Supplier/Vendor Talking Points and FAQ

Supplier/Vendor Key Messages

Covidien and Medtronic announced a definitive agreement under which Covidien has agreed to combine with Medtronic.

Until the transaction closes, which we expect will occur in the fourth calendar quarter of 2014 or early 2015, we will continue to operate as separate companies and your interactions with us will remain unchanged.

There will be no changes in your relationship with Covidien, and your day-to-day contacts will remain the same.

Our team is committed to a smooth transition and we fully expect a seamless integration upon completion of the transaction.

We look forward to working with you as we begin this exciting new chapter and appreciate your continued support.

Additional Detail

This combination will create the world's premier medical technology and services company with a comprehensive product portfolio and broad global reach that is better able to improve healthcare outcomes.

Like Covidien, Medtronic is a global leader in medical technology, services and solutions.

Edgar Filing: Covidien plc - Form 425

Medtronic provides physicians, patients and hospitals with an extensive portfolio of therapy, procedural and systems innovations, including treatments for heart disease, diabetes, and chronic pain.

Both Covidien and Medtronic take pride in developing technology and services that will allow our physicians and customers to improve patient care and control costs.

Ultimately, our increased breadth will strengthen our ability to build win-win, value-based partnerships with you, our valued partner.

As we move through this process, we will continue to keep you updated on important developments.

If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to your usual Covidien representative.

Thank you for your continued support of Covidien.

Supplier FAQ

1. What was announced?

We have just announced that Covidien has agreed to combine with Medtronic in a transaction that we believe will better-position Covidien to achieve our long-term goal of treating more patients throughout the world.

2. Who is Medtronic?

Medtronic provides physicians, patients and hospitals with an extensive portfolio of therapy, procedural and systems innovations, including treatments for heart disease, diabetes, and chronic pain.

Medtronic prides itself on improving lives every 3 seconds: through its work on patents, clinical trials, medical conditions and solving complex medical challenges every day among other things.

3. Why is Medtronic acquiring Covidien?

Joining with Medtronic marks a new chapter for growth and development for Covidien and represents our best opportunity to achieve our long-term goal of treating more patients throughout the world.

This compelling transaction will position the combined organization as one of the largest providers of medical technology and services in the world, with increased capability to drive clinical and economic value for patients, physicians and healthcare systems.

As part of a stronger and larger company, we expect to have the ability to offer you, our valued customers, one of the broadest and most proven portfolios of products, services and solutions to improve patient care and control costs.

4. How will this transaction affect suppliers to Covidien?

Our suppliers play a critical role in our ability to serve our customers, and we value our relationship with you.

We will continue to order products and supplies and conduct business with all of our suppliers in the normal course and according to existing contracts.

Until the transaction closes, Covidien and Medtronic remain separate companies and today's announcement will have no effect on our operations or how we at Covidien go about our business.

Please know, our relationship is of paramount importance to all of us at Covidien, and we will continue to update you with additional information as we move forward.

5. Will the combined company continue to use the same vendors and partners following completion of the transaction?

Until the transaction closes, Covidien and Medtronic remain separate companies and your interactions with us will remain unchanged.

We are hopeful that there will be new opportunities for our partnership as part of a larger, more diversified company.

6. My company has a contract with both Medtronic and Covidien. How does this affect my operations?

Covidien and Medtronic will remain separate companies until the closing of the transaction. We will continue to order products and supplies and conduct business with all of our suppliers in the normal course and according to existing contracts.

7. How long before the transaction is completed?

The transaction is expected to close in the fourth calendar quarter of 2014 or early 2015, subject to approvals from both Covidien and Medtronic shareholders, regulatory approvals and certain other closing conditions.

8. Who can I contact if I have more questions? Will my representative change? How will I know about the progress of the transaction?

As always, if you have any questions, please feel free to call [your usual Covidien representative / NAME at NUMBER].

Until we close the transaction, your interactions with us will remain unchanged, and Covidien and Medtronic will continue to operate as independent companies.

Medtronic Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

Statements contained in this communication that refer to New Medtronic's and/or Medtronic's estimated or anticipated future results, including estimated synergies, or other non-historical facts are forward-looking statements that reflect Medtronic's current perspective of existing trends and information as of the date of this communication.

