The Audit Committee met three times during the last fiscal year. The Compensation, Management Development and Corporate Governance Committee approves the grant of stock options and reviews and determines the compensation of certain key executives. The Committee met twice during the last fiscal year. The Nominating Committee recommends candidates for election as Directors of the Company and will consider all qualified nominees recommended by shareholders. Such recommendations should be sent to Bernadine P. Healy, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, Invacare Corporation, One Invacare Way, P.O. Box 4028, Elyria, Ohio 44036-2125. The Nominating Committee did not meet during the last fiscal year. During the last fiscal year, each Director attended at least 75%, with the exception of Whitney Evans who attended 67%, of the aggregate of (i) the total number of meetings of the Board of Directors held during the period he or she served as a Director and (ii) the total number of meetings held by Committees of the Board on which he or she served.

COMPENSATION COMMITTEE REPORT ON EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

The Compensation Committee of the Board of Directors (the "Committee") is responsible for reviewing the Company's existing and proposed executive compensation plans and making determinations regarding the contents of these plans and the awards to be made there under. The current members of the Committee are James C. Boland (Chairman), Whitney Evans, Jr., Dr. Bernadine P. Healy and William M. Weber, all of whom are non-employee Directors of the Company.

Set forth below is a discussion of the Company's compensation philosophy, together with a discussion of the factors considered by the Committee in determining the 2001 compensation of the Company's Named Executive Officers.

The Committee has determined, as a performance-driven business, that the Company should reward outstanding financial results with commensurate compensation. The Committee's strategy for carrying out this philosophy is to link both annual and long-term executive compensation with the Company's financial and operating performance. The Committee also recognizes the importance of maintaining compensation at competitive levels in order to attract and retain talented executives.

In order to gauge the competitiveness of the Company's executive compensation levels, the Committee receives market data from an independent consulting firm regarding executive compensation paid by other companies having similar annual revenues, as well as larger employers with which the Company must compete for talent ("Comparable Employers"). The Committee relies on its independent consultant to identify a representative group of potentially competitive employers. In determining the group of Comparable Employers, the independent consultant assembled market data on companies having similar projected revenues, with particular emphasis on durable goods manufacturers. In addition, larger employers are surveyed, as the Committee believes they are also significant competitors for executive talent. Thus, the Committee and its independent consultant believe the Company's most direct competitors for executive talent are not necessarily the companies that would be included in the peer group established to compare shareholder returns. The data is then reviewed and adjusted for the scope of the position within Invacare as compared to the equivalent responsibilities of the survey data.

The Committee also utilizes recommendations from the consulting firm on various facets of the Company's executive compensation program. In general, base salaries are established at market median levels for comparable positions but an opportunity for significantly higher compensation is provided through annual cash bonuses. These opportunities are dependent upon material year-to-year improvement in earnings per share. In addition, long-term compensation is awarded in the form of stock options or in other forms deemed appropriate by the Committee in order to provide key executives with competitive financial benefits, to the extent that shareholder value is enhanced.

Annual Base Salary. Because the Company has determined to link overall compensation with financial performance, the base salary ranges for its executives are targeted on an annual basis at approximately the 50th percentile of ranges established by Comparable Employers for executives having similar responsibilities. The Committee receives annual survey information from the independent consultant and also reviews annual recommendations from the Chief Executive Officer in order to establish appropriate salary levels for each of the executive officers (other than the CEO). The Committee takes into account whether each executive met key objectives in both financial and operating categories, as well as potential future contributions. A determination is also made as to whether the base salary provides an appropriate reward and incentive for the executive to sustain and enhance the Company's long-term superior performance. Important financial performance objectives (some of which may not be applicable to all executives) include net sales, income from operations, cost controls, earnings before income tax, earnings per share and return on assets. Operating objectives vary for each executive and may change from year-to-year. Financial and operating objectives are considered subjectively in the aggregate and are not specifically weighted in assessing performance. Increases in 2001 base salaries were based on the subjective judgment of the Committee taking into account the CEO's input regarding each executive's achievement of applicable 2000 operating and financial objectives and the targeted salary ranges as determined by the market study received from the independent consultant. Resulting base salaries for the Company's executives, including the CEO, were at or near the targeted range.

