All phases of the Company's operations are subject to influences outside its control. Any one, or a combination, of these factors could materially affect the results of the Company's operations. These factors include general economic cycles affecting consumer spending, weather factors, operating factors affecting customer satisfaction, consumer debt levels, pricing and other competitive factors, the ability to attract, train and retain highly qualified associates, the ability to identify suitable locations and negotiate favorable lease agreements on new and relocated stores, the timing and acceptance of new products in the stores, the mix of goods sold, the continued availability of favorable credit sources, capital market conditions in general and the seasonality of the Company's business. Many of these factors have previously been identified in filings or statements made by or on behalf of the Company. Forward-looking statements made by or on behalf of the Company are based on a knowledge of its business and the environment in which it operates, but because of the factors listed above, actual results could differ materially from those reflected by any forward-looking statements. PART I

Item 1. Business

Overview

Tractor Supply Company, a Delaware corporation ("TSC" or the "Company"), was founded in 1938 as a catalog mail order tractor parts supplier. In 1982, the Company was purchased by a group of investors, including a member of the Company's current management team who is a significant stockholder. In 1994, the Company made its initial public offering. Today, TSC is a specialty retailer which supplies products for the lifestyle needs of its target customers: hobby and part-time farmers and ranchers. The Company operates the largest chain of retail farm and ranch stores in the United States. TSC's 323 stores, located in 28 states, typically range in size from 12,000 to 15,000 square feet of inside selling space and utilize at least as many square feet of outside selling space. Stores are located in rural communities and in the outlying areas of large cities where the rural lifestyle is a significant factor in the local economy.

The Company meets the lifestyle needs of its customers with a comprehensive selection of livestock and pet products (specialty feeds, supplements, equine supplies, medicines, veterinary supplies, fencing and livestock feeders); hardware and tool products (air compressors, welders, generators, pumps, plumbing and hand tools); seasonal products (riding mowers, tillers, lawn and garden supplies and heaters); truck accessories and trailers (truck tool boxes, trailers, towing accessories, tires, lubricants and batteries); clothing and footwear; and agriculture products (tractor parts and accessories, agricultural spraying equipment and tillage parts). The Company's merchandising strategy combines this comprehensive product selection with strong inventory support.

Table of Contents

Seasonality and Weather

The Company's business is highly seasonal. Historically, the Company's sales and profits have been the highest in the second and fourth fiscal quarters of each year due to the sale of seasonal products. The Company typically operates at a net loss in the first fiscal quarter of each year. Unseasonable weather, excessive rain, drought, and early or late frosts may also affect the Company's sales. The Company believes, however, that the impact of adverse weather conditions is somewhat mitigated by the geographic dispersion of its stores.

Business Strategy

The Company believes its sales and earnings growth has resulted from the focused execution of its business strategy, which includes the following key components:

Market Niche. The Company is focused on enhanced financial performance through same store sales growth, which it believes will be accomplished in its specialized market niche—supplying the daily farming and maintenance needs of hobby and part-time farmers and ranchers. By focusing its product mix on these core customers, the Company believes it has differentiated itself from general merchandise, home center and other specialty retailers.

Customer Service. The Company is committed to providing superior customer service. It offers its customers a high level of in-store service through motivated, well-trained, technically proficient store employees. The Company believes the ability of its store employees to provide friendly, responsive, technical assistance is valued by its customers and helps to promote strong customer loyalty and repeat shopping.

Product Selection. The Company offers a comprehensive selection of high quality, nationally recognized brand name and private label products, focused principally on the needs of the hobby and part-time farmer and rancher. The Company seeks to offer an extensive assortment of merchandise in specialized products. The Company's full line of product offerings is supported by a strong in-stock inventory position. An average store displays approximately 12,000 to 14,000 different products.

Pricing. The Company utilizes an everyday low prices strategy to consistently offer its products at competitive prices. The Company monitors prices at competing stores and adjusts its prices as necessary. The Company believes that by avoiding a sale-oriented marketing strategy, it is attracting customers on a regular basis rather than only in response to sales.

