CSP INC. AND SUBSIDIARIES
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared by the Company, without audit, and reflect all adjustments which, in the opinion of management, are necessary for a fair statement of the results of the interim periods presented. All adjustments were of a normal recurring nature. Certain information and footnote disclosures normally included in the annual financial statements, which are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, have been condensed or omitted. Accordingly, the Company believes that although the disclosures are adequate to make the information presented not misleading, the financial statements should be read in conjunction with the footnotes contained in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2003.

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Earnings Per Share of Common Stock

Basic net income (loss) per common share is computed by dividing net income (loss) available to common stockholders by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding for the period. Diluted net income (loss) per common share reflects the maximum dilution that would have resulted from the assumed exercise and share repurchase related to dilutive stock options and is computed by dividing net income (loss) by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding.

The reconciliation of the numerators and denominators of the basic and diluted net loss per share computations for the Company's reported net loss is as follows:

	For the three months ended
	December 31,	December 31,
	2003	2002
	(Amounts in thousands, except per share)
Net loss	$(228)	$(395)
Weighted average number of shares outstanding - basic	3,555	3,532
Incremental shares from the assumed exercise of stock options	==	==
Weighted average number of shares outstanding - dilutive	3,555	3,532
Net loss per share - basic	$(0.06)	$(0.11)
Net loss per share - diluted	$(0.06)	$(0.11)

US GAAP requires all anti-dilutive securities, including stock options, to be excluded from the diluted earnings per share computation. For the three month periods ended December 31, 2003 and 2002, due to the Company's net loss, all of the outstanding options of 516,344 and 454,124, respectively, were excluded from the diluted loss per share calculation because their inclusion would have been anti-dilutive.

Stock Option Plans

SFAS 123, "Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation," amended by SFAS 148, "Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation - Transition and Disclosure" permits companies to measure compensation cost of stock-based awards based on their estimated fair value at the date of grant and recognize that amount over the related service period. As permitted by SFAS 148, the Company accounts for those plans under the recognition and measurement principles of APB Opinion No. 25, "Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees," and related interpretations. No stock-based employee compensation cost is reflected in net loss, as all options granted under those plans had an exercise price equal to the market value of the underlying common stock on the date of grant.

New Accounting Pronouncements

In December 2002, the FASB issued SFAS No. 148, "Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation - Transition and Disclosure". SFAS No. 148 amends SFAS No. 123, to provide alternative methods of transition for a voluntary change to the fair value based method of accounting for stock-based employee compensation. In addition, SFAS No. 148 amends the disclosure requirements of SFAS No. 123 to require prominent disclosures in both annual and interim financial statements about the method of accounting for stock-based employee compensation and the effect of the method used on reported results. The transition guidance and annual disclosure provisions of SFAS No. 148 are effective for fiscal years ending after December 15, 2002. The interim disclosure provisions are effective for financial reports containing financial statements for interim periods beginning after December 15, 2002. As permitted under SFAS 148, the Company adopted the disclosure only provisions of that accounting standard in the fourth quarter of fiscal year 2003.

The Company accounts for stock based compensation using the intrinsic value method prescribed in ABP Opinion No. 25 whereby the stock options are granted at market price and therefore no compensation costs are recognized. The Company has elected to retain its current method of accounting as described above and has adopted disclosure requirements of FAS Nos. 123 and 148. If compensation expense for the Company's stock option plans had been determined based upon fair value at the grant dates for awards under those plans in accordance with FAS No. 123, the Company's pro forma net earnings, basic and diluted earnings per common share would have been as follows:

Basic and diluted, pro forma	$(0.07)	$(0.12)
Weighted average shares outstanding - basic and diluted	3,555	3,532

In January 2003, the FASB issued SFAS 132(revised 2003), "Employers' Disclosures about Pensions and Other Postretirement Benefits" which retains all of the disclosures that are required by FASB 132 and includes several additional disclosures. It also amends APB Opinion 28 "Interim Financial Reporting" to require certain disclosures about pension and other postretirement benefit plans in interim financial statements. The provisions of SFAS 132(revised 2003) are effective for fiscal years ending after June 15, 2004. The interim disclosure provisions are effective for interim periods beginning December 15, 2003 (March 31, 2004 for a calendar year-end company). The Company has adopted the provisions of SFAS 132(revised 2003) in the first quarter of fiscal year 2004.

