AMERICAN WATER WORKS' CEO ANNOUNCES PLAN TO RETIRE

VOORHEES, N.J., October 3, 2002 - Marilyn Ware, Chairman of the Board of American Water Works Company, Inc., announced today that J. James Barr, the 61 year old President and Chief Executive Officer of the Company, has decided to retire upon completion of the acquisition of the Company by RWE, which is expected in the first half of 2003.

"At that time, Mr. Barr will have completed more than 41 years of dedicated service to the Company, in a period which spans significant growth and unique challenges," Ms. Ware said. "We thank him for his many contributions and devotion and wish him a long and happy retirement." In addition, Ms. Ware reiterated that in accordance with the merger agreement, the Board of Directors will resign upon completion of the transaction. Ms. Ware will continue to participate as a member of the RWE Economic Advisory Board and upon close of the transaction, as a member of the Thames Water International Advisory Council.

"It has been my privilege to be involved for so long with an enterprise devoted to such a vital resource and with people so committed to community service", Mr Barr said. "I am truly excited about the future for this business, particularly in view of American Water joining forces with Thames Water in the RWE family of utility service organizations. The American Water Works team, partnered with Thames Water and RWE, will be an even stronger provider of water and wastewater services to customers in the United States. "

At the same time, Dr. Dietmar Kuhnt, President and Chief Executive Officer of RWE, announced that upon completion of RWE's acquisition of American Water Works Company, Bill Alexander will become Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of the Company, in addition to his broader responsibilities for the global water division, where he is Group CEO. Mr. Alexander will work with the existing management team from American Water Works and the regional Thames Water Americas' team to oversee the smooth integration of the companies. His priority will be continuity of the business in the interests of the customers, associates and shareholders. The Executive Team will report to Mr. Alexander, who will spend a significant portion of his time in the U.S.

Mr. Alexander said, "Jim Barr is well known and highly respected in the U.S. water industry, and we wanted him to continue in his present role. But we also appreciate that he feels that this is the right time for him to retire and therefore we wish him all the best in the future. He leaves behind an excellent management team, with highly motivated and committed associates and I look forward to working with them closely in the future."
