On December 21, 2011, Anika Therapeutics, Inc. (the "Company") entered into a License Agreement (the "License Agreement") with DePuy Mitek, Inc. ("Mitek") for an exclusive, multi-year license of the Company's MONOVISC® product, a highly purified, high molecular weight form of hyaluronic acid for treating pain in patients suffering from osteoarthritis of the knee. In connection with the execution of the License Agreement, the Company will receive an initial payment of $2.5 million. The Company also will be entitled to receive additional payments from Mitek following the mutual decision to launch the product, related to future regulatory, clinical, and sales milestones, as well as receive royalties based on the net sales of MONOVISC generated by Mitek. The MONOVISC product is currently pending approval by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. The License Agreement applies only to the United States.

The License Agreement has an initial term of fifteen years, unless earlier terminated pursuant to any one of several early termination rights of each party. Mitek also has the right, but not the obligation, to choose to extend the term of the License Agreement for additional five year periods provided Mitek complies with the renewal provisions contained in the License Agreement.

Under the terms of the License Agreement, neither party may assign the License Agreement without the prior written consent of the other party, except to its affiliates; however, either party must assign the License Agreement in connection with the sale of all or substantially all of its assets (whether by merger, consolidation or otherwise).

In addition to the foregoing, the License Agreement contains certain terms and provisions regarding the Company's ongoing litigation with Genzyme Corporation as well as customary terms and conditions, including, but not limited to, provisions related to confidentiality, record storage and intellectual property.

The foregoing description of the License Agreement does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the text of the License Agreement which is attached hereto as Exhibit 10.1 and is incorporated herein by reference.