Technology. Management strives to improve operating efficiencies and reduce costs through the use of modern technologies. The Company utilizes a fully integrated computerized merchandise and warehouse management and point-of-sale system that permits the entire store network to communicate with the Company's distribution centers and its management headquarters. The Company believes that this integrated system results in lower inventory carrying costs, improved in-stock positions and enhanced inventory control, as well as management and purchasing efficiencies. The Company believes that its ongoing commitment to utilize modern technologies creates a competitive advantage.

Store Locations. The Company's strategy is to locate its stores in areas where the rural lifestyle is a significant factor in the local economy. The Company believes it has developed a sophisticated, proven methodology for selecting new store sites.

Vendor Partnering. The Company has established close working relationships with many of its principal vendors to manage stock levels, develop new products, plan promotions and design merchandise displays. The Company intends to continue to expand its vendor partnering strategy to include most of its other key vendors.

Advertising. To generate store traffic and position TSC as a destination store, the Company promotes broad selections of merchandise with color circulars distributed by direct mail and as newspaper inserts. The Company also runs periodic special events promoted through local flyers, circulars and radio advertising. The Company enhances its print marketing and advertising programs through the expanded use of radio and national television. In connection with these programs, the Company has retained George Strait, a renowned country music entertainer, as its national spokesman.

Store Environment. TSC's stores are open, clean, bright and offer a pleasant atmosphere with disciplined product presentation, attractive displays, both inside and outside the store, and efficient check-out procedures. The Company endeavors to staff its stores with courteous, highly motivated, knowledgeable employees in order to provide a friendly, enjoyable shopping experience.

Growth Strategy

The Company's current and long-term growth strategy is built on a combination of (1) expanded geographic market presence, achieved through the opening of new retail stores and (2) enhanced financial performance through comparable store sales increases, achieved through aggressive merchandising programs with an everyday low prices philosophy, supported by strong customer service. Since the Company's initial public offering in February 1994, the Company has opened 177 new retail stores (an annualized unit growth rate of 10.1%) and relocated 15. These new stores have increased the Company's market presence in the Southwest, primarily in Texas, and in the Southeast, primarily in Tennessee, Kentucky, North Carolina and Florida. This expansion brings the Company's total store count to 323 (in 28 states) as of December 29, 2001. During this period, the Company has also closed six stores (excluding relocations).

The Company continued its new store growth plan with an approximate 6% overall new store unit growth in fiscal 2001. The Company has a base plan to open 25 stores in fiscal 2002 (an approximate 8% unit growth rate) and, with the acquisition of certain real estate properties and lease rights from Quality Stores, Inc., an additional 87 stores.

After the close of fiscal year 2001, the United States Bankruptcy Court approved a transaction for the sale of certain assets of Quality Stores, Inc., the Company's single largest national competitor. The Company purchased the real property for 24 stores, the lease rights to 76 stores and the furniture and fixtures from 100 stores. Total consideration, including estimated transaction costs, was approximately $35 million. The Company may sell and leaseback 20 of the real properties and sell four properties with expected proceeds of approximately $23 million. Alternatively, the Company may mortgage the related properties or otherwise obtain long-term financing. The Company plans to open 87 of the locations as new Tractor Supply stores by the middle of fiscal 2002 and to relocate existing Tractor Supply stores in nine other locations later in the same year. Capital expenditures to convert the stores to the Tractor Supply format are expected to be $12 to $13 million and inventories for the converted stores are expected to total between $55 and $60 million. The Company believes that its cash flow from operations, borrowings available under its Senior Credit Facility and short-term trade credit will be sufficient to fund this expansion.

The Company's strategy is generally to lease its new stores. Assuming that new stores are leased, the estimated cash required to open a new store is approximately $800,000 to $1,000,000, the majority of which is for initial acquisition of inventory and capital expenditures, principally leasehold improvements, fixtures and equipment, and the balance of which is for store opening expenses.

The Company plans to relocate a total of 10 to 12 stores in fiscal 2002 and an average of three or four additional stores each year over the next several years. Store relocations are typically undertaken to move small, older stores to full-size formats in prime retail areas. The cash required to complete a store relocation typically ranges from $200,000 to $550,000 depending on whether the Company is responsible for any renovation or remodeling costs.