Reclassifications

Certain reclassifications were made to the 2003 financial statements to conform to the 2004 presentation.

2. Business acquired

On May 30, 2003 the Company acquired certain assets of Technisource Hardware, Inc., a subsidiary of privately held Technisource, Inc. Technisource Hardware is a reseller of software and hardware products for IT infrastructure requirements and provides professional services related to system integration. The total purchase price was $2,827,000 of which $2,701,000 was paid in cash plus $126,000 of transaction costs directly related to the acquisition. The transaction resulted in $2,779,000 in goodwill.

The acquisition was accounted for as a purchase. CSP Inc. consolidated results of operations include the operating result of the acquired company from the acquisition date. The acquired assets were recorded at their estimated fair market value at the acquisition date and the aggregate purchase price plus costs directly attributable to the completion of the acquisition have been allocated to the assets acquired.

The following unaudited pro forma financial information is not necessarily indicative of the Company's results of operations that would have occurred had the transaction taken place at the beginning of periods presented or future results of the combined companies.

4. Stock repurchase

On October 9, 1986, the Board of Directors authorized the Company to repurchase up to 344,892 additional shares of the outstanding stock at market price. On September 28, 1995, the Board of Directors authorized the Company to repurchase up to 199,650 additional shares of the outstanding stock at market price. The timing of stock purchases are made at the discretion of management. On October 19, 1999, the Board of Directors authorized the Company to repurchase up to 200,000 additional shares of the outstanding stock at market price. The Company has repurchased 571,675 or 77% of the total shares authorized to be purchased as of December 31, 2003.

6. Goodwill

On October 1, 2002, the Company adopted SFAS No. 142. SFAS No. 142 requires the Company to evaluate its existing goodwill that was acquired in prior purchase business combinations. Accordingly, the Company was required to reassess the useful lives and residual values of all identifiable intangible assets acquired in purchase business combinations, and make any necessary amortization period adjustments. In addition, to the extent an intangible is then determined to have an indefinite useful life, the Company was required to test the goodwill for impairment in accordance with the provisions of SFAS No. 142.

The changes in the carrying amount of goodwill for the three months ended December 31, 2003 and 2002 are as follows:

	Other	Service and System

The Company does not anticipate that it will have to make any contributions for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2004 based upon the expected return on the plan assets.

8. Segment and Geographical Information

The following table presents certain operating segment information (Amounts in thousands):

	Systems	Service and Integration	E-business Software	Other Software	Total

CSPI operates in four segments. The four segments are: I) systems, which include manufactured hardware products, II) systems integration and services, which includes maintenance and integration and sale of third-party hardware products and services, III) E-business software and IV) other software products that are developed by the Company.

Profit from operations is sales less cost of sales, engineering and development, selling, general and administrative expenses but is not affected by either non-operating charges/income or by income taxes. Non-operating charges/income consists principally of gain on sale of property, impairment charge on investments, investment income and interest expense. In calculating profit from operations for individual operating segments, sales and administrative expenses incurred at the operating level for CSPI and Scanalytics are allocated to the Systems and Other Software segments, respectively. Sales and administrative expenses incurred at the operating level for MODCOMP are allocated to the E-business segment based upon employee headcount and the remaining balance is allocated to the Systems and service and system integration segments based upon sales revenue.

All intercompany transactions have been eliminated.

Identifiable assets include deferred income tax assets and other financial instruments managed by the Company. Capital expenditures common to more than one segment are allocated on a sales basis.

For the quarters ended December 31, 2003 and 2002, the Company had sales to one customer which accounted for approximately $3,216,000 (27%) and $1,262,000 (15%) to total sales, respectively. No other customers had sales in excess of 10% for the quarters ended December 31, 2003 and 2002.

