On May 5, 2009, Harris Corporation (Harris) issued a press release announcing, among other things, its results of operations and financial condition as of and for its third quarter of fiscal 2009, updated guidance regarding expected earnings and revenue for fiscal 2009 and initial guidance regarding expected earnings and revenue for fiscal 2010. The full text of the press release and related financial tables is furnished herewith as Exhibit 99.1 and is incorporated herein by reference.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

The press release includes a discussion of non-GAAP financial measures, including net income, net income (or earnings) per diluted share and revenue for the third quarter of fiscal 2009 and the third quarter of fiscal 2008, guidance for earnings per diluted share from continuing operations in fiscal 2009, earnings per diluted share from continuing operations in fiscal 2008, the percentage increase in guidance for earnings per diluted share from continuing operations in fiscal 2009 compared with earnings per diluted share from continuing operations in fiscal 2008, the percentage increase in guidance for revenue from continuing operations in fiscal 2009 compared with revenue from continuing operations in fiscal 2008, guidance for earnings per diluted share in fiscal 2010, and the percentage increase in guidance for earnings per diluted share in fiscal 2010 compared with guidance for earnings per diluted share from continuing operations in fiscal 2009, in each case excluding, as the case may be, the results of the Harris Stratex Networks segment as if the segment were a discontinued operation and certain costs and expenses associated with the acquisitions of Multimax Incorporated (Multimax), Zandar Technologies plc (Zandar), the Tyco Electronics Wireless Systems business (Wireless Systems) and Crucial Security, Inc. (CSI). A non-GAAP financial measure is generally defined as a numerical measure of a company's historical or future performance that excludes or includes amounts, or is subject to adjustments, so as to be different from the most directly comparable measure calculated and presented in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP). Net income, net income (or earnings) per diluted share and revenue for the third quarter of fiscal 2009 and the third quarter of fiscal 2008, guidance for earnings per diluted share from continuing operations in fiscal 2009, earnings per diluted share from continuing operations in fiscal 2008, the percentage increase in guidance for earnings per diluted share from continuing operations in fiscal 2009 compared with earnings per diluted share from continuing operations in fiscal 2008, the percentage increase in guidance for revenue from continuing operations in fiscal 2009 compared with revenue from continuing operations in fiscal 2008, guidance for earnings per diluted share in fiscal 2010, and the percentage increase in guidance for earnings per diluted share in fiscal 2010 compared with guidance for earnings per diluted share from continuing operations in fiscal 2009, in each case excluding, as the case may be, the results of the Harris Stratex Networks segment as if the segment were a discontinued operation and certain costs and expenses associated with the acquisitions of Multimax, Zandar, Wireless Systems and CSI, are financial measures that are not defined by GAAP and should be viewed in addition to, and not in lieu of, income, income per diluted share, and other financial measures on a GAAP basis. Harris has included in its press release a reconciliation of non-GAAP financial measures disclosed in the press release to the most directly comparable GAAP financial measures.

Harris management believes that these non-GAAP financial measures, when considered together with the GAAP financial measures, provide information that is useful to investors in understanding period-over-period operating results separate and apart from items that could have a disproportionate positive or negative impact on results in any particular period. Harris management also believes that these non-GAAP financial measures enhance the ability of investors to analyze trends in Harris' business and to understand Harris' performance. In addition, Harris may utilize non-GAAP financial measures as a guide in its forecasting, budgeting and long-term planning process and to measure operating performance for some management compensation purposes. Please refer to Harris financial statements and accompanying footnotes for additional information and for a presentation of results in accordance with GAAP. Non-GAAP financial measures should be considered in addition to, and not as a substitute for, or superior to, financial measures prepared in accordance with GAAP.