The Company plans to extensively remodel an average of two or three of its strong performing stores each year over the next several years. The estimated cash required to complete a major remodeling typically ranges from $200,000 to $400,000. The Company also plans to perform minor remodelings of its stores on an on-going basis to ensure overall Company physical facility standards are maintained. The estimated cash required to complete a minor remodeling typically ranges from $40,000 to $80,000.

Store Environment and Merchandising

The Company's stores are designed and managed to create a pleasant environment, maximize sales and operating efficiencies and make shopping an enjoyable experience. The Company's stores are clean, open and bright. The average Company store has approximately 13,000 square feet of inside selling space. The Company typically utilizes at least 12,000 square feet of outside space from which it merchandises certain farm-related and lawn and garden products. Visual displays inside and outside can be changed easily for seasonal products and promotions and space can be reallocated easily among departments.

The following chart indicates the average percentages of sales represented by each of the Company's major product categories during fiscal 2001, 2000 and 1999:

Product Category	Percent of Total Sales
	2001	2000	1999
Livestock and Pet	30%	29%	27%
Hardware and Tools	17	18	20
Seasonal Products	22	22	22

Clothing and Footwear	9	9	9
Agriculture Products	9	9	9
	100%	100%	100%

The Company's stores carry a consistent merchandise mix, tailored to some extent to specific regional needs and store size, and stock an average of 12,000 to 14,000 products. The Company's stores carry a wide selection of quality, nationally recognized, name brand merchandise. The Company also markets private label merchandise under the Huskee, Traveller, Producer's Pride, Retriever and Dumor registered trademarks.

Customer Service

The Company is committed to providing superior customer service. Store employees are the key to quality customer service, and the Company seeks to provide them with decision-making authority and training to enable them to meet customer needs.

Edgar Filing: TRACTOR SUPPLY CO /DE/ - Form 10-K405

The Company's refund policy is hassle free if within 30 days of date of purchase and accompanied by a receipt. However, the Company also has a satisfaction guaranteed policy, such that if customers are not satisfied, store employees are authorized, at their discretion, to offer to repair or exchange the product, or offer store credits or refunds, irrespective of when the product was purchased. The Company believes that by providing these services it improves customer satisfaction, builds customer loyalty and generates repeat business.

TSC offers a proprietary, third party credit card for individual retail customers. In addition, TSC accepts Visa, MasterCard and Discover credit cards.

The Company devotes considerable resources to training its store employees, often in cooperation with its vendors. The Company's training programs include (i) a full management training program for manager trainees which covers all aspects of the Company's operations, (ii) product knowledge video tapes produced in conjunction with over 100 of its vendors, (iii) semi-annual retail training skills classes, (iv) semi-annual store managers meetings with vendor product presentations, (v) vendor sponsored in-store training programs and (vi) ongoing product information updates from the Company's management headquarters. The Company seeks to hire and train store employees with farming and ranching backgrounds, with particular emphasis in general maintenance, equine and welding.

Purchasing and Distribution

The Company offers an extensive selection of farm and ranch maintenance and other specialty products. The Company's business is not dependent upon any one vendor or particular group of vendors. The Company purchases its products from approximately 1,000 vendors, the five largest of which accounted for less than 25% of the Company's total purchases in fiscal 2001 and one of which (MTD Products, Inc.) accounted for more than 10% of the Company's purchases during such year. The Company has no material long-term contractual commitments with any of its vendors, has not experienced difficulty in obtaining satisfactory alternative sources of supply for its products and believes that adequate sources of supply exist at substantially similar costs for substantially all of its products. Over 90% of the Company's purchase orders are transmitted through an electronic data interchange (EDI) system, and approximately 50% of vendor invoices are transmitted through EDI. The Company is working to expand the number of vendors who transmit invoices to the Company and increase the amount of sales history transmitted from the Company, all through EDI. The Company's merchandise purchasing is centrally managed.

