Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Trends and Uncertainties. Demand for Email Mortgage's project will be dependent on, among other things, market acceptance of the Email Mortgage.com concept, the quality of its services, and general economic conditions, which are cyclical in nature. Inasmuch as a major portion of Email Mortgage's activities will be the receipt of revenues from our services, Email Mortgage's business operations may be adversely affected by Email Mortgage's competitors and prolonged recessionary periods.

Capital and Source of Liquidity. Prior to the recent offering, all of the initial working capital was obtained from the sale of common shares to the current officers, directors and principal shareholder ($2,650) and loans from a related party of ($70,325). We raised $251,400 through the sale of common stock in our recent public offering. Email Mortgage may require additional loans to expand our current and strategic business plans. We do not have any funding arrangements with any third party or any affiliates, including the Clarkson Trust.

For the three months ended June 30, 2002, we made advances to a shareholder and affiliate of $20,000 resulting in net cash used in financing activities of $20,000.

For the three months ended June 30, 2001, we received loans from a related party of $8,200 resulting in net cash provided by financing activities of $8,200.

For the year ended March 31, 2002, we received proceeds from the sale of common stock of $250,500, loans from a related party of $10,400 and repaid $67,745 in related party loans, made advances to affiliated company of $22,000 and repaid affiliate advance of $15,000 resulting in net cash provided by financing activities of $186,155.

For the year ended March 31, 2001, we received loans from a related party of $51,425 and sold common stock for cash of $2,650 resulting in net cash provided by financing activities of $54,075.

For the three months ended June 30, 2002 and 2001 and the year ended March 31, 2002 and 2001, we did not pursue any investing activities.

On a long-term basis, liquidity is dependent on continuation and expansion of operation and receipt of revenues, additional infusions of capital, and debt financing. Email Mortgage believes that The proceeds received from its recent public offering will allow Email Mortgage to increase its marketing and sales efforts and thereafter result in revenue and greater liquidity in the long term. However, there can be no assurance that Email Mortgage will be able to obtain additional equity or debt financing in the future, if at all.

Results of Operations. Since inception, Email Mortgage has not received any significant revenues from operations. For the three months ended June 30, 2002, we received revenue of only $1,100 from loan processing fees. We had a net loss of $915 for the three months ended June 30, 2002. Operating expenses for that same period were $3,080 consisting of loan processing costs of $500, professional fees of $1,275, rent of $475 and other expenses of $830.

months with the proceeds from the current offering. We will not need to conduct any research and development regarding our business plan.

We do not expect to purchase any plant or significant equipment.

We agreed to pay Email RealEstate, an affiliate, beginning January 1, 2001, $20 per month per realtor that has a website on Email RealEstate that includes a hotlink to EmailMortgage. If we do not have sufficient funds to cover these payments, we may have to use some of the proceeds of the current offering or obtain additional financing through debt or equity.

Email Mortgage may experience problems; delays, expenses, and difficulties sometimes encountered by an enterprise in Email Mortgage's stage of development, many of which are beyond Email Mortgage's control. These include, but are not limited to, unanticipated problems relating to the development of the system, manufacturing costs, production and marketing problems, additional costs and expenses that may exceed current estimates, and competition.