In determining the CEO's base salary for 2001, the Committee took into account the survey results regarding a 50th percentile salary range of chief executive officers at Comparable Employers and larger employers who may be competing for executive talent, as well as the financial performance objectives described above. The Committee noted that key acquisition activity and manufacturing consolidation occurred in the United States, Europe, and Australia, from 1996 through 2000 under the CEO's leadership. These activities allowed the Company to grow market share and extend current product lines, complement existing businesses, utilize its distribution strength, streamline operations and expand its geographic presence. The Committee also noted that the CEO was instrumental in reorganizing the Company in late 2000 to meet the challenges and opportunities of the current market. The CEO continued his role as the leading industry spokesperson on behalf of the home medical equipment industry, putting Invacare in a position to help shape public policy instead of being forced to react to change in policy. The Committee noted the initiatives currently being considered in Washington D.C., due to his efforts. Progress was also made in meeting the Company's long-term strategic objectives that are set by management and reviewed by the Board each year. It is the Committee's opinion that these objectives are a key to the ongoing success of the Company. They also reflect the CEO's strong understanding of the industry and what is required to continue to sustain superior financial and operating performance. The Committee also believes that the CEO has instituted actions that keep the Company's strategic direction in line with the ever-changing marketplace in which the Company operates. This includes his leadership role in identifying strategic initiatives that need to be accelerated to keep the Company competitive and recognizing the costs and benefits associated with these initiatives.

Specifically, the strong commitment to reenergize the Company's research and development activities were noted.

Annual Cash Bonus. Consistent with its philosophy that executive compensation should be linked with the Company's financial performance, the Committee has determined that annual total cash compensation (salary plus bonus) should be targeted at the 75th market percentile of Comparable Employers when the Company meets commensurately challenging financial goals, as previously outlined, in addition to subjective factors as the Committee deems appropriate.

With the assistance of the independent consultant, the Committee has determined (and annually reviews) the appropriate bonus targets for each executive officer (as a percentage of his or her salary) so that annual total cash compensation for such executive officer will reach the 75th market percentile if targeted earnings per share objectives are achieved, but with unlimited potential. During this process, the Committee may also determine that an executive's performance (taking into account the same factors discussed above with respect to base salary) and level of responsibilities warrant a change in the bonus target percentage from the market norm.

Each year, the Committee considers the recommendation from the CEO regarding the appropriate target for that year's earnings per share at which target bonuses will be earned. Under normal conditions, no bonuses are payable if earnings per share before unusual or non-recurring charges does not improve over the prior year and bonuses increase on a linear basis if earnings per share exceeds the targeted level. Targeted earnings per share before unusual items is generally set at a level which the Committee believes is challenging but achievable, and when achieved the executives are deserving of compensation at the 75th market percentile.

The CEO's annual cash bonus was targeted to approximate the 75th percentile of total cash compensation paid to chief executive officers by Comparable Employers if the Company's earnings per share objective set by the Committee was achieved. In determining the level of total cash compensation to be targeted for the CEO in 2001, the Committee took into account the same factors and events described above under "Annual Base Salary." Actual earnings per share did not improve over 2000 and internal targets established for the year were not met. The total cash compensation paid for 2001, including bonus, were below the targeted 75th market percentile as determined by the Committee. Since earnings per share did not increase, no bonuses were paid to the key executives for 2001.

Survey data from the independent consultant indicates that the Company's annual executive bonuses as a percent of net income at target levels remain competitive with comparable employers with comparable performance.

Long-Term Compensation Program. The Company's long-term compensation program is based on the award of stock options as well as other forms deemed appropriate by the Committee. Total long-term compensation is targeted at approximately the 75th percentile for long-term compensation by Comparable Employers but with unlimited potential. Stock options generally are issued as non-qualified options under the Invacare Corporation 1994 Performance Plan, are granted at market price, vest in accordance with a schedule established by the Committee and expire after ten (10) years.

Each year, the Committee determines the appropriate percentage of each executive's salary which should be targeted as long-term compensation. The targeted percentage of salary and the stock compensation proposed for each executive officer may also be affected by the factors previously described in establishing base salaries. The stock compensation granted to each executive officer is determined based upon the previously agreed upon target level for long-term compensation and upon the projected value of the stock compensation as reflected by a valuation formula recommended by the independent consultant. The stock compensation granted to each executive in 2001 was based on the subjective judgment of the Committee, taking into account the CEO's comments regarding the executive's achievement of the applicable 2000 operating and financial objectives (as described above under "Annual Base Salary") and the targeted range for long-term compensation. No particular weight was assigned to any one operating or financial objective. Outstanding stock compensation held by an executive officer is generally not considered when the Committee determines the new stock compensation to be granted. Utilizing the valuation formula recommended by the Company's independent consultant, the stock compensation granted to the Company's executives (including the CEO) resulted in a value of long-term compensation at or near the targeted range for each executive.