The Company operates a 500,000 square foot distribution center in Pendleton, Indiana, a 144,000 square foot distribution center in Omaha, Nebraska and a 105,000 square foot distribution center in Waco, Texas, from which it serviced approximately 207 stores, 49 stores and 67 stores, respectively, at December 29, 2001. The Company also utilizes a 57,000 square foot, strategically located cross-dock facility in Rural Hall, North Carolina to support the main distribution centers and transportation system network in servicing certain stores located in the Southeast region of the country. In fiscal 2001, the Company received approximately 65% of its merchandise through these distribution facilities, with the balance delivered directly to the Company's stores. The main distribution centers ship to its stores using a dedicated contract carrier, UPS Logistics Group, Inc. (UPS). UPS manages the dedicated transportation services for the Company's distribution centers and the cross-dock facility, as well as the vendor direct-to-store shipments. Additionally, UPS is responsible for the inbound freight management from over 300 vendors. The Company is continuously evaluating its long-term strategic plan with respect to its distribution centers and transportation operations.

Management Information and Control Systems

The Company has invested considerable resources in sophisticated management information and control systems to ensure superior customer service, support the purchase and distribution of merchandise and improve operating efficiencies. The management information and control systems include a point-of-sale system, a purchase order management system, a replenishment system, a merchandise planning system and sales, inventory and gross margin management reporting systems. These systems are fully integrated and track merchandise from order through sale. All operational data from these systems is also fully integrated with the Company's financial systems.

The Company continues to evaluate and improve the functionality of its systems to maximize their effectiveness. Such efforts will include an ongoing evaluation of the optimal software configuration (including system enhancements and upgrades) as well as the adequacy of the underlying hardware components. These efforts are directed toward constantly improving the overall business processes and achieving the most efficient and effective use of the system to manage the Company's operations.

Competition

The Company operates in a highly competitive market. While the Company believes it has successfully differentiated itself from general merchandise, home center (i.e. big box) retailers and other specialty and discount retailers, the Company faces select competition from these entities, as well as competition from independently owned retail farm stores, several privately-held regional farm store chains and farm cooperatives. Some of these competitors are units of large national or regional chains that have substantially greater financial and other resources than the Company.

Management and Employees

As of December 29, 2001, the Company employed approximately 2,100 full-time and approximately 2,100 part-time employees. The Company also employs additional part-time employees during peak periods. As of such date, approximately 30 employees of the Company's Omaha, Nebraska distribution center were covered by a collective bargaining agreement. This collective bargaining agreement expires in July 2002.

Management believes its district managers, store managers and other supervisory personnel have contributed significantly to the Company's performance. Management encourages the participation of all store employees in decision making, regularly solicits input and suggestions from store employees and responds to the suggestions expressed by Company employees. Management believes it has good relationships with its employees.

Two of the five members of the Company's senior management, most of the Company's district managers and a significant portion of the Company's store managers were promoted to their positions from within the Company. All members of senior management have at least 15 years of business experience and one member of senior management has over 20 years of experience with the Company. District managers and store managers have an average length of service with the Company of approximately 6.3 years and 5.3 years, respectively. Management believes internal promotions coupled with the hiring of individuals with previous retail experience will provide the management structure necessary to support expected store growth.

Item 2. Properties

At December 29, 2001, the Company operated 323 stores in 28 states. The Company leases its four distribution facilities and its management headquarters, owns 65 stores and leases 258 stores. The store leases typically have initial terms of between 10 and 15 years, with one to three renewal periods of five years each, exercisable at the Company's option. None of the store leases individually is material to the Company's operations. The leases at its Pendleton, Indiana; Omaha, Nebraska; Waco, Texas and Rural Hall, North Carolina distribution facilities expire in 2015, 2004, 2002 and 2004 respectively, and the lease for its management headquarters expires in 2007. REPORT OF INDEPENDENT ACCOUNTANTS

To the Board of Directors and Stockholders of Tractor Supply Company

In our opinion, the balance sheet as of December 30, 2000 and the related statements of income, of changes in stockholders' equity and of cash flows for each of the two years in the period ended December 30, 2000 present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Tractor Supply Company at December 30, 2000 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the two years in the period ended December 30, 2000, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management; our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits of these statements in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, which require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for the opinion. We have not audited the financial statements of Tractor Supply Company for any period subsequent to December 30, 2000.
