Webster Financial Corporation (NYSE: WBS; Webster ) issued a press release on November 7, 2006 announcing that its Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, James C. Smith, and its Chief Financial Officer, Jerry Plush, will make a presentation at the Merrill Lynch 2006 Banking & Financial Services Conference on Tuesday, November 14, 2006 from 12:55 pm to 1:40 pm. At the conference, Webster intends to give details on the following actions that it will implement as part of its balance sheet transformation process in the fourth quarter of 2006:

The sale of $250 million of residential mortgage loans. The sale proceeds will be utilized to pay down $250 million in short-term borrowings.

Webster will pay down an additional $650 million in short-term borrowings from the proceeds of agency securities that mature through December 2006 instead of re-investing those cash flows.

The securitization of $1 billion of residential mortgage loans into the held-to-maturity securities portfolio, primarily for collateral purposes.

At current market levels, the sale of the $250 million of residential mortgage loans is estimated to result in an aggregate pretax loss of approximately $7.0 million ($4.6 million after tax), which will be recognized in fourth quarter results. This is in addition to the loss on the sale of mortgage-backed securities previously announced on October 17, 2006. The sale of those securities has now been completed. Webster's actual pre-tax loss recorded in the fourth quarter on the sale of those securities was $2.4 million ($1.6 million after tax) compared to the $6.0 million ($3.9 million after tax) estimated in mid-October based on then current market values.