Forward-looking statements generally will be accompanied by words such as anticipate, believe, plan, could, should, estimate, expect, forecast, outlook, guidance, intend, may, might, will, possible, potential, or other similar words, phrases or expressions. It is important to note that Medtronic's goals and expectations are not predictions of actual performance. Actual results may differ materially from Medtronic's current expectations depending upon a number of factors affecting New Medtronic's business, Medtronic's business, Covidien's business and risks associated with the proposed transactions. These factors include, among others, the inherent uncertainty associated with financial projections; restructuring in connection with, and successful close of, the Covidien acquisition; subsequent integration of the Covidien acquisition and the ability to recognize the anticipated synergies and benefits of the Covidien acquisition; the risk that the required regulatory approvals for the proposed transactions are not obtained, are delayed or are subject to conditions that are not anticipated; the anticipated size of the markets and continued demand for Medtronic's and Covidien's products; the impact of competitive products and pricing; access to available financing (including financing for the acquisition or refinancing of Medtronic or Covidien debt) on a timely basis and on reasonable terms; the risks of fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates; the risks and uncertainties normally incident to the medical device industry, including competition in the medical device industry; product liability claims; the difficulty of predicting the timing or outcome of pending or future litigation or government investigations; variability of trade buying patterns; the timing and success of product launches; the difficulty of predicting the timing or outcome of product development efforts and regulatory agency approvals or actions, if any; potential for adverse pricing movement; costs and efforts to defend or enforce intellectual property rights; difficulties or delays in manufacturing; reduction or interruption in supply; product quality problems; the availability and pricing of third-party sourced products and materials; risks associated with self-insurance and commercial insurance; successful compliance with governmental regulations applicable to New Medtronic's, Medtronic's and Covidien's facilities, products and/or businesses; changes in the laws and regulations affecting, among other things, pricing and reimbursement of pharmaceutical products; health care policy changes; risks associated with international operations; changes in tax laws or interpretations that could increase New Medtronic's or Medtronic's consolidated tax liabilities, including, if the transaction is consummated, changes in tax laws that would result in New Medtronic being treated as a domestic corporation for United States federal tax purposes; the loss of key senior management or scientific staff; and such other risks and uncertainties detailed in Medtronic's periodic public filings with the SEC, including but not limited to Medtronic's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended April 26, 2013 and from time to time in Medtronic's other investor communications. Except as expressly required by law, each of New Medtronic and Medtronic disclaims any intent or obligation to update or revise these forward-looking statements.

Covidien Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

Statements contained in this communication that refer to Covidien's estimated or anticipated future results, including estimated synergies, or other non-historical facts are forward-looking statements that reflect Covidien's current perspective of existing trends and information as of the date of this communication. Forward-looking statements generally will be accompanied by words such as anticipate, believe, plan, could, should, estimate, expect, outlook, guidance, intend, may, might, will, possible, potential, predict, project, or other similar expressions. It is important to note that Covidien's goals and expectations are not predictions of actual performance. Actual results may differ materially from Covidien's current expectations depending upon a number of factors affecting Covidien's business, Medtronic's business and risks associated with the proposed transactions. These factors include, among others, the inherent uncertainty associated with financial projections; the timing to consummate the proposed transactions; the risk that a condition to closing of the proposed transactions may not be satisfied; the risk that the required regulatory approvals for the proposed transactions are not obtained, are delayed or are subject to conditions that are not anticipated; New Medtronic's ability to achieve the synergies and value creation contemplated by the proposed transactions; the anticipated size of the markets and continued demand for Medtronic's and Covidien's products; New Medtronic's ability to promptly and effectively integrate Medtronic's and Covidien's businesses; the diversion of management time on transaction-related issues; competitive factors and market conditions in the industry in which Covidien operates; Covidien's ability to obtain regulatory approval and customer acceptance of new products, and continued customer acceptance of its existing products; and the other risks identified in Covidien's periodic filings including its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended September 27, 2013, and from time to time in Covidien's other investor communications. We caution you that the foregoing list of important factors is not exclusive. In addition, in light of these risks and uncertainties, the matters referred to in Covidien's forward-looking statements may not occur. Covidien undertakes no obligation to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statement as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, except as may be required by law.
