RADA Electronic Industries Ltd. Receives $800,000 Order for the Development of Major Components of a New Information Disaster Recovery Solution to be Used in Commercial Applications.

Tuesday September 4, 11:15 am ET

NETANYA, Israel, September 4 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- RADA Electronic Industries Ltd. (NASDAQ: RADA - News), announced today that it has received a purchase order exceeding $800,000 to develop and produce major components of a new and revolutionary information disaster recovery solution. The selection of RADA for this program is attributed to RADA's experience in data storage and management developed for military applications.

Disaster recovery is the process of regaining access to the data, hardware and software necessary to resume critical business operations after a natural or human-induced disaster. A disaster recovery plan (DRP) is part of a larger process known as business continuity planning (BCP).

Disaster recovery is becoming an increasingly important aspect of enterprise computing. As devices, systems, and networks become ever more complex, there are simply more things that can go wrong. As a consequence, recovery plans have also become more complex. Interruption of service or loss of data can have a serious financial impact on enterprises, whether directly or through loss of customer confidence.

Commenting on the order, Zvi Alon, RADA's CEO, said "RADA is excited to exploit this unique opportunity where we can use our mature technology, developed for military applications, as a potential solution for the growing demand for enterprise information disaster recovery. We have great expectations for this program and we believe RADA and its customer may capture a significant part of this large and fast growing business"