Item 2

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

THIS QUARTERLY REPORT ON FORM 10-Q CONTAINS FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS. SUCH STATEMENTS ARE GENERALLY IDENTIFIED BY THE USE OF FORWARD-LOOKING WORDS AND PHRASES, SUCH AS "INTENDED," "EXPECTS," "ANTICIPATES" AND "IS (OR ARE) EXPECTED (OR ANTICIPATED)." THESE FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS INCLUDE BUT ARE NOT LIMITED TO THOSE IDENTIFIED BELOW ACTUAL RESULTS MAY DIFFER MATERIALLY FROM THOSE DISCUSSED IN SUCH FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS, AND STOCKHOLDERS OF CSP INC. ("CSPI" OR THE "COMPANY") SHOULD CAREFULLY REVIEW THE CAUTIONARY STATEMENTS SET FORTH IN THIS FORM 10-Q, INCLUDING THOSE SET FORTH UNDER THE CAPTION "FACTORS THAT MAY AFFECT FUTURE RESULTS". CSPI DOES NOT UNDERTAKE TO UPDATE ANY OF SUCH FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS.

Critical Accounting Policies

Our discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of operations is based upon our consolidated financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States. The preparation of these financial statements requires us to make estimates and judgements that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses. On an on-going basis, we evaluate our estimates, including those related to revenue recognition, uncollectible receivables, inventory valuation, goodwill impairment, income taxes, and deferred compensation and retirement plans. We base our estimates on historical performance and on various other assumptions that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances, the results of which form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates under different assumptions or conditions.

We believe the following critical accounting policies affect our more significant judgments and estimates used in the preparation of our consolidated financial statements: revenue recognition; valuation allowances, specifically the allowance for doubtful accounts and deferred tax assets valuation allowance; inventory valuation and goodwill impairment.

Revenue recognition

Our revenues are primarily generated from the sale of e-business solutions and image processing software, network management and storage systems, integration services and high-performance cluster computer systems in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America and when all other revenue recognition criteria have been met. The Company enters into transactions to sell products (hardware and software), services and multiple element arrangements that may include any combination thereof. The Company evaluates revenue recognition for these transactions using the following basic criteria (collectively called the Revenue Recognition Criteria):

Evidence of an arrangement: Before revenue is recognized, the Company must have evidence of an agreement with the customer reflecting the terms and conditions to deliver products or services.

Delivery: For products, delivery is considered to occur when hardware or the media containing software products are shipped and title and risk of loss have been transferred or, in the case of electronic delivery of software, the customer is given access to the licensed software programs. For services, delivery is considered to occur when the contracted services are provided.

Fixed or determinable fee: The Company considers a fee to be fixed or determinable if the fee is not subject to refund or adjustment. If a portion of the arrangement fee is not fixed or determinable, the Company recognizes that amount as revenue when the amount becomes fixed or determinable.

Collection is deemed probable:

At the time of the transaction, the Company conducts a credit review of each customer involved in a significant transaction with the Company to determine the creditworthiness of the customer. Collection is deemed probable if management expects the customer to be able to pay amounts under the arrangement as those amounts become due. If management determines that collection is not probable, the Company recognizes revenue when collection becomes probable (upon cash collection).

The following policies are applicable to CSPI's major categories of revenue transactions:

Systems Revenue

Revenue is recognized when the Revenue Recognition Criteria are met. The Company's standard sales agreements do not include customer acceptance provisions. However, if there is a customer acceptance provision or there is uncertainty about customer acceptance, revenue is deferred until the Company has evidence of customer acceptance. Customers do not have the right of return.

Service and System Integration Revenue and E-business Revenue

Revenue is recognized when the Revenue Recognition Criteria are met. Specifically, maintenance contract revenue is recognized ratably over the contractual period; System integration revenue and E-business revenue is recognized as the services are rendered; time and material, and fixed price professional services contract revenue is recognized as the services are rendered, or upon completion of the professional services contract. Losses on fixed price professional services contracts are recognized in the period in which the loss becomes known. The Company's service agreements do not include customer acceptance provisions. However, if there is a customer acceptance provision, or if there is uncertainty about customer acceptance of services rendered, revenue is deferred until the Company has evidence of customer acceptance.

Third-party hardware and third-party software is recognized when the Revenue Recognition Criteria are met. The Company's standard sales agreements do not include customer acceptance provisions. However, if there is a customer acceptance provision or there is uncertainty about customer acceptance, revenue is deferred until the Company has evidence of customer acceptance. Customers do not have the right of return.

