General Motors Europe and Caterpillar Logistics Services enter into a Joint Venture

Joint management of parts and accessories distribution centers in Germany and Italy will lead to higher performance

Peoria, IL and Zurich, Switzerland - General Motors Europe (GME) and Caterpillar Logistics Services, Inc. (Cat Logistics), a wholly owned subsidiary of Caterpillar Inc., have reached a ten-year agreement to form Caterpillar Logistics Supply Chain Services GmbH, a joint venture company.

This project is part of GME's comprehensive restructuring program announced last fall.

Serving as a third party logistics provider, the joint venture will implement Cat Logistics' industry best practices to deliver aftersales warehouse productivity increases, ultimately having a positive impact on service levels and the financial performance of GME's supply chain.

The joint venture will be responsible for operations at GME's parts and accessories distribution facilities in Bochum and Rüsselsheim, Germany, and Rome, Italy. By December 1st, 2005, approximately 100 employees from GME's Italian warehouse will transition to the joint venture. By February 1st, 2006, another 1,100 employees from GME's German facilities will follow.

"Cat Logistics has long been recognized for its ability to provide clients with service parts operational excellence and I am delighted that we have the opportunity to expand our relationship with General Motors Europe through the formation of this joint venture," said Dave Hoffman, President of Caterpillar Logistics EAME Region.

"We are confident that teaming up with Cat Logistics will take our European logistics performance to a new level, providing an even more reliable service to our retailers and customers. The joint venture will make a significant contribution towards improving our overall competitiveness in Europe," said Jonathan Browning, Vice President Sales, Marketing and Aftersales of General Motors Europe.

The 150,000 m<sup>2</sup> Bochum, Germany facility currently stores over 100,000 different parts and components, and will have responsibility for replenishing 11 European Parts Distribution Centers as well as providing parts to non-European customers. Around 2,500 German, Swiss and Austrian customers will be served from the 120,000 m<sup>2</sup> facility at Rüsselsheim, Germany. The 15,000 m<sup>2</sup> parts distribution centre in Rome, Italy will continue to serve the 400 Italian and Greek customers.
