Release Lisbon 22 December 2010
Portugal Telecom informs about confirmation of favourable decision regarding fine imposed by the Competition Authority
The Lisbon Court of Appeals (Tribunal da Relação de Lisboa) has confirmed today the judgment of the Lisbon Commerce Court on 2 March 2010, which had cleared PT Comunicações from a fine of Euro 38 million levied by the Portuguese Competition Authority on August 2007, for allegedly refusing, without an objective justification, to grant access to certain sections of its duct system to TV Tel and Cabovisão.
The Public Prosecutor (Ministério Público) in charge of the case at the Commerce Court had already argued for the dismissal of the appeal brought by the Competition Authority before the Lisbon Court of Appeals. Similarly the Public Prosecutor responsible for the case at the Lisbon Court of Appeals had also issued an opinion in the same direction.
Following closely the Lisbon Commerce Court decision, the Court of Appeals concluded that there was no evidence that the sections of PT s duct system which TVTel and Cabovisão were not allowed access to were essential facilities for the supply of pay-TV, Internet access and fixed line telephony services.
The Lisbon Court of Appeals also stated that even if the duct sections in question had been found to be indispensable for the supply of the abovementioned services, there was no evidence that the refusals to grant access thereto were unjustified or discriminatory.
The Court of Appeals confirmed that an undertaking which is dominant in the market for certain infra-structures used for the supply of telecommunications services has the right to reserve those infra-structures to itself, provided that they can be replicated, or as long as other alternatives exist for the supply of such services.
For the Court of Appeals the reasoning used in the Commerce Court s judgment to clear PT Comunicações from the Competition Authority s charges did not warrant any rectification or criticism.
The judgment of the Court of Appeals cannot be appealed.

Portugal Telecom did not record any provision on its financial statements related to this process.