Other Software Revenue

CSPI sells its software offerings and recognizes its revenue as follows:

The Company recognizes revenue from the sale of software products in accordance with the AICPA Statement of Position ("SOP") 97-2, as amended by SOP 98-9. SOP 97-2 requires that revenue allocated to software products, specified upgrades and enhancements is recognized upon delivery of the related products, upgrades or enhancements. Revenue allocated by vendor specific objective evidence ("VSOE") to post contract customer support (maintenance) is recognized ratably over the term of the support, and revenue allocated by VSOE to service elements (training and consulting) is recognized as the services are performed. The residual method of revenue recognition is used for multi-element arrangements when the VSOE of the fair value does not exist for one of the delivered elements. Under the residual method, the arrangement fee is recognized as follows: (1) the total fair value of the undelivered elements, as indicated by VSOE, is deferred and subsequently recognized in accordance with the relevant sections of SOP 97-2 and (2) the difference between the total arrangement fee and the amount deferred for the undelivered elements is recognized as revenue related to the delivered elements.

The Company recognizes revenue from software licenses when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, delivery of the product has occurred, no significant Company obligations with regard to customization or implementation remain, the fee is fixed or determinable, and collectibility is probable when revenue recognition criteria of SOP 97-2 are met. If collectibility is not considered probable, revenue is recognized when cash is collected.

For software licenses sold separately without modification and training, revenue is recognized upon delivery.

Multiple Element Arrangements

In certain circumstance, the Company enters into revenue arrangements as a result of which the Company is obligated to deliver to its customers multiple products and/or services ("multiple elements"). In these transactions, the Company allocates the total revenue to be earned under the arrangement among the various elements based on their relative fair value; however, in the case of software transactions, the allocation is based on specific objective evidence of fair value. Specific objective evidence of fair value is the price charged when that element is sold separately. The Company recognizes revenue related to the delivered products or services only if: (1) the above Revenue Recognition Criteria are met; (2) any undelivered products or services are not essential to the functionality of the delivered products or services; (3) payment for the delivered products or services is not contingent upon delivery of the remaining products or services; (4) the Company has an enforceable claim to receive the amount due in the event it does not deliver the undelivered products or services; and (5) as discussed above, there is evidence of the fair value for each of the undelivered products or services. For example, in certain arrangements, installation services are considered essential to the functionality of the delivered product. Accordingly, revenue is not recognized in those arrangements until the installation is complete and all other revenue recognition criteria are met.

Valuation Allowances

The Company maintains allowances for doubtful accounts for estimated losses resulting from the inability of its customers to make required payments. If the financial condition of its customers were to deteriorate, resulting in impairment of their ability to make payments, additional allowances may be required.

The Company records a valuation allowance to reduce the balance of deferred tax assets due to the lack of significant orders and the U.S. losses over the last three years. The ultimate realization of deferred tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income during the periods in which the associated temporary differences become deductible. The Company considers the scheduled reversals of deferred tax liabilities and projected taxable income in making this assessment. Based on the lack of taxable income in the U.S. over the last three years and lack of significant orders, the Company established a valuation allowance for the entire U.S. deferred tax asset. Based upon the level of historical taxable income and projections for the future taxable income over the period in which the deferred taxes will reverse or operating loss carryforwards expire, management believes it is more likely than not that the Company will not realize the benefits of these deductible differences.

In assessing the realizability of our deferred tax assets, the Company considers and relies upon projections of future income. The key assumptions in the projections include sales growth rates, including potential contract wins, and expected levels of operating expenditures in addition to factors discussed in the section "Factors That May Affect Future Performance". These assumptions are subject to variation based upon both internal and external factors, many of which are beyond the control of the Company. To the extent that actual experience deviates from the assumptions, the projections would be affected and hence the assessment of realizability of the Company's deferred tax asset may change. If the Company is awarded a significant contract, the Company's projections will be impacted and the Company may reverse the valuation allowance against the deferred tax asset.

Inventory Valuation

The recoverability of inventories is based upon the types and levels of inventories held, forecasted demand, pricing, competition and changes in technology. The Company writes down its inventory for estimated obsolescence or unmarketable inventory equal to the difference between the cost of inventory and the estimated market value based upon assumptions about future demand and market conditions. If actual market conditions are less favorable than those projected by management, additional inventory write-down may be required.

