You Have the Power

Shareholder:

In order to assure that only you have control over your shares the Company will present to your consideration various proposals in the next Meeting of Shareholders which eliminate the need to redeem your shares whenever they cannot be transferred.

The proposals provide for the transfer of your shares during your lifetime to your heirs or spouse if they are either dentists or physicians. Also, in case of death, you will be able to transfer them to whomever you want, even when they are not a physician or a dentist.

This is your best option to guarantee control over your shares and that the persons that you choose are able to bear the fruits of those shares.

Attend the next Meeting of Shareholders to be held this next 24th of April or assign your right to vote by issuing a proxy so that you may retain control over your shares.
