmatched experience and global reach to deliver end-to-end infrastructure and technology solutions to transport and transform oil and gas into the products the world needs today.

The completion of the transaction will be a major achievement and one of which we all should be proud. To mark this historic moment, we plan to host a town hall meeting and celebration that will be webcast live to our offices around the world. At this gathering we will reveal our new logo and brand identity.

I am excited that together, we will have the global reach, integrated technology, engineering expertise and construction experience to design and build the energy infrastructure of the future.

It is your dedication and hard work that will make this combination a reality. All of you, the McDermott and CB&I employees, are our most valuable assets. We have made great progress planning the integration of our two organizations, but there is still much to be done. I am counting on your dedication and focus during this time so we can continue delivering for our customers.

David