Goodwill

The Company adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standard ("SFAS") No. 142 ("SFAS 142"), "Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets" on October 1, 2002. The Company completed the initial step of the required impairment test based on the comparison of the fair value of the reporting units with their respective carrying values as of October 1, 2002 and concluded that there was no impairment indicated as of October 1, 2002. This standard requires that goodwill no longer be amortized, and instead, be tested for impairment on an annual basis (or whenever events occur which may indicate possible impairment). This analysis requires management to make a series of critical assumptions to: (1) evaluate whether any impairment exists, and (2) measure the amount of the impairment. The Company's policy is to perform its annual impairment testing for all reporting units as of the fourth quarter of each fiscal year. The Company performs the impairment analysis at the operating segment level.

In testing for potential impairment of goodwill, SFAS 142 requires the Company to: (1) allocate goodwill to the various businesses to which the acquired goodwill relates; (2) estimate the fair value of those businesses to which goodwill relates; and (3) determine the carrying value (book value) of those businesses. This may require independent valuations. Only after this process is completed, is the amount of goodwill impairment determined.

The factors the Company considers important that could indicate impairment include significant under performance relative to prior operating results, change in projections, significant changes in the manner of the Company's use of the asset or the strategy for the Company's overall business, and significant negative industry or economic trend. In evaluating the impairment of goodwill, the Company considered a number of analyses such as discounted cash flow projections, enterprise value, and market capitalization value. The process of evaluating the potential impairment of goodwill is highly subjective and requires significant judgment at many points during the analysis. In estimating fair value of the businesses with goodwill for the purposes of the Company's annual or periodic analyses, management makes estimates and judgments about the future cash flows of these businesses. The Company's cash flow forecasts are based on assumptions that are consistent with the plans and estimates being used by the Company to manage the underlying businesses. In addition, management makes certain judgments about assets such as accounts receivable and inventory to the estimated balance sheet for those businesses. Management also considers the Company's market capitalization (adjusted for unallocated monetary assets such as cash, marketable debt securities and debt) on the date the analysis is performed. The key assumptions include sales growth and expected levels of operating expenditures that are subject to variation based on both internal and external factors. To the extent that actual experience deviates from the projections, the Company's assessment regarding impairment may change. Such a change could have a material adverse affect on the statement of operations.

As of December 31, 2003, the Company had $2,996,000 in Goodwill compared to $582,000 as of December 31, 2002.

Deferred Compensation and retirement plans

In United Kingdom and Germany, the Company provides defined benefit pension plans and defined contribution plans for the majority of the employees. In the U.S., the Company also provides benefits through supplementary retirement plans to certain current and former employees. These supplemental plans provide benefits derived out of cash surrender values relating to current and former employee and officer life insurance policies. The plan assumptions in the U.S. include a discount rate of 7%. In addition, in the U.S., the Company provides for officer death benefits through the post-retirement plans to certain officers. In calculating the deferred compensation and retirement plans, net liabilities, the Company establishes assumptions regarding discount rates, rates of return on assets and the compensation rates of increase. If factors differ from the assumptions, deferred compensation and retirement plans net liabilities may require significant adjustments. The Company funds the pension plans in amounts sufficient to meet the requirements set forth in applicable employee benefits laws and local tax laws. Liabilities for amounts in excess of these funding levels are accrued and reported in the consolidated balance sheet. The amount of the deferred retirement compensation and retirement plans was $8,805,000 at December 31, 2003.

Revenue

CSPI operates in four segments. The four segments are: I) systems, which include manufactured hardware products, II) systems integration and services, which includes maintenance and integration and sale of third-party hardware products and services, III) E-business software and IV) other software products that are developed by the Company.

The following table details the Company's sales by operating segment for the three-months ended December 31, 2003 and December 31, 2002 (Amounts in thousands):

	December 31,	% of	December 31,	% of
Sales Revenue:	2003	Total	2002	Total
For the Three Months Ended:

Total	$11,800	100%	$8,179	100%

The Company reported net sales of $11.8 million for the three-month period ended December 31, 2003 compared to $8.2 million for the three-month period ended December 31, 2002. This represented an increase of 44% or $3.6 million. The increased revenue for the quarter was due to the increase in Service and System Integration sales as a result of the acquisition of Technisource Hardware Inc., which now operates as MODCOMP's Systems and Solution Division (System and Solutions Division), which accounted for $ 4.5 million in sales or 38% of total sales during the quarter. We acquired the Systems and Solution Division in May 30, 2003. System sales increased by 62% or $.4 million as compared to the first quarter of fiscal year 2003. Both E-business and Other Software sales declined by 13% and 11%, respectively from the prior year.

