On November 27, 2006, Affiliated Computer Services, Inc. (the Company) announced the completion of the Company's internal investigation into its historical stock option practices and the actions it is taking in response to the findings of the investigation. As a result of the internal investigation, it was determined that the accounting measurement dates used in pricing certain option grants were incorrect.

In that announcement, the Company indicated that it would be amending the exercise price of outstanding stock options to the correct accounting measurement date to avoid adverse tax consequences to individual option holders under Section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code and that all Company employees and executives (other than Mark A. King, former President and Chief Executive Officer; Warren D. Edwards, former Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer; and one management employee referenced in the announcement) would be reimbursed to offset any individual loss of economic benefit or tax impact related to such re-priced stock options.

The Company is not re-pricing all option grants for which accounting measurement dates were adjusted. Option grants to executives and employees will be re-priced only to the extent necessary to avoid adverse tax consequences to the individuals.

For clarification, the Company determined that the accounting measurement dates related to the option grants listed below as well as certain other of the Company's option grants required correction under applicable accounting guidelines and, accordingly, as previously announced, the Company will incur incremental cumulative non-cash compensation expense through June 30, 2006 of approximately $51 million (exclusive of tax effects) related to these incorrect accounting measurement dates. The accounting guidelines used by the Company, with the concurrence of its independent registered public accounting firm, in determining the correct accounting measurement date for its option grants required clear evidence of final corporate action approving the option grants. Therefore, while the internal investigation did not conclude that option grant dates with respect to certain grants had been selected with hindsight, the Company nevertheless concluded in many cases that the accounting measurement dates for these grants should be adjusted because the final corporate action occurred after the original grant date. For example, as previously announced, the investigation could not conclude that the reported grant date of July 23, 2002 was selected using hindsight. However, the Company adjusted the accounting measurement date for this grant from Tuesday, July 23, 2002 to Friday, July 26, 2002 because the formal compensation committee meeting in which the grant was authorized occurred on Sunday, July 28, 2002, even though the investigation found evidence, though inconclusive, supporting contemporaneous and informal selection of the July 23, 2002 grant date. This 3-day accounting measurement date adjustment resulted in the exercise price of the grant increasing from $35.75 per share (the closing price of ACS common stock on July 23, 2002) to $37.57 per share (the closing price of ACS common stock on July 26, 2002, the last trading day preceding the formal compensation committee meeting on July 28, 2002). The July 23, 2002 option grant was re-priced to the adjusted measurement date solely to the extent required to avoid adverse tax consequences to the individual option holders under Section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code (i.e., for options under the grant which vest on or after January 1, 2005).

Effective as of December 28, 2006, the following option grants previously issued to the Company's current named executive officers, other executive officers and former executive officers<sup>(1)</sup> have been amended as set forth below in order to re-price all or a portion of the respective option grant to the correct accounting measurement date.
