Dear Colleagues,

Today we announced that we are proposing to change our place of incorporation to Bermuda from Ireland. You can find a copy of our press release attached as well as a FAQ document.

Now, you'd be right to ask, why this move now, after having moved to Ireland in 2010? First and foremost, we believe this is a natural step for us following the integration of XL, with its long history in Bermuda, and Bermuda-based Catlin. And, importantly, we have concluded with the regulator in Ireland that the regulator in Bermuda, the Bermuda Monetary Authority (BMA), would be best situated to serve as XL's group wide supervisor and to approve XL's internal capital model.

Not only is Bermuda known as "the world's risk capital" and is home to the underwriting operations of many major (re)insurance companies, recently it became only the second non-EU country to gain full equivalence with the EU Solvency II regulations. All of which means that Bermuda's regulatory regime, led by the BMA, is viewed as being fully equivalent to regulatory standards applied to EU (re)insurance companies and groups in accordance with the requirements of Solvency II. And, the BMA has a deep familiarity with our operations as it already serves as the regulator of our largest operating subsidiary.

In terms of timing and next steps, we expect to submit the proposal for redomestication to our shareholders in the next several months and hope to complete the transaction in the third quarter of 2016. The proposal is subject to receipt of necessary regulatory approvals, approval by our ordinary shareholders, satisfaction of other conditions and sanctioning by the High Court of Ireland.

We will update you on the progress of this initiative as soon as we can. Meanwhile, rest assured that we expect this proposed move to have no material impact on our business activities. XL shares will continue to trade on the New York Stock Exchange and we expect to remain included in the S&P 500 Index. Further, we do not expect this move to impact our financial results or our global tax rate. And, we do not expect this move to have a material impact to colleagues in Ireland as we plan to maintain our operations in Dublin.

We're very pleased to be making this proposal. We believe it is both a natural step for our Company and will benefit our clients, partners and shareholders alike.

Best,

Mike