System sales were $1 million for the three-month period ended December 31, 2003, compared to $633,000 for the three-month period ended December 31, 2002. The quarter sales increased by $395,000 or 62% from the same period of the previous fiscal year. This increase was due to the initial sales in the quarter for products and services for the contract with Lockheed Martin for the E-2C Hawkeye aircraft. The Series 2000 product line accounted for 87% of system sales for the three-month period ended December 31, 2003 compared to 55% for the three months ended December 31, 2002. The SuperCard product line accounted for 3% of system sales for the three-month period ended December 31, 2003 compared to 32% for the three-month period ended December 31, 2002. The Classic systems product line represented 10% of the system sales for the three-month period ended December 31, 2003 compared to 12% for the three-month period ended December 31, 2002.

E-business Software sales were $294,000 for the three-month period ended December 31, 2003 compared to $338,000 for the three-month comparable period December 31, 2002. The decrease of $44,000 or 13% was due to limited business and a change in focus toward expansion of the Service and System Integration opportunities.

Edgar Filing: CSP INC /MA/ - Form 10-Q/A

Other Software sales were $303,000 for the three-month period ended December 31, 2003 compared to $341,000 for the three-month period ended December 31, 2002. This represents a decline of $38,000 or 11%. This decline is mainly due to market conditions. The Other Software sales are primarily from sales of life sciences software licenses.

The following table details the Company's sales by geographic region for the three-month period ended December 31 (Amounts in thousands):

	For the three months ended
	12/31/03	% of Total	12/31/02	% of Total
Europe	$5,293	45%	$6,568	80%
North America	6,305	53%	1,506	18%
Far East	202	2%	105	2%
Totals	$11,800	100%	$8,179	100%

European sales account for 45% for the three-month period ended December 31, 2003 compared to 80% for the three-month period ended December 31, 2002. European sales were primarily from subsidiaries in Germany and the United Kingdom. North American sales account for 53% of total sales for the three-month period ended December 31, 2003 compared to 18% for the three-month period ended December 31, 2002. This represents an increase of $4.8 million or 319%. This increase was primarily due to the acquisition of the Systems and Solution Division on May 30, 2003 which accounted for $4.5 million or 38% of total sales.

Cost of Sales

The following table details the Company's sales and gross margin by operating segment for the three months ended December 31, 2003 and December 31, 2002 (amounts in thousands):

Gross margin $	154	1,288	211	263	1,916
Gross margin %	24%	19%	62%	77%	23%

Total cost of sales as a percentage of revenue declined to 75% for the three months ended December 31, 2003 compared to 77% for the comparable period ended December 31, 2002. The decrease in cost of sales was due to the change in mix of revenue with the increased sales from the service and systems integration segment related to the acquisition of the Systems and Solutions Division. This segment has a lower cost of sales than other segments due to the fact that most of this segment's revenue for the quarter was derived from the sale of third party products.

System cost of sales decreased by 58% as compared to the same period of the prior fiscal year which, was due to the increased business in the segment and improved manufacturing efficiencies and expenses of obsolete materials.

Service and System Integration had an increase approximately a 1% increase in cost of sales compared to the prior year. The MODCOMP System and Services Division acquisition represented 46% of the cost of sales of the segment and had a higher cost of sales than the remaining segment business at approximately 85%. This accounted for the increase in the segments overall cost of sales.

E-Business had improved cost of sales, which decreased by approximately 26% from the same period of the prior fiscal year. This was due to improved efficiencies in the deployment of staff.

Other Software cost of sales increased by approximately 4% for additional staff to work on a few orders.