The Committee awarded stock compensation to the CEO in 2001 based upon the foregoing targets and formula and taking into account the same factors and events utilized in establishing the CEO's base salary for the year.

The Company made stock compensation grants in March and October of 2001 with respect to long-term compensation payable with respect to 2002.

In March 2000, the Company also made a special stock option grant to the CEO, COO and CFO. The grants to the COO and CFO vest 100% in 2005 and were made by the Committee as a retention tool for these executives. The grant to the CEO vests over four years depending upon the completion of specific goals related to succession planning. The committee determined that the established goals had been met to allow the first years vesting.

Other Matters. The Committee believes that all long-term compensation awarded to key executives in 2001 is "performance-based" and, therefore, will be deductible notwithstanding Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986. However, the Committee has not adopted a policy with respect to whether all future long-term or other compensation will satisfy the requirements of Section 162(m). The Committee intends to make a determination with respect to this issue on an annual basis.

(1) Potential Realizable Value is based on assumed annual growth rates for the term of the option. The assumed rates of 5% and 10% are set by the Commission and are not intended to be a forecast of the Company's Common Share price. There is no assurance that the value realized will be at or near the value estimated in the Potential Realizable Value applied to value the stock options. Actual gains, if any, on stock options exercised are dependent on the actual performance of the stock.

(2) Options become 100% exercisable on September 30, 2005 and vest over four years at a rate of 25% per year, commencing in 2002.

(3) The exercise price is equal to the fair market value of the Company's Common Shares on the date of grant.

Edgar Filing: INVACARE CORP - Form DEF 14A

(4) The potential gain realizable by all shareholders (based on 29,592,839 Common Shares and 1,112,187 Class B Common Shares outstanding at the exercise price of $33.50 per share as of the grant date of October 31, 2001) at 5% and 10% assumed annual rates over a term of 10 years is provided as a comparison to the potential gain realizable by the Named Executive Officers at the same assumed annual rates of appreciation in share value over the same 10-year term. The value of a Common Share would appreciate to approximately $55.00 and $87.00 per share at the assumed 5% and 10% annual growth rates, respectively.

Each of the options issued under the Stock Option Plans includes a provision which provides that the option shall become immediately exercisable (notwithstanding any vesting schedule otherwise contained in the option) upon the commencement of a tender offer for the Company's Common Shares or at any time within 90 days prior to a dissolution, liquidation or certain mergers or consolidations of the Company. Upon the occurrence of such a merger or consolidation, the option shall be subject to such adjustment or amendment as the Compensation Committee of the Board of Directors deems appropriate and equitable. Under the terms of the Stock Option Plans, the Committee may also grant reload options under such circumstances as it deems appropriate.

PENSION PLANS

The Company has established a Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan for certain executive officers to supplement other savings plans offered by the Company to provide a specific level of replacement compensation for retirement.

Edgar Filing: INVACARE CORP - Form DEF 14A

The annual benefit is a single-life annuity in an amount equal to a portion of final earnings (maximum is 50% at 15 years of service). This annual benefit is reduced by the annual value of the Company contributions to the qualified Profit Sharing Plan, Company contributions to the nonqualified 401(k) Plus and Profit Sharing Equalization Plans, and one-half of the annual Social Security benefit plus other offsets. The plan is a nonqualified plan and therefore the benefits accrued under this plan are subject to the claims of the Company's general creditors in the event of bankruptcy. The benefits will be paid (i) from an irrevocable grantor trust funded from the Company's general funds or (ii) directly by the Company from general funds.

The following table reflects the estimated annual single-life annuity payment, without reductions for applicable offsets, payable to a participant retiring in 2001 at age 65.

(1) Remuneration for purposes of calculating pension benefit based on final base salary and target bonus.

(2) The pension benefits represent annual single-life annuity values subject to reduction by applicable offsets (as described above). For purposes of estimating a pension benefit as of December 31, 2001, the current years of service credited for the Named Executive Officers are 21, 15, 18, 15 and 15 years for Messrs. Mixon, Blouch, Richey, Miklich and Slangen, respectively.

TERMINATION OF EMPLOYMENT AND CHANGE IN CONTROL ARRANGEMENTS

Severance Pay Agreements. To ensure continuity and the continued dedication of key executives during any period of uncertainty caused by the possible threat of a takeover, the Company has entered into severance pay agreements with certain key executives, including each of the Named Executive Officers. In the event there is a Change of Control (as that term is defined in the agreements) of the Company and the employment of the contracting executive terminates under certain conditions described in the agreements at any time during the three year period following a Change of Control of the Company, the executive will receive an agreed upon amount of severance pay.

