Dear Colleague

Today we updated the stock market on our financial performance in the first quarter of 2007.

I don't normally write to you when we provide our Trading Update (as it is known). But this time I think it's important that I do. We have had a good start to the year. Profit before tax grew 15% compared with the first quarter of 2006 (or 10% on a like for like basis).

In the Global Retail and Commercial Banking businesses, we saw good profit growth in UK Retail Banking. Our progress in the mortgage market continued at pace. We saw strong profit growth in UK Business Banking.

I am pleased with the progress that we've made at Barclaycard, including improvements in our bad debt performance. Barclaycard US is on track to become profitable this year after two years of heavy investment following the acquisition of Juniper in late 2004.

International Retail and Commercial Banking grew strongly, especially in Spain. Absa continues to fly, although its profit in sterling was impacted by the weakness of the rand.

In the Investment Banking and Investment Management businesses, performance was particularly strong at Barclays Capital, which had its best ever quarter. Barclays Global Investors experienced good growth in US dollar terms, although this was offset by continued investment in the business and by the weakness of the dollar against sterling. And we saw another strong performance from Barclays Wealth, where client assets continue to rise.

Our Trading Update demonstrates the continued momentum that I talked about in my letter to you at the time of our 2006 Full Year Results in February. We are well placed as a Group to take advantage of the very significant growth in the global financial services industry that I expect to occur in the years ahead.

And the performance shows that we are meeting the needs of our customers and clients – so thank you for serving them well, and for what you have done to contribute to a strong first quarter of the year.

I am continuing to direct a lot of time at securing the merger with ABN AMRO. But as I said to you before, as intense as this is, we must not lose sight of our customers. They expect us to be there for them today and tomorrow and the day after that. Their expectations of Barclays, and their need for great products and great service, have not changed, and we must continue to deliver. So our job is to give them our full attention. I am depending on you to do this, demonstrating that we're not distracted by the merger talks from our business purpose, which is helping customers and clients achieve their goals.

There is little for me to say by way of update on our merger proposals: we're working hard on getting the appropriate regulatory consents in place. Between us, we have over 100 regulators around the world and we need a change of control consent from 55 of these to implement the proposed merger. We expect to make a formal offer to ABN AMRO shareholders in July. I will continue to communicate as we progress.

Meanwhile, I thank you again for what you're doing, and thank you for your support.

John