Engineering and Development

The following table details engineering and development expenses by operating segment for the three months ended December 31, 2003 and December 31, 2002 (amounts in thousands):

For the three months ended
Dec. 31	% of	Dec. 31	% of
2003	Total	2002	Total

Engineering & Development Expense:

By Operating Segment:

Systems	$395	52%	$410	47%
Service and System Integration	86	11%	227	26%
E-business Software	161	21%	109	12%
Other Software	124	16%	136	15%
Total	$766	100%	$882	100%

Engineering and development expenses decreased by approximately 13% for the three-months ended December 31, 2003 compared to the comparable period of the prior fiscal year. The decrease was due to a reduction in the Service and System Integration segment expense of $141,000 or 62% which was attributable to decrease staff and redeployment of personnel to expand our efforts for development of more business in the E-Business segment. This decrease was offset by an increase of $52,000 or 48% in the E-business Software segment. This increase was due to continuing development efforts of the Open Xport software and other products in our United Kingdom subsidiary.

We believe that current level of funding is sufficient to support the development effort necessary to support the future business.

Selling, General and Administrative

The following table sets forth selling, general and administrative expense by operating segment for the three months ended December 31, 2003 and December 31, 2002 (Amounts in thousands):

	For the three months ended
	Dec. 31	% of	Dec. 31	% of
S G & A Expense:	2003	Total	2002	Total
By Operating Segment:
Systems	$341	15%	$390	23%
Service and System Integration	1,593	68%	833	49%
E-business Software	195	8%	275	16%
Other Software	218	9%	205	12%
Total	$2,347	100%	$1,703	100%

Selling, general and administrative expense increased $644,000 or 38% for the three months ended December 31, 2003 compared to the three-month periods ended December 31, 2002. This increase is mainly due to increases in the Service and System Integration segment of $760,000. This is primarily due to the acquisition of Systems and Solution Division expenses of $539,000 which are included in the expense for the quarter ended December 31, 2003 but not in the prior comparable period. The Division represented approximately 23% of total for the quarter. This increase was offset by a decrease of $49,000 or 13% in the Systems segment. In addition, the increase was offset by a decline of $80,000 or 29% in the E-business Software segment. This decline was due to reductions in staff and the associated expenses.

Foreign Exchange Gain (Loss)

Other income/expenses decreased due primarily to the foreign exchange gains of our United Kingdom subsidiary recorded in the three-month period ended December 31, 2002 of $448,000 compared to $2,000 in the three-month period ended December 31, 2003. This was due to the fact that the one of the Company's foreign subsidiary a settled of a portion of a loan to another foreign subsidiary in the fourth quarter of fiscal 2003. In addition, management changed its intention for future settlement of the remaining loan obligation. As a result of the change in intention to settle these loans the recording of the exchange gain or loss on the loans will now be reflected in accumulated other comprehensive income, a separate component of shareholders' equity. The foreign exchange gain represented 3% and 93% of the other income for three-month periods ended December 31, 2003 and 2002.

Income Tax

The Company recorded a provision for income taxes for the quarters ended December 31, 2003 and 2002 of $82,000 and $206,000, respectively. The Company has tax expense due to profits in the Germany and United Kingdom operations. The US operations sustained losses for both the quarters ended December 31, 2003 and 2002 and no benefit has been reflected for either the federal or state taxes.

Financial Condition, Liquidity and Capital Resources

The Company uses a combination of cash flow from operations and marketable securities to support ongoing business activities, investing in technologies, purchase of capital equipment, finance inventories and accounts receivables.

Working capital at December 31, 2003 increased to $14.5 million compared to $14.0 million at September 30, 2003. This increase was due to an increase in Accounts Receivable of $511,000 and an increase of inventory of $473,000 offset by an increase in Accounts Payable and accrued expenses of $776,000. These increases were mainly due to the increased sales revenue for the quarter ended December 31, 2003 compared to the same period of the prior fiscal year.

The Company's consolidated net capital expenditures were $112,000 for the three-month period ended December 31, 2003 compared to $57,000 in the three-month period ended December 31, 2002.

The Company has unfunded pension liabilities of $3.4 million related to the plans held by the United Kingdom (UK) subsidiaries. New legislation relating to UK pensions has been implemented and the Company was not required to make changes to the statutory funding requirements.

Management believes that the Company's available cash and cash generated from operations and investments will be sufficient to provide for the Company's working capital and capital expenditure requirements for the next twelve months and subsequent foreseeable future.

Inflation and Changing Prices

Management does not believe that inflation and changing prices had significant impact on sales, revenues or income during the three and nine months period ended December 31, 2003 and 2002. There is no assurance that the Company's business will not be materially and adversely affected by inflation and changing prices in the future.