For all of the Named Executive Officers, the severance pay agreements provide that upon termination for any reason other than death, Disability, by the Company for Cause or by the executive for other than Good Reason (as such terms are defined in the agreements), the executive will receive, in addition to accrued salary, bonus and vacation pay: (a) a lump sum cash amount equal to three times annual base salary plus the executive's target bonus; (b) continued participation in the Company's employee welfare benefit plans and other benefit arrangements for a period of three years following termination; (c) 401(k), 401(k) Plus, profit sharing and retirement benefits so that the total retirement benefits received will be equal to the retirement benefits which would have been received had such executive's employment with the Company continued during the three year period following termination; and an additional amount which will offset, on an after-tax basis, the effect of any excise tax which the executive is subject to under Section 4999 of the Code relating to his receipt of "excess parachute payments."

The salary and other benefits provided by the severance pay agreements will be payable from the Company's general funds. The Company has agreed to indemnify such executives for any legal expense incurred in the enforcement of their rights under the severance pay agreements.

COMPENSATION COMMITTEE INTERLOCKS AND INSIDER PARTICIPATION

The members of the Compensation Committee of the Board of Directors during 2001 were James C. Boland, Whitney Evans, Dr. Bernadine P. Healy and William M. Weber.

During 1996, the Company became an investor in Unique Mobility, Inc., a world leader in the development of high performance DC Motors. Mr. Richey serves on the Unique Mobility board of directors. During 2001, the Company purchased Gearless/Brushless motors from Unique Mobility for approximately $3,800,000.

During 2001, the Company purchased travel services from a third party private aircraft charter company. One of the aircrafts available to be used by the charter company is owned by Messrs. Mixon and Richey. The Company paid approximately $473,000 to the charter company for use of the aircraft owned by Messrs. Mixon and Richey. Invacare believes that the prices and terms charged are no less favorable than those which could be obtained from unrelated parties.

During 2001, Mr. Miklich was indebted to the Company based on a loan approved by the Compensation Committee pursuant to its executive compensation philosophy and the Company's overall compensation program. Mr. Miklich was loaned approximately $1.3 million. The loan was interest bearing and payable upon demand of the Company. The loan was repaid in full by April 5, 2002. Also during 2001, Dan T. Moore was loaned $650,000 and William M. Weber was loaned $150,000, both loans were interest bearing and were payable upon demand of the Company. Both loans were repaid in full by April 5, 2002.

AUDIT COMMITTEE AND RELATED MATTERS

Report of the Audit Committee

The Audit Committee oversees the Company's financial reporting process on behalf of the Board of Directors. The Audit Committee's activities are governed by a written charter adopted by the Board of Directors.

Management has the primary responsibility for the Company's financial statements and the reporting process, including the system of internal controls.

Edgar Filing: INVACARE CORP - Form DEF 14A

The independent auditors audit the annual financial statements prepared by management and express an opinion on the conformity of those financial statements with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States. The Audit Committee monitors these processes.

In this context, the Audit Committee met and held discussions with management and the independent auditors. Management represented to the Audit Committee that the Company's financial statements were prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States, and the Audit Committee reviewed and discussed the audited financial statements with management and the independent auditors, including a discussion of the quality, not just the acceptability, of the accounting principles, the reasonableness of specific judgments and the clarity of disclosures in the financial statements. The Audit Committee also discussed with the independent auditors such other matters as are required to be discussed with the Audit Committee under generally accepted auditing standards.

In addition, the independent auditors provided to the Audit Committee the written disclosures and letter required by Independence Standards Board Standard No. 1 (Independence Discussions With Audit Committees), related to the auditors' independence. The Audit Committee discussed with the independent auditors the auditors' independence from the Company and its management and considered the compatibility of non-audit services with the auditors' independence.

The Audit Committee discussed with the Company's financial management and independent auditors the overall scope and plans for the audit. The Audit Committee also met with the independent auditors, with and without management present, to discuss the results of the examinations, their evaluation of the Company's internal controls and the overall quality of the Company's financial reporting. In addition, the Audit Committee considered other areas of its oversight relating to the financial reporting process that it determined appropriate.

Based on the reviews and discussions referred to above, the Audit Committee recommended to the Board of Directors, and the Board of Directors has approved, that the audited financial statements be included in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2001 for filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

AUDIT COMMITTEE

Upon the receipt of a written request from any shareholder, the Company will mail, at no charge to the shareholder, a copy of the Company's 2001 Annual Report on Form 10-K, including the financial statements and schedules required to be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to Rule 13a-1 under the Exchange Act, for the Company's most recent fiscal year.