Factors That May Affect Future Performance

This document contains forward-looking statements based on current expectations that involve a number of risks and uncertainties. The factors that could cause actual results to differ materially include the following: general economic conditions and growth rates in the peripheral and computer products, biological imaging software and instruments; competitive factors and pricing pressures; changes in product mix; the timely development and acceptance of new products; inventory risks due to shifts in market demand; and component constraints and shortages. In response to competitive pressures or new product introductions, the Company may take certain pricing or marketing actions that could adversely affect the Company's operating results. In addition, changes in the mix of old products may cause fluctuations in the Company's gross margin. Due to the potential quarterly fluctuations in operating results, the Company believes that quarter-to-quarter comparisons of its results of operations are not necessarily an indicator of future performance.

Markets for the Company's products are characterized by rapidly changing technology, new product introductions and short product life cycles. These changes can adversely affect the business and operating results. The Company's success will depend upon its ability to enhance its existing products and to develop and introduce, on a timely and cost effective basis, new products that keep pace with technological developments and address increasing customer requirements. The inability to meet these demands could adversely affect the Company's business and operating results currently and in the future.

Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures about Market Risk

The Company, in the normal course of doing business, is exposed to the risks associated with foreign currency exchange rates. The Company does not hold any market risk sensitive instruments, and minimizes its exposure through judicious management of its international assets and liabilities.

The Company minimizes its foreign inventory levels, and enters into foreign currency transactions only in those countries where it has foreign operations, and is therefore able to offset resulting assets with local liabilities.

Item 4. Controls and Procedures

1. Evaluation of disclosure controls and procedures. Based on their evaluation of the Company's disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rules 13a-14 (c) and 15d-14 (c) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934) as of a date within 90 days of the filing of this quarterly report on Form 10-Q, the Company's chief executive officer and chief financial officer have concluded that the Company's disclosure controls and procedures are designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed by the Company in the reports that it files or submits under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the SEC's rules and forms and are operating in an effective manner.

2. Changes in internal controls

. There have been no significant changes in the Company's internal controls or in other factors that could significantly affect the internal controls subsequent to the date the Company completed its evaluation.

PART II. OTHER INFORMATION

Item 4. Submissions of Matters to a vote of Security Holders

CERTIFICATION PURSUANT TO SECTION 302 OF THE SARBANES-OXLEY ACT OF 2002

I, Alexander Lupinetti, certify that:

I. I have reviewed this annual report on Form 10-Q of CSP Inc.;

J. Based on my knowledge, this report does not contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state a material fact necessary to make the statements made, in light of the circumstances under which such statements were made, not misleading with respect to the period covered by this report;

K. Based on my knowledge, the financial statements, and other financial information included in this report, fairly present in all material respects the financial condition, results of operations and cash flows of the registrant as of, and for, the periods presented in this report;

L. The registrant's other certifying officers and I are responsible for establishing and maintaining disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Exchange Act Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e)) for the registrant and have:

a) Designed such disclosure controls and procedures, or caused such disclosure controls and procedures to be designed under our supervision, to ensure that material information relating to the registrant, including its consolidated subsidiaries, is made known to us by others within those entities, particularly during the period in which this report is being prepared;

b) Evaluated the effectiveness of the registrant's disclosure controls and procedures and presented in this report our conclusions about the effectiveness of the disclosure controls and procedures, as of the end of the period covered by this report based on such evaluation; and

c) Disclosed in this report any change in the registrant's internal control over financial reporting that occurred during the registrant's most recent fiscal quarter (the registrant's fourth fiscal quarter in the case of an annual report) that has materially affected, or is reasonably likely to materially affect, the registrant's internal control over financial reporting; and

M. The registrant's other certifying officer(s) and I have disclosed, based on our most recent evaluation of internal control over financial reporting, to the registrant's auditors and the audit committee of the registrant's board of directors (or persons performing the equivalent functions):

a) all significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in the design or operation of internal control over financial reporting which are reasonably likely to adversely affect the registrant's ability to record, process, summarize and report financial information; and

b) any fraud, whether or not material, that involves management or other employees who have a significant role in the registrant's internal control over financial reporting.
